Jet Hits Ice Cream Parlor; 22 Killed

Another 16 persons were injured when the privately-owned F86 Sabrejet barrelled across a highway, struck three vehicles and bounced in a "ball of fire" into Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour.

"I'm sorry...I'm sorry. Get the people out," groaned Richard Bingham, 39, of Novato, pilot of the plane. He was pulled from the wreckage while 200 screaming children and adults fought to escape flames that turned the Gay-90s style shop into an inferno.

Bingham, general manager of Spectrum Air Services of Novato, escaped with a broken arm and cuts and bruises from what was believed to be the worst disaster of this type ever to occur in the United States.

Sacramento County Coroner George L. Nilsen said 12 of the victims were youngsters, five boys and seven girls. Five women and five men were also killed.

He said at least two complete families were among the dead. A father, mother and two children made up one of the families.

The plane, owned by Spectrum Air Services, which belongs to millionaire cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick, hit one car on a highway and two in a parking lot and dragged them into the parlor.

The nose of the Korean War-era plane, one of America's first fighter jets being displayed across the street at Sacramento's Executive Airport, smashed into the parlor's Howard Hughes Room. A party was being held in the room for 20 youngsters from the Sacramento 49ers Little League football team.

Don McClusky, an employee, was filling salt shakers in the room when the plane hit.

"After I picked myself up I grabbed five kids and broke a window and got them out," he said. "But by then the smoke and flames were too intense and I couldn't get back in."

Linda Fourby, 17, Sacramento, was in a car which the plane missed by 100 feet. She said she ran toward the "screaming and breaking glass" at Farrells.

"People were saying 'get me out, get me out! Where's my kids?' Everybody was trying to help everybody."

Chairs were used to break windows and people poured

Old Jet Reconstructed; Once Housed In Museum

The pilot of the old fighter jet which crashed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor yesterday is a Novato man who runs Spectrum Air Inc., part of William Penn Patrick's corporate empire.

Richard L. Bingham, 39, escaped from the fiery crash which killed 22 persons and injured 16 others, with only a broken arm and cuts and burns.

Officials at the Sacramento Medical Center where he was hospitalized today said he was in "satisfactory" condition.

Sgt. Ray Bryers of the homicide detail of the Sacramento Police Department confirmed today that he had interviewed Bingham about the tradedy but said the cause was still undetermined. Also assisting in the investigation are Federal Aviation Authority agents, he said.

Bingham reportedly had served as an Air Force enlisted man. He gave his occupation to Sergeant Bryers as a "pilot and aircraft mechanic."

A woman, according to United Press International, telephoned a San Francisco paper last night and identified herself as Bingham's mother, Mrs. Robert Kincaid of Palo Alto.

Mrs. Kincaid said her son had been born in Fresno and quit high school when he was 17. He joined the Air Force during the Korean War, she said, but as far as she knew, he never went overseas.

"We hadn't heard from him in two years," the woman said.

"He had a trucking business in Watsonville but he sold that two years ago in order to go into flying on a full-time basis."

"He loves flying more than anything in the world."

The plane he was flying was an old F-86 Sabrejet that had spent eight years in crates in Canada before being reconstructed early this year in Syracuse, N.Y.

The aircraft, one of several purchased by Patrick, who is a vintage plane buff, bore the cosmetic magnate's name on the nose.

Another Novato man and former Spectrum Air employee, Joe Patrick (no relation to William Penn Patrick), spent two months in New York supervising the reconstruction, according to his wife, Ann.

Joe Patrick, an ex-Air Force jet pilot, then flew the plane, described as "very hot," to California, where it has been housed in Oakland at William Penn Patrick's aircraft museum.

The plane received further repair in Oakland, and Bingham said in a recent interview that he had supervised the work. He also said he had flown the plane about 12 hours in August and this month under FAA rules.

It was not known today whether Bingham had an FAA permit to fly the plane in the air show in which he was participating.

The tragedy occurred when Bingham attempted to take off

Treaty Proposed To Curb Terror

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Secretary of State William P. Rogers today proposed a worldwide treaty that would insure universal condemnation, prosecution and extradition of international terrorists.

The emphasis of the draft treaty Rogers submitted to the General Assembly in a major policy speech was on the international nature of the crimes.

U.S. spokesmen said the treaty would outlaw such incidents as the killings at the Munich Olympic village but not such murders as those at Lod International Airport last May.

U.S. diplomats said the treaty was aimed specifically at hijackings, kidnapings of diplomats or other civilians, and the sending of explosives through the mails.

"It has nothing to do with an individual nation's internal jurisdiction," a spokesman said.

Spokesmen said it specifically deals with terrorism both outside the state of which the terrorist is a national and affecting victims who also are outside the state at which the terror is aimed.

The spokesman said the treaty therefore would apply in the case of the Munich massacre, where Arab guerrillas attacked Israeli athletes in West Germany. The same spokesmen said however that since the Japanese terrorists who killed 26 persons at Lod International Airport claimed to be working for Palestinian exiles hoping to regain what they consider their own land the treaty would not apply.

"We specifically exclude references to 'liberation' movements," the spokesman said.

U.S. diplomats said the wording was aimed at averting "the balking" of the Palestinians and other Arab bloc members.

The treaty would also set up a three-member conciliation commission to decide disputes coming under its jurisdiction and if that group, appointed by affected parties, failed to reach agreement, the U.N. secretary general would appoint a jurist to look into the case.

In his speech before the world body, Rogers also praised a pending U.N. resolution that would call for a cut off of air service to countries which refuse to extradite aircraft hijackers. A similar proposal is being considered by the U.S. Congress.

Rogers arrived Sunday night in New York, where he planned to confer over the next two weeks with 50 or more of the nearly 90 premiers and foreign ministers expected at the assembly session. The assembly voted 66-27 with 33 abstentions Saturday night to include the international terrorism issue for debate and sent it to its legal committee, comprising

Tamalpais High School won its first football game since 1970 Saturday, breaking a 10-game losing streak by defeating Marin Catholic, 14-8.

In other action involving teams from Marin and southern Sonoma counties, Novato annihilated Lincoln of San Francisco, 43-7; San Marin scored four touchdowns in the last 10 minutes to edge Sonoma, 28-22; and Justin of Napa thrashed St. Vincent of Petaluma, 32-0.

College of Marin lost its home opener to College of the Redwoods from Eureka, 24-13.

Longshore Union Backs President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thomas W. Gleason, president of the 115,000-member International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), today endorsed President Nixon for re-election, reversing the union's traditional Democratic stand.

Gleason, whose union represents East and Gulf Coast longshoremen, said in remarks prepared for a news conference:

"Unfortunately, this year the Democratic party has been captured by elements whose beliefs are not ours and whose policies are alien to our own. Essentially, isolationist in outlook, they would like to see a weakened America and a retreat from world involvement."

Gleason praised Nixon for maintaining "our national power and our commitment to international obligations, while at the same time taking new initiatives to ease world tensions."

Faced with "runaway inflation" Nixon "had the courage to institute price and wage controls." Gleason said. "Although these controls have not always worked fairly, and, indeed, ILA members have lost through Federal Pay Board action...we have always felt that presidential action was necessary to halt the spiraling inflation that was punishing all American workers and consumers."

Gleason also said the ILA "is particularly familiar with his unprecedented efforts to revive the dying American merchant marine."

Nixon Urges Reform Of Monetary System

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon called today for "a thoroughgoing reform of the world monetary system" which he said was needed to permit free and open world trade in an era of international peace.

In a prepared speech to an annual meeting of top free world bankers and financiers, Nixon said the United States would drive a hard but fair bargain in negotiating new money alignments.

"There must be a thoroughgoing reform of the world monetary system, to clear the path for the health competition of the future," Nixon said.

"We must see monetary reform as one vital part of a total reform of international economic affairs, an encompassing trade and investment opportunity as well."

Nixon's speech was viewed as the keynote of the five-day conference of free world directors of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank aimed at patching up the post-World War II system of exchange rates of currencies of the world's non-Communist economic giants.

Nixon said the United States wanted to see that American workers and businessmen "have a fair chance to compete for their share of the expanding trade between nations".

"A generation ago, we deliberately set out to help our former enemies as well as our weakened allies so that they could gain the economic strength which would enable them to compete with us in world markets," he said. "Now we expect our trading partners to help bring about equal competition."

Although Nixon pledged U.S. support for monetary reform, he made it plain the U.S. would not agree to international changes that would damage this nation's domestic economy.

"We can all agree that the health of the world economy and the stability of the international economic system rest largely on the successful management of domestic economies," he said.

Some international officials, including IMF managing director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer have suggested that the United States boost its domestic interest rates to stem a flow of "hot money" from the U.S. to borrowers paying higher interest rates abroad.

The United States has resisted such suggestions, arguing that higher interest rates might abort current effort to reduce unemployment and prop up the economy.

The United States has served notice it will not support Schweitzer's re-election when his current term as head of the 124-nation IMF expires next year.

Nixon said in negotiating new alignments the United States would be guided by these principles:

"We shall press for a more equitable and open world of trade. We shall meet competition rather than run away from it. We shall be a stimulating trading partner and a straightforward bargainer. We shall not turn inward and isolationist."

But Nixon added, "in turn we shall look to our friends for evidence of similar rejection of isolationism in economic and political affairs."

Fire Is Contained In Sierra Nevada

SAN ANDREAS (UPI) — A 350-acre brush and timber fire was contained Sunday in Sierra Nevada foothills six miles northeast of the site of the "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" contest.

Dispatcher Wayne Gilstrapp of the State Division of Forestry said 300 firefighters had stopped the spread of the blaze and aerial tankers had been called off.

Vouchers Reveal Councilmen's Unpublicized Hawaiian Trips

By NELS JOHNSON

Four San Rafael city councilmen traveled to Hawaii on unpublicized official junkets costing $2,668.81 within a two-month period last fiscal year, according to financial records on file at city hall.

The city and a city-controlled agency picked up the tab for the junkets, the records assert.

News of the trips came to light when the Independent-Journal examined "cash revolving account" vouchers filed with the city's finance department and expense vouchers of the San Rafael Sanitation District filed in the public works department.

No mention of the trips is made in minutes of last fiscal year's city council meetings.

Participating in the junkets was Councilman Harry A. Barbier, who charged the San Rafael Sanitation District $560.15 for airfare and expenses incurred while attending the 44th annual conference of the Water Pollution Control Federation in Honolulu Oct. 9 through 14.

Barbier, a San Rafael Sanitation District director, said he had "no comment whatsoever" on his Hawaii trip or on those of other councilmen.

The Barbier trip was followed by a trip to Honolulu by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Lawrence F. Mulryan, who attended the 48th annual Congress of the National League of Cities Nov. 28 through Dec. 2.

In addition to a $360 registration fee apparently paid to cover four council representatives at the Hawaii conference, Bettini and Mulryan each charged the city $557.72 in expenses, while Jensen logged a $633.22 expense.

The trio said they had no misgivings about making the League trip, and asserted no attempt was made to conceal news of the event.

Councilman John A. Miskimen, however, said the council "wasn't particularly advertising the trip."

Originally, all five council members had planned to attend the League conference, according to reservation documents retained by the city manager's office. Councilman Miskimen dropped out of the junket, however, and Councilman Barbier decided to represent the sanitation district at the pollution conference in an effort to "spread the costs out among

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Pilots Still In Hanoi

TOKYO (UPI)—Three U.S. pilots freed from prison in North Vietnam do not want to fly home with American military escorts, the Vietnam News Agency said today.

A VNA news dispatch from Hanoi monitored in Tokyo said that the pilots sent separate cables to President Nixon Saturday requesting that U.S. authorities refrain from interfering with their trip home.

The pilots were Maj. Edward K. Elias, of Valdosta, Ga., Navy Lt. (jg) Markham L. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., and Navy Lt. (jg) Norris A. Charles of San Diego, Calif. They were released May 17 to the American antiwar group now on a visit to North Vietnam.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird accused Hanoi of making "propaganda tools" of the pilots and their relatives in the North Vietnamese capital. Noting that North Vietnamese officials three weeks ago promised to release the three pilots, Laird said the Communists were still making the men "parade around" Hanoi and "they are even using the families of these prisoners of war as propaganda tools at this particular time."

China-Japan Talks Start

PEKING (UPI)—China and Japan in their first formal talks since World War II discussed normalizing Sino-Japanese relations today in a session described by Japanese officials as "surprisingly frank and very useful."

Chief Japanese Cabinet Secretary Susumu Nikaido said after the hour-and-40-minute meeting between Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka in Peking's Great Hall of the People that the discussions would produce "successful results." He did not elaborate.

Tanaka, who fought in China 35 years ago as a Japanese soldier, arrived in Peking today and was greeted by Chou in a friendly but formal reception at Peking Airport. There was an honor guard to greet Tanaka, but no members of the diplomatic corps were present.

Belfast Hotel Damaged

No casualties were reported in the blast, which reduced the hotel's newly opened ground floor reception area to what was termed "a complete demolition job".

The explosion in the hotel's underground garage came only hours after the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) said it would continue its Northern Ireland bombing campaign despite political talks in England on the province's future.

Soldiers Hurt In Crash

SCHWEINFURT, Germany (UPI)—A troop train loaded with American troops and tanks was shunted accidentally today onto a set of deadend tracks and crashed through the barrier at the end, injuring 18 soldiers, police reported.

Police said 18 of the 154 soldiers aboard the train were detained in hospital with injuries, four of them in serious condition.

An Army spokesman confirmed the accident but could give no immediate details.

Nixon's Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon plans to campaign for re-election on both coasts this week in an acceleration of his political activity.

Tomorrow, Nixon goes to New York to dedicate the opening of the American Museum of Immigration at the base of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. The ceremony is part of a National Parks Centennial celebration.

Later in the day he plans to address a Republican "Victory '72" fund-raising dinner in Manhattan.

On Wednesday, the President flies to California for GOP fund-raising dinners in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He plans to return to the White House Thursday.

Blast Injures Eight

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—At least eight persons were injured today, three of them critically, when two huge gasoline storage tanks exploded in roaring flames at the TriCommunity Shell storage yard.

Listed in critical condition at Erlanger Hospital were Alfred Hodge, 38, an employe of the nearby Firestone Latex Co., and two Ringgold, Ga., men, Don Ross and Paul Henley.

The exploding tanks were believed to belong to the Southern Facilities Oil Co., one of several firms storing gasoline in the huge yard bristling with tanks.

Parenthood Classes Set For Teen-agers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) has announced a national project to start parenthood education classes for 500,000 teen-agers in 500 school districts by September, 1973.

HEW spokesmen said Sunday curriculum materials are being prepared by Education Development Center of Cambridge, Mass., with a $570,000 grant from HEW's Office of Child Development.

The materials will be tested this school year at five still undetermined public schools and at one center sponsored by a voluntary organization.

53 Arrested So Far In Philippines

MANILA (UPI)—Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad said today that 53 persons including senators, congressmen, governors and publishers had been arrested since President Ferdinand E. Marcos put the Philippines under martial law.

Tatad told a news conference the arrests were carried out under Marcos' proclamation Saturday announcing a national emergency as part of what the government called a crackdown against Communist conspirators, gun runners, smugglers and "other criminal activities."

Marcos was to make a speech later today.

Those arrested include opposition party Sens. Benigno S. Aquino Jr., and Ramon Mitra and independent Sen. Jose W. Diokno. Others were Congressmen Roque Ablan, Rafael Aquino and David Puzon, all of them members of the ruling Nacionalista Party, Govs. Lino Bocalan and Rolando Puzon, both Nacionalista party members and Manila Times Publisher Joaquin P. Roces Jr. and Free Press magazine Publisher Teodoro Locson.

Three Constitutional Convention delegates including convention Vice President Napoleon Rama, at least six newsmen and five other persons also were arrested, Tatad said.

Of those under detention, Sen. Aquino, Congressman Ablan and publisher Roces are the best known internationally. Aquino has been a leading Marcos critic. Ablan, regarded as a Marcos friend, is the chairman of the Philippine Tourist and Travel Association and past president of the Pacific Area Travel Association (PATA). Roces publishes the Philippines' largest newspaper and has been active internationally in the international press institute, a watchdog on press freedom.

All but four of the 53 remained under detention today. They are living in "comfortable quarters" and permitted to be visited by relatives, Tatad said. He said the four persons who were released were set free because of "mistaken identity."

Tatad made clear not all of those arrested were suspected of antigovernment activities. He said some of them were taken "under protective custody" either because they had been threatened with death by the communists or their presence in their homes or offices "might permit them to be involved in certain activities that would aggravate the situation."

He declined to comment on what specific charges would be brought against those who were arrested or what kind of tribunal would try them.

Reviewing the overall national security situation Tatad said military authorities reported no incidents throughout the country after two days of martial law.

CLIMBER NEAL OLSON

Yosemite Climber Saved: Leg Broken

YOSEMITE, Calif. (UPI)— Sandy-haired Neal Olson, 24, said after his rescue Sunday that dangling from the 2,300-foot level of El Capitan monolith with a broken leg "wasn't so bad to me."

"People are making more out of it than it really is," the young mountaineer said from his hospital bed.

Olson, Portland, Ore., was struck by a boulder Swurday morning while scaling the popular "nose route" of the sheer rock in Yosemite National Park with a hometown partner, Wayne Haack, 24.

Four volunteer rescuers, three men and a woman, used a hand winch Sunday to lower Olson, who was 900-feet from completing his week-long climb, to the Yosemite Valley floor.

Olson said he was two steps from a ledge where the climbers camped Friday night "when a big boulder became detached from the wall."

"I straddled it, but it came off, glanced off my head and back and hit my right leg," said Olson.

Debris from the accident showered two other climbers on a lower edge, Mark Hamond, 28, Fresno and Michael Dent, 27, Los Angeles. They were told of the injury and grappled down the majestic rock to seek help.

The rescuers—Beverly Johnson, Jim Bridwell, John Bragg and Rik Reider—were ferried to the top of El Capitan Saturday by helicopter. They lowered themselves to a ledge above the injured climber and spent the night on the face after cloudy weather blotted out an attempt to lower Olson by the light of a full moon.

Sunday, the rescue team put splints on Olson's broken leg, gave him medication to ease the pain, and lowered him to the valley floor with nylon ropes.

The red-bearded Olson said later at the park's Lewis Memorial Hospital that he had climbed other rocks in Yosemite, but that it was his first try at conquering 3,200-foot El Capitan. The route he chose was first scaled in 1958 by Warren Harding and by about 40 others since.

He'll spend a few days in the hospital but considered himself lucky to have escaped with only a broken leg.

"I think if I had jumped from the ledge to get out of the way the rock could have chopped my rope," he said. "I was tied in at the time."

Mayor Wants Birds Back On The River

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Frank Rizzo, the 6-2, 250-pound ex-cop who became mayor of Philadelphia last year, has a fondness for swans and geese.

If some city officials think the mayor's predilliction a bit funny, they aren't laughing out loud. The director of the city's Fairmount Park for one, is taking the mayor very seriously.

Rizzo told park director Robert McConnell he wanted to see the birds back on the Schuylkill River. He said he was unhappy when they disappeared six years ago after an epidemic of food poisoning.

The mayor has ordered city park workers to provide a daily ration of grain for the geese and to set up old tires along the river for nests.

"I read in a wildlife book once that geese like tires for nests," Rizzo said. "These geese are reproducing all over the place."

School Strike Issues Shift To Courts

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The focus in two major strikes which have closed schoolroom doors to more than 400,000 children shifted today to courts which were being asked to require striking teachers to return to work.

In the 285,000-student Philadelphia school system, where teachers' strike entered its fourth week Sunday, both sides adjourned negotiations to await action on two suits, one filed by an irate parent.

In Washington, D.C., hearings on a proposed contempt action in a strike affecting 148,000 children were to resume today in U.S. District Court.

The first of two suits to end the Philadelphia strike will be heard Tuesday in Common Pleas Court. It was filed by Joseph Fineman, a lawyer with two children in public schools.

"If I'm not going to do it, who is?" asked Fineman. "I'm a product of the public schools. I've got kids in school and I don't want to see them stay closed.

"I think we've got a pretty good argument. All we want to do is to get the teachers back in school and the pupils learning."

Both the 13,000 striking teachers, who are seeking a 34 per cent raise, and the School Board, which has offered a 4 per cent increase, said they would oppose the class-action suit.

The second suit, filed by Community Legal Services, will be heard later in the week.

In the nation's capital, school authorities hoped to resume classes today, although unionized teachers vowed they would not return to work. The school board decided late Sunday night to take their case out on the hands of city attorneys who had been pressing for a contempt citation which the board feared might "escalate" the strike situation.

Acting Howard University Law Dean Herbert O. Reid was chosen to represent the board in further court proceedings.

At a rally Sunday night, union leaders urged the teachers to stay out because talks with the school board and city officials made "no progress" over the weekend.

Negotiations in Washington centered on salaries and class size. A raise for the teachers is tied up in a congressional committee, which has power over the capital, in a liberal-conservative home rule fight.

In western Pennsylvania, the Allegheny County Bomb and Arson Squad was investigating fires at two schools where teachers are on strike.

Police believe both were set by arsonists. One fire Saturday night caused more than $1 million damage to Cornell Senior High School. The other fire, at Scott High School, caused $150,000 damage Friday.

Elsewhere in Pennsylvania, strikes in nearly a dozen school districts affected about 35,000 children.

Allies Pushing To Clear Highway 1 Before Rains

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied forces killed more than 150 Communists in central coast fighting and began a push to clear vital Highway 1 before the approaching rainy season cuts off key government outposts from resupply, field reports said today.

A U.S. Air Force C130 transport plane tried to parachute supplies today to one threatened outpost at Ba To, about 320 miles northeast of Saigon, but winds carried the cargo behind Communist lines, the reports said. But allied fighter-bombers were credited with killing 35 Communist troops and knocking out five mortar and two antiaircraft positions outside the camp.

U.S. military sources said today American jets caught Communist units trying to move heavy 130mm artillery pieces to high ground Sunday in an attempt to shell reoccupied Quang Tri City and destroyed at least six of the big guns. One source said the U.S. airmen had advance word of the Communist move from prisoner interrogation and "other information. We were ready for them."

Most of the central coast action centered in Quang Ngai Province where Ba To is located, but other weekend battles also erupted in Quang Tin to the north and Binh Dinh to the south, allied military communiques reported.

Heavy monsoon weather Sunday limited the United States to only 140 air strikes over North Vietnam, military spokesmen said, with all of the raids carried out in the lower panhandle region. With monsoon rains only two weeks away along South Vietnam's central coast, the South Vietnamese were trying to push Communist units away from bases along Highway 1 and get them fully resupplied before the rains begin.

Territory occupied by the North Vietnamese when the monsoons begin will be difficult to recapture, sources said.

U.S. command spokesmen said Sunday's raids into the North cut a fuel pipeline about 34 miles above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams while other strikes knocked out seven bridges in the same area.

The U.S. jets struck Sunday as the Communists were moving toward high ground north of the Ba Long Valley between Quang Tri City, 404 miles north of Saigon, and the former U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh to the west.

The 130mm guns are the heaviest in the North Vietnamese arsenel and can fire a 73-pound shell 17 miles. They require a six-man crew and can fire five to six rounds per minute.

To the south, government forces Sunday turned back a stepped-up Communist drive that ranged into three adjoining provinces of the north-central coast, field reports and military spokesmen said.

In the heaviest attack, hundreds of Communists with amphibous tanks and 130mm guns assaulted a hill near Tien Phuoc, 330 miles north of Saigon.

In Quang Ngai, the next province to the south, Communist troops also attacked the militia outpost at Hoa Thanh, in neighboring Quang Ngai province and a mile south of the Duc Pho district capital. U.S. planes and ships of the 7th Fleet provided support to help drive off the attack.

The South Vietnamese command said the North Vietnamese lost 10 men killed; the South Vietnamese reported no casualties.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
by JUNE EMBURY

We have a favorite anecdote from a national magazine about the Veterinarian who was treating a very sick puppy. But its little owner was an unusually healthy child. The doctor discovered why: The little lad was feeding his pup his own highly sweetened, refined cereal and he was eating the dog's food!

Pet food labels reveal an impressive list of ingredients. Some folks find, though, that sensitive animals have uncomfortable reactions to the synthetic additives involved. So - we've had a research project going. Result: the discovery of a line that seems to be a great success. It's called "Foods of Nature Pet Food." There's a beef dinner, also ones featuring fish and kidney. They're combined with vegetables, soy grits, wheat germ, whey, dried yeast and no other additives. Of course the proof of the "pudding" will be in the eating. Our pets say it's right on!

Novatan To Resign ABAG Directorship

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — J. Julien Baget of Novato has announced his resignation as executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Baget said his resignation will be effective next March 31, explaining he had given advance notice "in the interest of an orderly transition."

The 58-year-old former Novato city manager was hired by ABAG as its top executive four years ago at an annual salary of $24,150. His current salary is $29,700.

He told the Independent-Journal he had "several options open" after next March, but that he had not yet decided which to take. He declined to elaborate.

Baget said he had been hired to help ABAG recover from the theft of its funds by its former assistant director, and that this had been completed.

Schools, Churches Receive Most Of Tax Exemptions

Marin County educational institutions and churches hold the lion's share of property granted tax exemptions for fiscal 1972-73, the State Board of Equalization reported today.

Property assessed at a total of $20,633,000 has been granted tax exemption in Marin, Bennett said. Of this, $4,159,000 is held by schools other than colleges; $5,350,000 by colleges and $4,742,000 by churches.

Veterans received exemptions on only $983,000 in assessed valuations, largely because most homes in Marin County exceed the exemption limit of $10,000 assessed valuation allowed to veterans.

Exemptions granted all other Marin County nonprofit institutions, ranging from incorporated little theater groups and charities to humane societies, total $5,120,000 in assessed valuation, according to Bennett.

The statewide total of tax exempt property is $1,976,358. Church exemptions, at $487,283,000, are the largest single category.

Temblors Hit Prior To Earthquake Parley

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—A series of small temblors cracked pavements and shook residents in the Monterey Bay Area just prior to a weekend meeting of earthquake experts to discuss geological hazards.

Four quakes, measuring between 3.5 and 4.0 on the Richter Scale, swayed tall buildings in nearby Salinas.

Mrs. Raleigh Alston said her garage's concrete floor cracked.

The earthquake experts met a few hours after the Saturday morning quakes to talk about seismic dangers with the Northern California chapter of the American Institute of Planners.

Corte Madera Hires Plan Consultants

Corte Madera town councilmen, acting as the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency, voted 5-0 Saturday to hire consultants Sedway and Cooke to plan redevelopment and to update the town's general plan.

The councilmen set maximums of $35,000 on the consultants' contract for the redevelopment agency task, and of $10,000 for the general plan revisions and the necessary publications, according to Mayor Holmes S. Norville.

Saturday's session was called to have the consultants present more detail on their proposed project. The approval came after a 90-minute description, Norville reported.

The redevelopment planning will include seven phases — initial review and preparation of base maps, analysis of land capabilities and open space values; analyses of housing, public services, transportation, commerce and industry, and a wrapup of miscellaneous planning needed for redevelopment.

A principal function of the redevelopment project would to be finance development of a major regional shopping center east of Highway 101.

Animal Oscar Award Goes To Ben The Rat

VALENCIA, Calif. (UPI)— The "Patsy," the equivalent of an Oscar for the animals of show business, was awarded Sunday by the American Humane Association.

The winner was Ben, the rat who starred in the movie "Willard."

He beat three horses, a goose, eight dogs, an eagle, two cats, a racoon, four chimps, a cougar and a duck.

GOP, Demos Argue 'Riot' Plans

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Democrats and Republicans were at odds today over whether local McGovern headquarters helped organizers of an anti-Nixon demonstration that the GOP claimed could start "a riot" when the President arrives Wednesday.

Democratic spokesmen said they did no such thing, but conceded that the organizers of the demonstration had been allowed to use the telephones at McGovern headquarters.

A Republican representative said he had evidence of a "huge number" of calls made on phones at the McGovern office to organize a crowd of "people who have a record of burning the American flag, carrying the Viet Cong flag and have arrest records for causing previous demonstrations.

"These aren't the kind of people who are interested in a political campaign, they are interested in starting a riot," said Jack Easton, communications chairman for the California Committee to Re-elect the President.

Nixon is scheduled to address a $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Century Plaza Hotel Wednesday night. A coalition of antiwar groups has announced plans for a demonstration against him.

The "Century Plaza Reception Committee" said they expect more than 20,000 demonstrators. Police officials say they have estimates ranging from that figure down to 1,000.

A spokesman for the local McGovern campaign, Tom Sullivan, said "no one in our campaign has endorsed or actively organized" the demonstration. Press aide Fred Epstein conceded earlier that "a handful" of demonstration organizers had used telephones at McGovern headquarters here for two nights, but said the practice was stopped.

"The fact that it was stopped indicates the limited extent of our support," Epstein said.

"We don't know who authorized them," Sullivan said. "It is not our policy to endorse or participate in anything other than the McGovern campaign," he said. "We certainly hope there is no violence."

Frank Mankiewicz, one of the Democratic nominee's chief advisers, said in Montana, where McGovern is campaigning that "If seven of my employes had been indicted for burglary, I'd try diversionary tactics too," referring to indictments in the alleged bugging of Democratic headquarters in Washington.

Gordon C. Luce, vice chairman of the local Nixon committee, telegraphed McGovern "formally requesting that your campaign post a $1 million bond with a disinterested third party...to reimburse innocent third persons who suffer bodily injury or property loss as a result of a demonstration planned by your supporters...during scheduled appearance of President Nixon in Los Angeles."

Mankiewicz replied that "There are paid Nixon bigots at every stop we make. We don't ask for a bond from the Republicans for them."

Easton said he was not accusing the Democrats themselves of planning to start a riot, but of letting their facilities be used by "people who have a record of starting violence."

A police spokesman said "We will have sufficient policemen present to handle any eventuality in a professional manner."

Three Charges For Petaluman

Johnny Miller Portes, 22, of 322 Post Street, Petaluma, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possession of stolen property, impersonating a police officer and carrying a concealed, loaded weapon.

Portes was released on his own recognizance by Southern Sonoma Municipal Court Judge Alexander J. McMahon, and scheduled for arraignment today.

Officers stopped Portes at 3 a.m. Saturday for a traffic offense and questioned him about loose clothing and household items in his car. They said Portes produced an identification card and said he was with the San Francisco Police Department on special assignment in Petaluma. Officers said the identification card had been reported stolen.

Vandals kicked in and smashed the door to the ladies restroom at the Corte Madera Youth Center some time last Thursday, reported Corte Madera police today.

Robbers Get $679 At Novato Motel

Two armed young men robbed employees of Mission Lodge motel office in Novato of $679 last night after tying and gagging three persons.

Novato police said the two men, armed with a "cut-off rifle," or shotgun, entered the motel of 7299 Redwood Highway at 8:15 p.m.

They taped the hands, feet and mouths of Eugene R. Busig, 46, and Inge K. Busig, 44, hotel managers, and Elizabeth Kehle, 61, Mrs. Busig's mother, after ordering them to lie down on the floor of the manager's apartment off the office, police said.

Mrs. Busig said the two men entered the office and one asked for a room. As he began to register, his companion displayed the weapon and ordered her to the apartment where her husband and mother were, police said.

Officers said the bound victims weren't able to telephone for help until about 15 minutes after the two men left.

The two men wearing green Army jackets and jeans reportedly were driving a pickup truck with a camper top, police said. The robbers were described as being in their twenties, one with blond hair and the other with dark wavy hair.

TRIP

taxing agencies," according to Mayor Bettini.

The total cost to the city for the three council representatives in Hawaii was $2,108.66, according to revolving account vouchers. There is apparently no record that any of the initial $360 registration fee for four was refunded, although registration per councilman for the conference was $90 and only three attended at city expense.

Sanitation district board meeting minutes make no mention of the Barbier Hawaii trip. The pollution conference was adjourned from San Francisco to Honolulu, according to board secretary Virginia Congdon, who did not know if director Barbier had attended the local portion of the conference.

"When board members attend a conference, it is usually brought up at a meeting," Mrs. Congdon said, adding that the board sometimes discusses travel expenses after a meeting is adjourned. The sanitation boardbudgeted $2,850 for "miscellaneous conferences" last fiscal year and spent $2,643 of the sum, she said.

Mention of the League junket is similarly lacking in city council meeting minutes for last fiscal year, though the conference is lumped with other meetings as a budget expense. Some $3,500 was budgeted for council travel in 1971-72, with $3,527 spent, according to Finance Director John B. Averett. Some $4,000 is budgeted for travel costs this fiscal year.

Mayor Bettini, noting the lack of public mention of the trip at the time it occurred, said such junkets generally aren't brought up at council meetings.

He said it was the council's privilege and responsibility to attend the Hawaii conference. More than 3,000 representatives from cities across the nation attended the meeting, he said, adding that officials from Novato had also been present.

"We're not on the gravy train," the mayor said, adding that the council was concerned about the total expense of the trip. He said that as mayor, he had no authority to preclude any councilman from going along on the trip. "It's a matter of individual choice," he said.

Bettini said that he and Mulryan had travelled tourist class and brought along bag lunches to cut down on the total expense.

Both Bettini and Mulryan said that San Rafael's involvement in redevelopment was a direct result of the Hawaii conference, which focused on the capacity of the city to cope with urban problems. The council also learned of various federal funding programs available to San Rafael, according to Mulryan.

Councilman Jensen called the trip educational, saying he had attended meetings "morning noon and night. The people got their money's worth."

City Mgr. James H. McCown said the Hawaii junket was a normal function of the council and declared that "the fact that they were near is the reason they went."

McCown said there was no publicity surrounding the trip, because the expense had been budgeted. "Usually three or four officials will attend a conference like this," he said.

Councilman Miskimen said that although it was important for San Rafael to be represented at the conference, "how many should go is a good question."

The councilman said he was surprised at the lack of coverage of the trip.

Moratorium On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo City Council will consider a moratorium on rezoning and development when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The measure, approved by the planning commission, would prohibit any use or rezoning which may be in conflict with contemplated zoning proposals and general plan revisions.

experts on international law, for preliminary consideration.

Diplomats feared, however, that a Saudi Arabian amendment credited with gaining the lopsided vote for assembly debate on the proposal— introduced personally by U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim—had clouded the issue beyond any hope of effective assembly action against terrorism.

The Saudi amendment called for a U.N. study of the "underlying causes of those forms of terrorism and acts of violence which lie in misery, frustration, grievance and despair." The diplomatic fear was that this would open the way for the introduction of so many extraneous debating points that it would emasculate the item as submitted by Waldheim.

U.S. sources said in discussing terrorism, Rogers would underscore violence in Latin America as well as that arising from the troubled Middle East.

PILOT

after showing the Korean War era plane in the Golden West Air Show in Sacramento, a two-day event sponsored by the local 20-30 Club.

(William Penn Patrick, whose fortune comes from Holiday Magic Inc. and other enterprises, is also an Air Force veteran and occasionally flies one of his vintage aircraft. He also sometimes exhibits the planes in shows, which was the case yesterday.)

Spectrum Air was founded, Patrick once told the Independent-Journal because of his love of planes. The company, headquartered at Gnoss Field, provides pilot training and aircraft sales and service.

A company employee who answered the phone at the firm today said "all the management" was in a meeting and unavailable for comment.

Another air accident involving a Spectrum Air plane resulted last week in a $865,000 judgment against the firm.

A jury in San Francisco Superior Court awarded the sum to the family of Los Ranchitos attorney Steven J. Dedina III, who was killed when his light plane crashed into a Peacock Gap hillside in 1970.

Attorneys for Dedina's widow, Sandra, and his four children, charged that faulty and negligent repairs made by the aircraft firm were responsible for the crash, which occurred three minutes after Dedina took off from the Smith Ranch airstrip.

Uplands Design Before Board

Corte Madera Board of Design will take another look at plans for 168 units to complete the Uplands complex on Paradise Drive at its meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

At its Sept. 5 meeting, the board sent the plans back to the applicants, D. R. Coldoff, Willis and Associates Inc., saying the 72 condominiums and 96 townhouses looked like "a mass of wood" in the western portion of the 16 acre site.

Board members also questionedthe three-story heights of the buildings and said the site appeared crowded.

Also before the board will be design review applications for a planned unit development at 200 Tamal Vista, and for 78 dwelling units at 66 Tamal Vista.

CRASH

from the doorways. One girl, Christie Kiehn, 12, Stockton, Calif., said she helped a friend get out safely and tried to return but couldn't.

"I climbed over all sorts of stuff, maybe some of it was bodies," said the girl, whose father, Rubin Bacci, 35, was among those missing. One 10-year-old boy, Steve Martin, Sacramento, was later found safely crouched under a table in the party room.

Roger Lindberg, a newscaster for Sacramento station KXTV, said he witnessed the crash when he was leaving the air show.

"There was a power failure," he said. "The pilot dropped back to the runway, hit his brakes, then flipped up like a catapult onto Freeport Boulevard where the plane exploded into a ball of fire and cartwheeled into Farrell's."

"The heat was terrific. It was terribly smoky," said Sacramento Fire Chief Winston Wilson.

One eyewitness said: "As far as I'm concerned this should be the end of air shows," referring to the death of a pilot last Sunday in a crash at the National Air Races in Reno, Nev.

In June, 1970, four pilots flying World War II planes died in two separate collisions during a vintage air race at Cape May County Airport, N.J. In the worst of two crashes at the 1965 Paris air show an Italian training jet crashed into a parking area, killing the pilot and seven visitors.

Mill Valley Fire Station Site Urged

A site selection committee has recommended that the new fire station in East Mill Valley be built on a triangular-shaped parcel at the intersection of Roque Moraes and an extension of Sycamore Avenue, just south of the last house in Enchanted Knolls.

The commitea chose the site over three others considered because it is moderately sloped and would not require extensive grading. The other sites, said the report, were on filled marshland which would require costly foundation work.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will receive and consider the site selection report at its meeting at 8 p.m. today.

The selection committee — which consisted of the fire chief, city engineer, parks and recreation director and planning director — envisions a further extension of Sycamore Avenue across Upper Richardson Bay, connecting Camino Alto to Highway 101.

The proposed site, said the report, would provide the fire department with good access to such areas in East Mill Valley as Enchanted Knolls, Shelter Ridge, Alto, Highway 101, and Scott Valley.

The station will be constructed with money acquired from the sale of $275,000 worth of bonds authorized by the voters of Mill Valley in April.

The committee said that natural screening and additional shrubbery will insulate the activites of the fire department from the residential area of Enchanted Knolls, just north of the station.

Grass Fire Near Homes Stopped

A brush and grass fire burned right to the backyards of several homes in Santa Venetia yesterday, but was contained before it did any damage other than burning 10 acres.

Three California Division of Forestry chemical retardent planes, fifty firemen from nine departments and two bulldozers fought the fire.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started at 2:35 p.m. and was contained about two and one half hours later.

The Marin County Fire Department responded initially and summoned mutual aid from surrounding communities. Thirty-four firemen from numerous departments responded with 18 others put on stand-by.

Good Investment

Home improvement can be a worthwhile investment. Not only do you increase the value of your house, but by modernizing the heating system, you can save up to 25 per cent in fuel cost.

'HAPPY PLACE' BECOMES INFERNO

A 12-Year Old's Agony In Ice Cream Parlor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Twelve-year-old Christie Kiehn and her family were digging into an exotic, mountainous ice cream treat called a "Zoo" when "something crashed right behind us and people began screaming."

"I thought it was just another gimmick," Christie said, referring to the fanfare and frills that accompany the many sumptuous dishes served at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor, knicknamed "The Happy Place."

Instead, it was a jet fighter which slammed into the parlor, turning it into an inferno and killing 22 persons.

"The wood poles started breaking and everything started floating all over the place," Christie said. "All the tables went on everybody. The whole place came in."

She grabbed Kerri Francis, a 3-year-old youngster traveling with the family, and crawled through the burning rubble to safety. She tried to return for Kerri's twin, Kristi, but couldn't.

"I climbed over all sorts of stuff, maybe some of it was bodies," the girl said.

It was a cloudless Sunday afternoon and many families had gone to the ice cream parlor for birthday celebrations. The Sacramento 49ers, a Little League football team, was having a party at the time.

Wearing a straw hat and a gay nineties uniform, employe Don McClusky was filling a salt shaker when the F86 Korean War-vintage plane crashed into the Howard Hughes Room of the establishment.

At first he tried to put the raging fire out with extinguishers. But he quickly gave it up.

"There was no way to help them," he said. "It was mass confusion. I smashed out a window and hauled about five or six people out, but then the heat was too intense and I couldn't get back in."

Linda Fourby, 17, Sacramento, was riding past in a car that was missed by the plane by about 100 feet.

"A friend of mine said, 'Oh! Look at the plane!' We slammed on the brakes. I looked up just in time to see the tail like a speeding ball of fire going right into Farrell's, she said.

"People were saying, 'Get out! Get out! Where's my kids?' Everybody was trying to help everybody."

"The heat was terrific, it was terribly smokey and we didn't have good visibility," said Sacramento City Fire Chief Winston Wilson.

"When they (the bodies) came out they all looked like all the kids you know."

For Christie the mishap was a family tragedy. Her step father, Rubin Bacci, 35, was missing, along with the second twin. Her mother, Joan, 29, and the rest of the family—three boys and a girl—were hospitalized.

Planners Will Consider Policy

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a development policy for the south side of Novato Boulevard between St. Paul Circle and Diablo Avenue when it meets at 8 p.m. today at the community house.

As proposed, medium-density apartments would be allowed, with the Warner Creek area as a linear park accessible to pedestrians and bicycles. The area is now composed mainly of single-family detached homes.

Commissioners also will review plans by Robert L. Goetz for 38 townhouse units, west of Highway 101 and north of the crossroads project.

Language School Picnic Is Saturday

The German Language School of Marin will hold its fifth annual public picnic at noon Saturday in San Rafael's Gerstle Park.

Proceeds will benefit operation of the school, which holds classes at Oliver R. Hartzell School in San Rafael.

Yosemite Brush Fire Contained

EL PORTAL (UPI)—A force of 280 firefighters Sunday contained a 980-acre brush and grass fire near the main entrance of Yosemite National Park.

A spokesman for the U. S. Forest Service said some of the firefighters would remain to conduct mop-up operations.

The fire broke out Friday in an abandoned mine working and spread through rugged Merced River Canyon about four miles west of the main entrance to the park in Stanislaus National Forest.

Field-Trip Policy May Be Formulated

Lagunitas School District trustees will be asked to set a policy on student field trips and to consider reactivation of the district's citizens' finance committee at their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in San Geronimo Valley School.

Trustees also will receive a report on a fire that gutted the district's multimedia center earlier this month.

Two Women Receive Ph. D.s In Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI)—Two female university lecturers Sunday became Thailand's first locally trained Ph.D.s.

Mrs. Chaufah Thongthai and Miss Chaweewan Koonkhamlert, both 29, each received a doctor of philosophy degree in microbiology from Mahidol University in Bangkok. The degrees were conferred by King Bhumibol Adulyadej.

Canon Village Plan On Agenda

Fairfax planning commissioners will review a tentative subdivision map and precise development plan for the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club at their meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the women's club.

The 89-acre development is embroiled in legal action, with the commission facing a superior court order to approve the subdivision map or show cause why it should not be done.

Owners Robert D. Marshall and Denkmann and Co. seek approval for 128 dwellings on the property, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Oak Manor Drive. The developers filed suit Sept. 6, contending that action on the map had been delayed illegally past the 30-day deadline provided in city ordinances. The map was filed July 17.

The commission also will hear an application by Family Mix of Marin to operate a free medical clinic two nights a week in the Fairfax Community Church.

Two State Bond Issues Both Needed

As usual in California elections, voters will be faced with a long and confusing list of propositions when they go to the polls Nov. 7.

Also as usual, these include state bond issues.

Propositions 1 and 2 on the ballot will call for approval of new bond issues.

PROPOSITION 1 calls for a $160 million issue to help finance site acquisition and buildings for California's community colleges.

The ommunity colleges — as Marinites must be well aware by this time — are in about the same position today as were elementary schools between 10 and 20 years ago. That is, their student populations are growing faster than facilities can be provided. This has resulted in increasing tax rates, crowded campuses, and fiscal headaches.

The squeeze comes about not only because children of the "baby boom" high-birth-rate years are now reaching college age. Adding to the community colleges' problems, University of California and the state colleges-universities continue to tighten entrance requirements, forcing more and more of those who want to continue their education onto the locally supported community colleges.

The $160 million bond issue would continue, and expand, state assistance to community college districts begun a decade ago. Up to now, $135 million in state bonds have been used to assist community colleges in meeting their increased enrollments. College of Marin has shared in this.

Since the squeeze on these local colleges is increasing rather than decreasing, and since they are forced to take high school graduates from throughout the state, it seems fair that statewide financing should assist them.

The Independent-Journal will support Proposition 1.

PROPOSITION 2 calls for a $155,900,000 bond issue to provide health science facilities. (Why this one wasn't rounded off to an even $160 million also escapes us; perhaps the sponsors were using the "$1.98 sounds cheaper than $2" approach.)

These bonds would finance new buildings and equipment on University of California campuses for medical schools, public health courses, pharmacy, dentistry, optometry, nursing and veterinary medicine.

The issue has been endorsed by the California Medical Association as needed to meet the increasing demand for people in the health fields.

Two years ago last June, a $246.3 million issue for the same purpose was defeated at the polls. The Independent-Journal endorsed that one. The presently proposed issue is smaller; the need is no less — in fact, probably greater.

The Independent-Journal will support Proposition 2.

Every Month Of The Year

Marin's gardeners are lucky. If they are flower lovers, they can easily plan things so flowers are blooming in their gardens every month of the year. In November, when the fall flowers are dying off, the roses are bedraggled, the fuchsias fading and the chrysanthemums just past their prime, the spring narcissus begin to bloom, starting the train of spring flowers that bloom throught the winter.

GAME OF BRINKMANSHIP?

Sausalito Council Drags Feet On Ferry Terminal

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Sausalito City Council is engaged in a hazardous game of brinkmanship with the Golden Gate Bridge District over the ferry terminal the district plans on the downtown waterfront.

The council knows the district has the power to condemn whatever it needs for the terminal, but has its head so deep in cobwebs it seems content to forget this power.

The council already has burned up five months since the district sent its plan for the $1.7 million terminal to the city for its reaction. Mayor Robin Sweeney acknowledged the district has to get approval from the council by November so construction can start early next year.

But judging from the council's inability last Monday night to grapple with a decision on the terminal, meeting that deadline may be impossible.

AT THIS RATE, it is almost certain the alternatives available to the bridge district will be to either abandon the plan or exercise its considerable legal muscle to force the city to accept the terminal.

With Sausalito a key to the district's $24 million ferry system, we doubt the bridge board will hesitate to move against the city: The city's parochial interests cannot interfere with the public transportation needs of the general public, the bridge board could argue — doubtless a persuasive point in court.

We were especially surprised to hear Mayor Sweeny argue there were "all kinds of study that we need to do" to plan the entire waterfront before deciding what to do about the ferry terminal. The city has spent too many years and tax dollars on waterfront plans to hide behind this excuse.

Only Councilman Stephen Fraser saw the issue clearly to comment, "I hesitate to push these guys too far." He could see that if the city pushes too hard, it — not the bridge district — could be the one to go over the brink.

SUPERVISORIAL candidate Michael R. Peevey has formed something called the Bipartisan Better Government Committee for Mike Peevey.

Supervisors are nonpartisan under California law, but somehow it is no secret that Peevey is a Democrat and his opponent, Gary T. Giacomini, a Republican.

The least surprising name on the committee's roster was Charles Smith, president of the Marin County Labor Council. Peevey, after all, is an official with the AFL-CIO.

Far more significant were the names of Paul R. Haerle, Gov. Ronald Reagan's former appointments secretary and secretary of the Republican State Central Committee; Rodgers Broomhead, past chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee; John F. Fiorito Jr., president of the Marin Republican Council, and Betty Gardner, a member of the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

'Boxer Rebellion' Title For Campaign

"Boxer Rebellion." What a great title for a campaign!!

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, the Boxer Rebellion was ". . .a blind attempt, largely popular but sanctioned by the extremists. . ." Then, and now?

Speaking of Barbara Boxer, I keep hearing of what she will do. Perhaps she should "do" more things for Marin and learn more about Marin and live here longer to get the feel of Marin. Her ideas may be great, but let's wait.

Being a native, I'm very anxious to keep Marin as Marin.

Social Service Agency Should Be Unsuspicious

I find it very sad that the only daily newspaper in Marin County would sink so low as to print the story of Marlene Freedman's account of the ready availability of food stamps to the hungry and the needy, especially in an emergency. I am proud the Marin County Department of Public Social Services is not overly suspicious but really tries to help someone in distress which is true to our American tradition.

So what if the I-J did find a determined person who goes to vast lengths of deceit and time-consuming effort to prove anyone can cheat? So what else is new? And how many people does the I-J think will bother with all that lying for $64 worth of food stamps when fraudulent use is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $5,000? It might even be easier to steal $64 worth of food and perhaps not be so time consuming! Why not try that next?

I do assume that Marlene Freedman will be fined $100 for fraudently acquiring the food stamps even though she was careful not to use them or apply for more. Was she afraid of being found out and of being unable to prove her preconceived notion that the food stamp program is lax?

The food stamp program does help many, many, hungry, needy people. Since in the U.S. one is assumed to be innocent until proven otherwise, I hope the Department of Public Social Services will continue to service people in a friendly and non-suspicious manner.

Hurrah for our Marin County DPSS which is handling a federal program set up to distribute food surpluses!

Expose The Big Cheaters Instead

On your front page, Sept. 15, were two juxtaposed stories of 'fraud' in our government.

The story of the light-hearted felony of Marlene Freedman in lying and fraudulently obtaining food stamps, then so gaily dismissing it as a prank to test the food stamp program, angered me the most — while proving that at least one of our local government departments IS efficient! I believe that lying is lying, sometimes it is perjury, and must be prosecuted to the full extent in the fine print which seemed to amuse the reporter so much!

Dismissing the completed crime with a light-hearted jest does not erase the crime. While she proved that the mail does go through, did she not also open herself to prosecution for using the mails to defraud?

The second article regarding misuse of "expense" funds, perhaps, will not arouse so much ire, because we are so accustomed to this type of cheating among our government employees — it was excused by our governor as being necessary to the rest and recreation of the National Guard conventioneers, quite recently. The tab for one luncheon meeting very nearly equalled the total amount for one month food allowance for the spurious mother and infant in food stamps . . .

As an income tax payer, I feel discriminated against as the new minority. I don't have a large enough income to be eligible to cheat on the statutorily protected "loss" frauds, and I don't get a pension for "service" to the state, as legislators, et al, and can only object as loudly as I can to these "rip-offs" when they are cited.

No good purpose would be served by establishing another enormous bureaucracy to spy on the little people. That would just set up another category of people who would then be eligible to put in some time and then draw their pensions. Rather, we should look to the already enormous pension plan the higher echelons of Government employees have voted themselves, and their cost-of-living escalations . . .

Bureaucracy Ignores Citizen's Problem

In this age of protest I'd like to add mine — those of a near-retirement age, lone woman. My protest is against what I consider the cavalier treatment by local city bureaucrats who, in turn, wonder why the public is so apathetic about bond issues and salary increases.

My specific indictment is against the director of the Sausalito Planning Department who feels it is beneath his dignity to answer written questions regarding his arbitrary decisions. The case in point is a piece of property which, to this writer, is her sole means of being able to retire.

Better than 20 years ago, I bought a piece of Sausalito property (two lots). There was an old building on one lot which was remodelled as living quarters until a home could be built on the other lot. Personal matters intervened. The other lot was never built upon.

Three years ago, I decided to sell the other lot so I could finance an elevator which would be built between the lots, and which would service them both. The day is not far off then I'll no longer be able to climb those 80 stairs.

At this point, I went to the city engineer (there was no planning director at that time.) He told me that the lot could be sold and could be built on. He even wrote out the formula as to what could be built on it. He confirmed this three times — once to my brother, an architect. As the result of this, I went ahead, spent some $400 on blueprints, survey and so on.

This winter, when the preliminary work was complete and I had some time, I put the lot on the market, assuring the real estate person that I had cleared it completely. When she checked, she was airly told that there was no way wya that I could ever sell this lot. At this, I flew down to the new planning director where, face-to-face, he sounded sympathetic, saying he would write a letter to the city attorney in my behlaf. Some months later, the city attorney wrote an opinion, simply quoting the building code as it now exists, one of which I felt explained to me my situation of having bought a building lot 20 years ago, paying taxes on it all these years and now summarily being told I have nothing but an expensive Sausalito greenbelt.

Since that time, I have, in a series of letters, tried to get clarification from the planning director. My letters have all been ignored.

Harriman Won't Back McGovern; More On Watergate Scandal Due

The Democratic Party's senior diplomat and last Democratic governor of New York will not support Sen. George McGovern. He is Averell Harriman, who has served in the administration of every Democratic President since F.D.R.

Harriman is not making any public announcement of his decision, but he has confided to friends that he can't go along with McGovern. He will help other Democratic candidates.

MORE TO COME ON WATERGATE BUGGING. The scandal of the Republican commandos, arrested for electronic spying at Democratic National Committee headquarters, is getting murkier and murkier.

New charges of law violation can now be expected. The unanswered question: Hasn't the Committee for the Re-election of the President violated the Federal Election Campaign Act? Is it legal to spend campaign funds to finance political espionage? Lawyers are now looking into this.

Agents of the Republican campaign committee are charged with committing these crimes last June 17 — breaking and entering, tapping telephones, taping and transcribing private conversations.

Voluntary, if not authorized, agents of the Republican Party are investigating these crimes.

Is it beyond the ability of the administration to enforce the law, or is there a lack of will?

IS VIETNAM SETTLEMENT GETTING NEARER? Experts outside the government think so.They see President Thieu strengthening his control in order to deal with political ferment when compromises are made. They point to Saigon's recapture of Quang Tri, the only provincial capital lost to the North Vietnamese during their all-out offensive.

The consensus in Washington is that Moscow is strongly advising Hanoi that the best terms they can get from the United States will be before, not after, the presidential election.

CHINESE-SOVIET TENSIONS INCREASING. The apparent cause is Peking's emergence into the world political arena. Ever since China joined the U.N., Peking has been plaguing Moscow at nearly every point where their interests touch or conflict.

One Chinese official describes "repeated provocations by the Soviet Union against China this year."

U.S. intelligence reports that the Russians have recently added approximately three divisions to their eastern frontier, which brings their total force to about 50 Soviet divisions along the 6,000-mile border with China.

U.N. WILL HAVE TO TIGHTEN ITS BELT. Already in the red, the United Nations faces a reduction of the U.S. contribution from 31 per cent to 25 per cent of its budget, down by $3,379,930.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills putting the 25 per cent ceiling on U.S. payments.

Russia pays 14 per cent of the U.N. budget. The formula for working out these percentages involves per capital income, population and gross national product.

HOW U.N. COULD INCREASE ITS INCOME. All it has to do is to elect West Germany to membership. West Germany is one of the four wealthiest countries in the world and would be able to pay its full share.

Bonn is expected to make a strong case for membership at this session. The sword which threatens is a Russian veto unless the East German Communist regime is also admitted.

Private School Tax Credits Have Election-Year Earmark

WASHINGTON — Perhaps it was coincidence that George McGovern disclosed his support of tax credits for parents of nonpublic school students while he was campaigning at the largest Catholic school in Chicago, in a state he desperately needs if he is to come close in the election just seven weeks away. If so, it was no more coincidental than the fact that Mr. Nixon chose the summer of re-election year to come out for the same plan after his administration had opposed the idea firmly for his first three and a half years in office.

But we are grown-ups, and we understand that politicians make political decisions under election pressure. Let us then try to pass by the politics involved and consider the substance of the issue. It is of historic importance, explosive and, on the basis of a series of court decisions rendered just this year, still of doubtful validity under the Consitution.

MR. NIXON'S proposal has been laid before the Ways and Means Committee in some detail. McGovern carefully avoided specifics when he announced his stand last week, but two other Democrats presumably on his wavelength — Chairman Wilbur Mills and Rep. Hugh Carey of New York — have put in a comparable measure.

To give federal money even indirectly to church education remains of dubious constitutionality, even though parochial schools indisputably are in serious financial trouble. Recent court decisions in Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island have reconfirmed this.

The current suggestions apply to all legitimate nonpublic schools rather than church schools only, and they would allow tax credits to the parents rather than to the schools themselves. Whether those points bring this legislation within the bounds of the First Amendment is certain to be tested all the way to the Supreme Court. I will avoid that legal argument except to note that the revised proposals still wind up subsidizing religious education, and both presidential candidates acknowledge that that is what they want to do.

IT DOES NOT TAKE a Sam Ervin, however, to foresee what would happen if the current court should sanction such a law.

The major groups who would benefit are: (1) mostly white, mostly urban Catholics who choose voluntarily to send their children to parochial schools to get a religiously oriented education and in many cases also to avoid racially integrated public schools; (2) mostly white, upper-class parents who choose voluntarily to send their children to private schools to get a supposedly superior education and incidentally to avoid racially integrated public schools, and (3) white southerners who choose voluntarily to send their children to the burgeoning private academies there for no other reason than to avoid racially integrated public schools.

McGovern, to be sure, said in Chicago that the Internal Revenue Service has the power to see that those using private schools merely to escape integration will not benefit. But having that poweC9does not mean exerting it. Mr. Nixon had the IRS announce more than two years ago that segregated schools would not be granted tax-exempt status — and while a few new southern "academies" were thus closed, many more continue to flourish.

Already, without financial inducement, millions of parents are opting for private education while the public schools in most American cities become blacker and poorer, and the heavy-voting white middle class rebels against bond issues and property tax boosts intended to improve them. On the very day McGovern announced his position, the mostly black teachers union struck the mostly black public school system in the nation's capital, in part because congressional budget-cutters blocked a larger pay increase and imposed a larger average class size than before.

THE RESULT of giving tax credits for private school education will be to tempt still more white children out of the public systems and send those systems spiraling further downward into federally subsidized de facto segregation, even worse fundamental teaching accomplishment. And at the same time, as Mr. Nixon's budget director conceded before Ways and Means, the taxes credited — estimated variously at from $584 million to $970 million a year to start — would "in all fairness" be withheld from other (i.e., public) educational spending.

The crux of it is that in pursuing a plausible-sounding and probably electorally profitable end, our politicians may be abetting the ruination of the public school tradition that supports our democracy. After Nov. 7, when the fever has subsided, they should be able to see this danger more clearly.

The Day When All Of Marin Was Turned Into National Park

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 25, 1980 — Two Sausalito city officials, in the capitol this week to continue to plead for inclusion of the city's Wolfback Ridge in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, succeeded beyond their wildest dreams.

In a surprise move, the Senate committee conducting hearings on the recreation bill voted unanimously to include all of Marin County in the new park.

The committee action was quickly and enthusiastically ratified by the Senate and House and signed into law by President Joan Kennedy, who remarked that it was "about time this country stopped taking a piecemeal approach to open space planning."

Sausalito Mayor Robin Sweeny and Councilman Stephen Fraser, interviewed in the hearing chambers minutes after the committee acted, expressed surprise and delight at the victory. "All those trees and all that grass; no more cars and filthy gas," Fraser chanted happily when the vote was announced.

A SPOKESMAN for the committee said its decision to turn Marin into a park was influenced both by pictures of the county shown by Mrs. Sweeny and Fraser and the comments of a delegation of citizens from San Francisco.

"That's one beautiful county you have out there, all those trees and hills and valley and beaches and things," the senator said. "It just seemed a shame to let a measly 200,000 people live in it and muck it up. That Marin is a scenic wonder, like Old Faithful and the Grand Canyon. It should belong to all the people."

"Yes, that's right," said another legislator who had voted for the omnibus bill. "It was just time to clean up Marin before it was completely ruined."

The San Francisco delegation, headed by Mayor Vito Corleone, had lobbied for turning its neighboring county into a public park.

"We San Franciscans are just sick and tired of seeing all those houses when we drive across the bridge for a nice trip to the country," Corleone said in an impassioned plea to the committee.. "If we wanna see houses, there's plenty of 'em right in San Francisco — lotsa real high ones too," he added with a laugh.

UNDER TERMS of the new legislation, Marin will be phased out of existence in the next five yars.

All buildings in the county will be torn down, with the exception of public restrooms and drinking fountains, and all roads will be removed, the committee agreed.

To forestall the chance that auto traffic will continue to arrive in Marin, the bill also calls for demolition of the Golden Gate and Richmond-San Rafael bridges and construction of a great wall running across Marin at the Sonoma County line.

Residents will be relocated in northwestern Utah in one of the largest rural renewal projects in history. (One senator said he may introduce legislation permitting U.S. citizens to live only in Utah, and Nevada, deserts, parts of Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas, and the Majove Desert. "We have to keep people from residing in beautiful places that we may someday need for recreation areas," he said.)

COST OF THE entire conversion project, estimated at $350 billion, will be shared jointly by Bay Area residents and former Marinites living in Utah. "After all, it was their county and they should be proud and happy that it was singled out for this honor," one senator said.

The committee thanked Marin conservationists and open space advocates for their help in passing the park bill and said it was sorry that even these people would no longer be able to live in their favorite county.

But the senators agreed they should be given free passes once Marin National Park is open, allowing them to visit their former home Wednesdays through Sundays from 11 a.m to 10 p.m. although not by automobile.

12 In CRA Quit Over 'Credibility'

BERKELEY (UPI)—Twelve members of the California Republican Assembly, including two vice presidents, have criticized the organization for being a "rubber stamp" for the Nixon Administration.

The 12 walked out of the group's directors' meeting Sunday.

"As responsible Republicans we can no longer support the CRA," said a statement signed by vice president Stephen Downard and Wally Reemeline and assistant secretary Sue Smith.

The statement charged the assembly was "abandoning its principles and eroding its credibility."

The three officers were joined in their walkout at the Marriott Inn by nine others.

They said there was widespread dissatisfaction in the volunteer group over endorsement of President Nixon.

Some members, they said, wanted to endorse Representative John Ashbrook of Ohio and others were in favor of no endorsement at all. Downard of San Francisco said 31 members of the CRA would resign.

Uganda Ties Peace To Ouster Of Obote

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Tanzania has accepted a plan to end nine days of fighting along its border with Uganda, Foreign Minister Omar Arteh Ghalib of Somalia said today.

President Idi Amin of Uganda welcomed the plan, but he ruled out peace until the Tanzanian government has withdrawn its forces from the border and ousted former Ugandan President Milton Obote leaves Tanzania.

In Kampala, a Ugandan military spokesman said 37 more guerrillas have been killed in mopping up operations by Ugandan troops near the border town of Mutukila in Southwest Uganda.

The reported deaths would bring to 367 the number of invaders Ugandan forces say they have killed since a 1,500-man force moved into Uganda from Tanzania Sept. 17.

In Dar es Salaam Ghalib told newsmen Sunday that President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania had accepted a five-point peace plan proposed by President Mohamed Said Barre of Somalia. Ghalib gave no details of the plan.

Radio Uganda quoted Amin as saying the plan was "very good."

But Amin said that unless Tanzanian and other hostile forces withdrew from the frontier he would order a "big air raid and a large-scale operation of the army and paratroopers to destroy them completely."

Board Meeting

The Fairfax School District board will consider such items as the Proposition 14 tax revision initiative on the November ballot, state testing reports and transfer of kindergarten children when it meets at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow in White Hill School.

Thousands For Autographs, But Not A Minute For Letters

A recent auction at Parke-Bernet Galleries found the autograph market up. The star signatures, which included John Hancock (of course), Catherine the Great, and Louis XIV, went for a total of $131,590, or a third more than the autograph experts — yes, there are those experts, too — predicted. One letter, written by Luther in 1520 after he had been denounced by Rome, featured the line, "Italy is also not without asses," and brought $10,000.

Does all this mean letter writing is coming back? Alas, it may suggest rather that letters are becoming a department of the antique business: as dated as smoke signals.

Tomorrow's grandchildren, rummaging around the attic on a rainy Saturday afternoon, are more likely to find a trunk full of ancient television circuits and 40-year-o ld dishwashe guarantees than a bundle of grandmother's letters.

WHO WRITES letters anymore? Through the mailbox tumble bills, solicitations, printed forms addressed to "Dear Homeowner" or, at this season, "Dear voter." But letters? Real letters?

There are the obligatory "just-a-line-to-say . . ." notes that parents write to absent children and absent children write back. There are the "Re-yours-of-the-14th . . ." business communiques. But letters? Real letters?

Letters are for the very old, the very young, and those who can't afford their phone bill.

Children will write letters to friends — or even parents — in the next room, slip the letter under the door, then knock on the door and ask if you got it. These letters may consist of little more than "How are you, Im fine." (Forget the punctuation. Or a snappy riddle. Or a Christmas request list, submitted in July and forgotten by both parties in August. Nevertheless, these are real letters.

THE VERY OLD may write soliloquies — memory's streams-of-consciousness in which the writer becomes his own reader and nobody else is really there. But these are real letters, too.

Real letters are the expressions of impulses that cannot wait. The impulse to share news. The impulse to communicate affection — or the absolutely unpostponable impulse of a writer to pass on himself — to make his absence felt. "Here I am," is the coded message of every letter. "Remember me? Here is what I feel. Here is what I think . Here is what I'm going to do. Here am I . . . ."

One of the 20th century's most persistent Here-am-I's was George Bernard Shaw. A second volume of his correspondence, "Collected Letters, 1898-1910," has just been published. Dan H. Lawrence, the editor, has kept the package down to 950 pages only by trimming the 644 letters.

LIKE ANOTHER voluminous letter writer, Voltaire, Shaw used his letters as a podium. He quite literally addressed people. Letters for him were a place for public statements rather than private rendezvous.

But then, letters are almost always a form of interior monologue, though usually less baldly so. In letters one tries out new ideas — or even new selves — that one does not yet dare display in public. Through letters one may agonize one's way in and out of a credo, or in and out of love.

The one command upon all letter writers — whether thinkers, feelers, or Bernard Shaw — is this: no second drafts. Second drafts are self-defeating. "Letters should be easy and natural," Lord Chesterfield insisted, "and convey to the persons to whom we send just what we should say if we were with them."

Poor Lord Chesterfield! What a phone bill he would run up today! And it would be just like his much-epistled son to move to California.

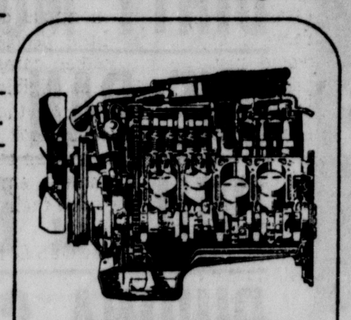
Mercedes-Benz shatters the stereotype of the $10,000 "luxury" car.

Cars of the $10,000 class arouse images of bulk, brocade and an overbearing manner. Luxury has come to mean pomp.

The new Mercedes-Benz 280SE 4.5 Sedan rejects this hollow approach. It is an investment in fine machinery. This mechanical excellence not only elevates your standard of living; it raises your standard of driving. Can you think of a more worthwhile luxury than that?



New 280SE 4.5 V-8 is marked by advanced features like electronic fuel injection and transistorized ignition system. Connecting rods and other engine parts are meticulously hand balanced before assembly; after assembly, each engine gets a thorough bench test.

No chauffeur needed

Rather than drowsing in the rear seat while someone else drives, you will actually look forward to taking the wheel of this car.

Credit the Mercedes-Benz engineers. They pulled out all the stops:

- Power flows from the same large V-8 used in the new 450SL sports car. Don't worry; this engine is tamed to a purr.
- You ride on one of the most elaborately engineered suspensions on any passenger car, similar in principle to the all-independent systems used on 200-mph racing machines.
- Racing machines employ 4-wheel disc brakes; so does your 4.5 Sedan. Even the costliest domestic luxury sedan, on the other hand, uses disc brakes only on the front wheels.
- Functional design keeps the 4.5 almost 3 feet shorter and half a ton lighter than America's best-selling luxury sedan. An agile car.

The photo at right dramatizes all these pluses. You see a 4.5 ripping at speed around Germany's Nürburgring race circuit as if it were a sports car, not a $10,378 sedan. A reassuring demonstration.

Mouth-watering details

The engineers fitted that V-8 with a computer to check speed, load, temperature—even altitude—and meter fuel to the cylinders accordingly. It is uncannily efficient.

Steering is power assisted and extremely accurate. The car glides nimbly through traffic. Manual effort is wonderfully light. (Tell your wife.)

Tired of fatigue?

The engineers even took a different approach to the seats in the 4.5 Sedan.

"The uninitiated are, at first anyway, put off by the firm Mercedes seats," observes Road & Track magazine, "but after several hours of traveling these same people are still comfortable—they're beginning to know what Mercedes cars are all about."

Your 4.5 comes with air conditioning already built in. That power steering and automatic shift, plus power brakes, electric windows, tinted glass, AM-FM receiver, heated rear window—all standard fittings.

Standard too is a bit of technical wizardry called a central locking system. Touch a button and all 4 doors, the trunk lid and the gas port silently lock by vacuum power. Instant security.

You can order some options. They include leather upholstery and a sliding steel sunroof.

Additionally, two elongated versions of the 4.5 Sedan are available: the 280SEL 4.5 at $10,969, and the 300SEL 4.5 at $14,227. Both afford 4 more inches of rear-seat legroom. The 300SEL 4.5 uses an air-suspension system.

The car is put together with care and patience. It is more than "fine workmanship." It is a zeal for perfection.

A $10,000 car is clearly no short-term investment. Your 4.5 was put together to stay together—an old Mercedes-Benz tradition that reflects an old European tradition. Unafflicted by new-car mania, Europeans tend to hang on to their cars a good long time.

The long life expectancy of a Mercedes-Benz is aided by its welded "unit" body; far fewer nuts and bolts to possibly work loose, squeak and rattle. Your 4.5 carries 44 lbs of anti-corrosion defense in its primer and paint coats alone. More than 20 lbs of plasticized undercoating are bonded to the underside.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $15,182* to $6,439*

450SL Coupe	$15,182
450SL Coupe/Roadster	$11,761
280SE 4.5 Sedan	$10,378
250 Coupe	$ 8,169
250 Sedan	$ 7,315
220 Sedan	$ 6,665
220 Diesel Sedan	$ 6,439

"The best available today"

Mercedes-Benz engineers poured the cream of their expertise into the 280SE 4.5 Sedan. They believe it is worth every penny of that $10,378 price. Other experts concur:

"One has to pay through the nose for the best, but for those who can afford it and demand real roadability with their luxury, comfort and prestige, the 280SE with the V-8, in either regular or L version, is the best available today."

McGovern Slips 11 More Points

NEW YORK (UPI)—A poll of voters in 16 key states indicates that Sen. George McGovern has lost ground to President Nixon and may face a landslide defeat in the November presidential election.

According to the poll, commissioned by Time magazine and the New York Times, Nixon has increased his lead over McGovern by 11 points for a 62 per cent to 23 per cent lead.

Time said "if the election were held today, McGovern would join those presidential aspirants buried under the country's historic landslides—Henry Clay, Alton Parker, James Cox, Alfred Landon, and of course, Barry Goldwater."

The poll, conducted by Daniel Yankelovich Inc., was based on interviews with 2,239 registered voters in 16 key states between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

California, New York, Texas and Illinois were included in the 16 states—which had a combined total of 332 electoral votes—considerably more than the 270 votes needed to win.

The poll also indicated the Democratic voters are turning to Nixon and favor the incumbent over their own party's choice by a margin of 43 to 40 per cent, Time said.

Newsweek magazine reported in another poll released Sunday that the President had gained strength among young voters 18 to 24 by two percentage points. He now leads 52 per cent to McGovern's 48.

The Newsweek poll, based on 1,242 voters, was conducted by the Gallup organization in late August.

Oak Ridge Cancer Report Seen Raising 'False Hopes'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cancer researcher at the University of California Medical Center has accused researchers at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee of raising "false hopes" among cancer victims.

Dr. Martin Apple said Oak Ridge reports of a 100 per cent cancer cure rate in animals by a bacterial agent called BCG "are very misleading" and based "on insufficient testing under special circumstances."

Apple is a researcher at the Cancer Research Institute and a recognized authority on the use of drugs to treat cancer.

He said the drug BCG is "nothing new" and has been used in France for years on leukemia patients. "but its effectiveness is yet to be proven."

"Don't get me wrong," Apple said. "There is no doubt this work has merit. But the question of how much merit is totally unanswered."

Syria Paper Hints Israel Mailing Bombs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Syria's official newspaper suggested today that Israel, in search of an excuse to attack Arab guerrillas with global support, is behind the current wave of explosive parcels being mailed to Israeli officials around the world.

The latest such incident was reported today in Canberra, Australia, where post office detectives discovered five letter bombs with Amsterdam postmarks. Three of the letters were addressed to the Israeli Consulate in Sydney and two to the Israeli Embassy in Canberra, a post office spokesman said. None of the parcels exploded.

Reports by Arab newsmen reaching Cairo said four Israeli warplanes flew over the Nabatiyeh region of Lebanon today but were chased away by anti-aircraft fire. They said the Israeli aircraft stayed in the area 30 minutes before retreating. The reports said villagers went to their air raid shelters during the flyover.

"This is absolutely not true," he said.

The Lebanese weekly magazine Al Usbu Al Arabi had suggested that Barratt, who speaks fluent Arabic, might have defected to Syria, carrying with him important documents.

A Tripoli Radio report monitored in Beirut said Libya has asked the Arab League to begin contacts aimed at a united stand against treatment of Arabs residing in West Germany. The travel plans of hundreds of Arabs trying to enter and leave West Germany have been reported cut short by German authorities following the Sept. 5 massacre of 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation in Munich.

But a West German Embassy spokesman in Cairo said security measures in his country apply to all arriving and leaving foreigners, not just Arabs.

Syria's official Al Baath newspaper in Damascus, noting that the Palestinian resistance has not claimed responsibility for the bomb parcel campaign, said the mailing could be a guise by the Israelis to spoil the reputation of the Palestinian resistance and produce an excuse to launch antiguerrilla hostilities.

U.S. Reported Nearing Zero Population Growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Census Bureau survey of the childbearing expectations of young wives showed today the United States may be nearing a point of zero population growth.

The agency said its conclusions were based on interviews with 50,000 wives between the ages of 18 to 24 conducted in June that showed they expected to have an average of 2.3 children during their lifetimes.

The Census Bureau came up with an anticipated birth rate of 2.1 children for each woman, making adjustments for differences noted between expected childbearing and actual births in previous studies.

Agency officials said the 2.1 birth rate eventually would produce a population of fixed size. But they cautioned that the projection was subject to unknown variables and was at best of only limited reliability.

The bureau said that even should a birthrate at the zero population growth level be reached now, it would be well into the next century before the U.S. population reached a fixed size. This is because there is an unusually high proportion of women of childbearing age in the population as a result of the baby boom that followed World War II.

The survey estimated that if a 2.1 children per woman birthrate was reached by American women in the next several years and was maintained thereafter, the American population would level off at about 274 million by the middle of the next century.

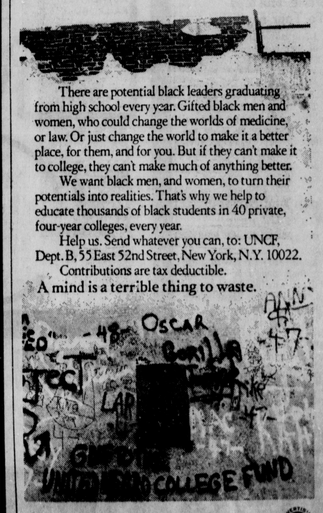
120,800 Gallons Of Gas Spilled

RICHMOND (UPI) —Cleanup operations are about half completed in a 120,800-gallon spill of gasoline at a tank storage farm which resulted when somebody forgot to turn off a series of valves.

The fuel was contained by dikes and employes of Atlantic Richfield put down sumps to gather it in.

Firemen stood guard around the 2,000 square yard area because of fumes and the Coast Guard closed an adjacent shipping channel.

SOME BLACKS THINK ABOUT GOING TO COLLEGE, BUT THAT'S AS FAR AS THEY GET.



There are potential black leaders graduating from high school every year. Gifted black men and women, who could change the worlds of medicine, or law. Or just change the world to make it a better place, for them, and for you. But if they can't make it to college, they can't make much of anything better.

We want black men, and women, to turn their potentials into realities. That's why we help to educate thousands of black students in 40 private, four-year colleges, every year.

WORD-A-DAY

Four Held In Robbery Of Lake Casino

RENO (AP) — Federal authorities have recovered $126,280 of the $178,500 stolen in last week's robbery at Harrah's casino at Lake Tahoe — the largest casino robbery in Nevada history.

The FBI would not say how the money was recovered.

Vern Loetterle, special FBI agent in charge, said yesterday the money was found "in the Lake Tahoe area." He did not detail how the recovery was made and said that the rest of the money had still not been located.

Four men were charged in the case Saturday by federal and Douglas County authorities. Arraigned on federal charges of interstate transportation of stolen property were: Jack A. Cozard, 37, and Donald Leroy Rice, 35, both of Stateline, Nev.; Larry Joseph Swinberg, 36, of South Lake Tahoe, Calif., and Thomas Richard Norman, 36, of Reno.

A U.S. magistrate fixed bail at $75,000 each for Cozad and Swinbeg and $50,000 each for Norman and Rice.

Douglas County Sheriff Dave McCreary said that local charges of armed robbery and conspiracy have been filed against all four men and additional bail was set at $75,000 each on those charges.

Last Tuesday, a man wearing a false beard and a cowboy hat and carrying a gun surprised five unarmed casino employes and took a bag with the money. The man then dashed out of the casino, across the street — and the California state line — to an accomplice who was waiting with a motorcycle.

Thus far, authorities have refused to divulge which two of the suspects actually participated in the theft. In addition, the FBI has not said whether the robbery was an inside job although the Douglas County sheriff's office indicated Friday that it may have been executed by present or former employes of the casino.

Unconfirmed reports say that all four of the men have been casino employes and that two of them worked for the Harrah's club that was robbed.

It has not been determined yet whether the federal or Douglas County charges will take precedence as far as a trial date is concerned.

The four suspects are being held in Washoe County Jail in lieu of bail.

Woman Writer Researches Historical Books On Marin

HAPPIEST WHEN she is writing, author Jean Montgomery of Mill Valley reminisces with a visitor about the research involved in her newest book, "Passage to Drake's Bay", written, she said, "for anyone over 12 years old." She is seated in the cheerful dining alcove where she does much of her work.

By BETTY FROST

This is fortunate, for she is a writer totally dedicated to her work.

"Writing is like being in a different world. You are immersed in a whole set of imaginary characters. It blows your mind," she said. "When a book is finished, I have a lost feeling. I ask myself 'what shall I do?"

Months later, whenshe gets a package from her publisher in the mail, "I claw it open. There it is — my new book." Then she has the finished product in her hands, and realizes the satisfactions of a work accomplished. "Then I get that new baby feeling," Miss Montgomery said.

THIS IS the Mill Valley woman's second book with a Marin County theme, intended for the "over 12 reader." Her first book, "The Wrath of the Coyote", dealt with the story of the Indian chief, Marin. The Coast Miwok Indians of Marin play a prominent part in the "Passage to Drake's Bay," when the hero, Tom, an orphaned cabin boy, leaves Sir Francis Drake's Golden Hind and is befriended by the Indians.

A great deal of research went into the "Passage to Drake's Bay." The writer finds the Bay area rich in source material, and has spent countless hours at the Bancroft Library at the University of California, the historical section of the San Francisco Public Library, Marin County libraries, and perusing private sources of rare documents.

Her books are officially designated for juniors, but the writer's historical accuracy and mature approach makes them appealing to adult readers, too.

"What teen-agers want these days," Miss Montgomery stated, "is for you to 'tell it like it is.' They have been so lied to. There has been so much hypocrisy. You have to start being honest with young people."

She finds the robust Elizabethan age comparable to our own period.

IMPATIENT WITH anything outside of her work, the author says, "Hobbies are a way of killing time. I don't have that approach about what to do." She is interested in archeology, and belongs to the Northwestern California Archeological Society and the Marin Archeological Preserve. She participates in the archeological diggings hoping to learn more about the California Coast Indians whose culture she continually studies.

She also enjoy hiking, but usually it is a walk with a goal. "I hiked all over Drake's Bay time and time again in preparation for the book," she said. Her observations and studies have convinced her that the conclusions of the Drake Navigators Guild are correct and that the Marin harbor so long associated with the English explorer is indeed the location of Drake's local landing. "The essential key is the whitecliffs, which are found nowhere else in Marin," she believes.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., she is a graduate of Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and she did newspaper and magazine work in New York City. In 1955 she came to California for her health. It was then that she discovered Mill Valley and made it her permanent residence.

DURING THE years she was working for magazines both as an editor and contributor, the Mill Valley woman never thought she had the patience or discipline to write books. Now she finds "articles seem impermanent."

Miss Montgomery is beginning the manuscript of the next book, working, as is her custom, in longhand. This one will be about the Russian Colony at Fort Ross in Sonoma County. There will also be Indians again, this time the Pomos of the Northern California Coast.

At her feet as she works is a young hunting dog, Nonny. The dog's name is derived from the lyrics of an Elizabethan madrigal, "Hey nonny no." Nonny is a lively reminder of the tremendous research that went into the preparation of "Passage to Drake's Bay."

The Economically Dependent Woman: Solutions Offered

By BARBARA HOSMER

The factors that keep women in a state of economic dependency in America and some of their solutions were outlined at a high-powered conference Thursday in San Francisco.

"Any woman who becomes rich has done it despite laws and customs," Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Michigan, told the 200 California women gathered to examine "Women in the Economy" at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. "Women are not equal to men economically," she said.

Financial columnist Sylvia Porter agreed. "We could spend the rest of the day with examples," she said.

Mrs. Griffiths listed economic inequities that keep women in a state of dependency, aside from low pay for jobs. She named inability to get credit, social security system discriminations, military benefit discriminations, some community property laws and inadequate tax deductions for child care as factors that affect all women.

"Laws are made by men and for men," she said. "When a man dies he takes the credit cards with him. My staff says that lenders and providers believe that a man five years dead is a better credit risk than a woman."

MARTHA GRIFFITHS
'Women not equal'

LIZ CARPENTER
'Feminism pays off'

SOCIAL SECURITY does not protect the widow, she said. Even though she helped save money and maintain the home, the wife who becomes a widow gets the same amount, if she has two children or 20. $482 is the highest payment a widow can receive, Mrs. Griffiths stated. If she works, the payment is reduced.

"If she even walks out the door to work she loses $800 and has to pay income tax and other things out of her paycheck."

And, she said, a working woman averages only 60 per cent of the pay that working men do.

"If the husband is alive a woman loses her economic rights. And if he walks out, she has no social security."

Married women in some community property states have no say in the management of that property by law, she added. The federal income tax law also helps men. she said.

"The value that men who make the laws place on the work their wives do is nothing." The cost of office help is tax deductible but domestic work is not; the cost of child care is deductible only if both husband and wife are employed and earn jointly less than $27,000, she said. "I believe child care should be wholly deductible."

In the military a female gets no quarters allowance for her family unless her husband is unable to work and dependent on her, and women don't qualify for the same benefits as male military personnel," Mrs. Griffiths said.

SYLVIA PORTER said that she has received many letters from women censuring her "for trying to take away their passive, protected role."

"Protected women are protected only as long as they are the present wife," Mrs. Griffith replied. Virginia Carabillo, vice president of the National Organization for Women, added that the bread and butter issues were what the women's liberation movement has been talking about all along, despite press distortions, and that compliance with the new anti-discrimination laws in employment "is the hard talk." Progress to date has been given only grudgingly in employment for women, she siad, perhaps because it will cost billions.

She also said supporters of the feminism movement have talked about economic issues all along, but that too many prominent women feel compelled to say, "I'm not for women's liberation, but..." and "proceed to tell you all the reasons that they are.

"You can be ladlylike, but major developments of the past few years occurred because some of us got noisy and angry. It's time women stopped disassociating themselves from a phrase as good as women's liberation," she said.

Cost of giving women economic equality on the job, Mrs. Porter said, "would come back double in spending power — as money goes through the economy, it multiplies."

LIZ CARPENTER, former press secretary for Lady Bird Johnson and vice president of Hill and Knowlton, said she was one of the 1 per cent of women who earn more than $15,000 per year in the U.S.

"We are not making progress. Twenty years ago 1.9 million women lived in poverty. Today there are still 1.9 million women in poverty.

"After 200 years the conversation in this country has gotten around to women. Until we got noisy about it no one paid any attention at all. Let Bella bellow and Betty Friedan organize — it's paying off for us all," said Mrs. Carpenter.

"It's a myth that the feminist movement defeminizes — we can be sensuous and think, too... The wise company today is looking to see if it is complying (with affirmative action against sex and race discrimination) but some have to be taught, like AT & T."

The panelists agreed that women need to overcome their

Marin Auto Owners Place In Concours

Marin residents brought home two second place and four third place trophies from the 10th annual Concours d'Elegance held yesterday at Silverado Country Club in Napa.

Eighteen cars from Marin County were entered in the event sponsored annually by the Marin Circle, Florence Crittenton Home and Service of San Francisco.

The second place winners were a 1932 Rolls Royce 20/25 Saloon owned by A. B. Richardson of Forest Knolls and a 1920 Rajo Ford speedster roadster exhibited by Fredric W. Temps of San Rafael.

Richardson's automobile was entered in the Rolls Royce small horsepower class, and Temps' was one of three Ford Model Ts.

In the Ford Model A open class Russell P. Batt of Mill Valley was awarded a third place trophy for his 1931 roadster, and in the Ford Model A closed class a 1930 Tudor owned by Ernest C. Legnito of Fairfax also received a third place trophy.

Merle E. Smith's 1946 Lincoln Continental cabriolet was judged in third place. Smith lives in Mill Valley.

Third place in the Rolls Royce large horsepower class went to Haddon N. Salt of San Rafael, owner of a 1927 Rolls Royce Phantom I dual cowl phaeton.

Among the 1971 first place winning autos, invited back for an exhibit but not to be judged, was the 1934 Rolls Royce Phantom II drop head coupe owned by Robert A. Davies of Belvedere.

Also exhibiting cars from Marin were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker of Novato, a 1918 Buick touring car; Robert J. Hadden of San Rafael, a 1927 Buick 27-55 sport touring; John C. LaBoyteaux of San Anselmo, a 1931 Chevrolet 109 cabriolet; Ernest C. Legnitto of Fairfax, a 1941 Plymouth special de luxe four door sedan; Timothy P. Howley of San Rafael, a 1947 Lincoln continental cabriolet; John A. Sweeney of Sausalito, a 1929 Packard 633 runabout; Kenneth Larkins of Kentfield, a 1931 Packard 826 roadster; George Arents, a 1938 Packard 1608 convertible sedan and a 1938 Packard 1707 convertible Victoria; Alfred Lovi of San Rafael, a 1927 Packard 443 seven passenger sedan; and Paul Marioni of Mill Valley, a 1937 Bentley 4¼ liter saloon.

William R. Charles of Sausalito showed his 1966 Mercedes Benz 250 SE cabriolet in a special contemporary production class. The class, for exhibit only and not judged, was for post World War II cars originally costing more than $10,000.

A 1910 Mitchell touring car won the best of show award.

The car chosen most elegant was a 1934 Packard sports sedan owned by Kenneth Baughn of Concord.

Rapping About The Instant Reducing Wrap

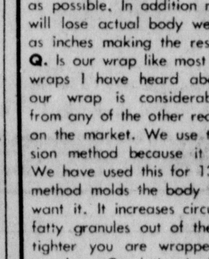
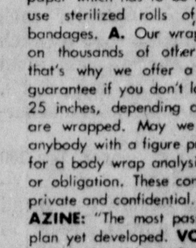
Many questions have been raised concerning the new methods of size and weight reduction now offered in health studios around the country. The following information is designed to help answer some of your questions about our organic mummy wrap, not to make or imply any medical or therapeutic claims.

Q. What is the Ann Marie Body Wrap method? A. Our body wrap is a reducing process allowing a person to lose inches and in many instances, pounds, as it liquifies fat, lightens scars, stretch and age marks, increases the circulation, draws out the poisons and toxins without dehydration and most of all it conditions and shrinks the skin. Q. Is the Organic Mummy Wrap safe for me to use? A. A dermatologist brought this formula from Europe and developed this exclusively for Ann Marie Figure Salons. Any person can use our wrap. We suggest if you have any question about your health or reducing plans, consult your family doctor, before beginning your program of self improvement.



Jean Hicks
Lost 6 inches in first visit, next day another 7¾ inches off in the tummy area.



Nancy Ruud

Q. Does wrapping involve exercise? A. No, our body wrap works independently of exercise. You do nothing except lie back, relax, read a book, or even take a nap while your body wrap treatment works for you. We ask you not to go into any exercise program of any kind while on our program. Q. Is the treatment hot? A. No, heat sometimes triggers your body into gaining weight and makes your skin flabby. With our body wrap we cool the body making your skin young and tight. It feels good too. Q. How fast will we see results? A. You will feel and see results after your first treatment. In just 90 minutes we guarantee you will lose from 5 to 25 inches, depending on where you are wrapped or your money will be refunded. Q. How do I know I am receiving results. A. In many ways: Prior to the wrap we measure tightly and mark each and every person where they are measured. Second, after the wrap you are remeasured on the same mark so the before and after measurements are as accurate as possible. In addition many people will lose actual body weight as well as inches making the results evident. Q. Is our wrap like most of the other wraps I have heard about? A. No our wrap is considerably different from any of the other reducing wraps on the market. We use the compression method because it works best. We have used this for 13 years. This method molds the body the way you want it. It increases circulation, pulls fatty granules out of the tissue. The tighter you are wrapped the more you lose. Our lotion is different. It is organic and completely safe. Our added tightening ingredient LJ5 is also organic which conditions the skin and makes the inch loss more permanent. Q. Do I lose all over? A. Not necessarily, we use the controlled area method. What this means is we wrap you only where you want to lose. You can lose as much as 3 inches or more off midriff and back, without changing the size of the bust. Q. Does this mean the inch loss a person receives from our wrap is a water loss that will return after drinking water? A. We feel that the inch loss a person receives from our wrap is more permanent than dieting or exercise. As with dieting or exercising, the permanency of inch loss depends on a person's day to day habits after the event. Contrary to common belief, a liquid loss of this nature will not return permanently upon the consumption of non-caloric fluids. Drinking water is non-caloric and its ingestion travels the digestive process with the greatest percentage leaving the body through the urinary system. We encourage you to drink as much as eight glasses of water a day.

Q. Do you use any drugs or medications. A. Absolutely not! Q. How long does it last? A. Nothing lasts forever but most of our ladies are happy for one year. Q. Can the face be wrapped? A. Yes, most of our ladies do take facials. It is not only very restful but it stops the aging process, tightens the neck, eye and chin tissue as it lightens scar and age marks. Q. Do you keep records in your salons? A. At all Ann Marie Figure Salons, measurements before and after the process are recorded and the results totaled on a measurement chart. Statistical material gathered from these charts in our Santa Rosa salon, which we routinely keep, for the month of February, 1972, showed an average inch loss of 8.67 inches per application for patrons wrapped that month. This was based on approximately 211 wraps applied. If you would like to confirm the results for yourself, you're welcome to stop by and review our results charts at any time. Q. Is the wrap painful? A. No. Unlike salons who use rough paper which has to be hosed off, we use sterilized rolls of soft cotton bandages. A. Our wrap has worked on thousands of other people and that's why we offer a money back guarantee if you don't lose from 5 to 25 inches, depending on where you are wrapped. May we suggest that anybody with a figure problem call us for a body wrap analysis without cost or obligation. These consultations are private and confidential. TIME MAGAZINE: "The most passive reduction plan yet developed. VOGUE: "... works on stubborn fat ... lost 5 inches of derrier ..." PAGEANT: "Jane Fonda is reported to have successfully remodeled her legs using it ... Candy Bergen is supposed to have firmed up her entire body."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Let 'Charming Friends' Do You Out Of Dirty Old Money

DEAR HELEN:

An old friend of ours introduced us to his girl friend who seemed perfectly charming. When they broke up she needed a temporary place to stay so I took her in for " a couple of days" which extended to three weeks!

She finally found another roommate, but she left me with a $50 long-distance telephone bill. She also borrowed $40 from me, and three dresses she hasn't returned. I learned today she hit my fiance up for a loan too. In all, she owes us about $150. It's been four months.

She has a job and doesn't pay rent or food (her new "roommate" is a man), so she could afford to pay us back. But when I ask her, nicely, she makes me feel cheap, as if all I think of is money. The other day she said the secret of success in her new affair is that they never hassle over finances: "It's too grubby." (Her new b.f. thinks she's wonderful, doesn't know about her freeloading past.)

Without feeling grubby, how do we get our money back? — NEEDS IT

DEAR N.I.:

Without ACTING "grubby" you may never get your money back. A moocher's first line of defense is "Nice people don't discuss dirty old money," so knock off the niceness and tell this gal the next bill you present will be to her boyfriend. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a straight meat and potatoes man. He doesn't like change. If I try different meals, even another kind of meat rather than beef steak or roast, anguished screams arise.

Yet the other day he informed me that "variety is the spice of Wife" and I should read up on those sex manuals because the same old thing gets dull.

I don't consider myself "dull" (he doesn't either, really!). We get along great. But Helen, this made me wonder: How come a man who wants the same old dinner every night in the year, isn'tn't happy with the "same" old wife ditto? — NOT AN ACROBAT

DEAR NOT:

Maybe your husband could counter with this question (in the spirit of good clean banter, naturally): How come a wife who loves to cook "different," rearranges furniture at the drop of a sofa, and probably nags her man into buying new suits just when the old ones are getting comfortable . . . leaves her change-ability at the bedroom door? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please, no hedging. Are you for N.O.W. or H.O.W.? The first, of course, is the women's liberation organization. The second is anti-lib: "Happiness of Womanhood." It emphasizes that women are happiest doing female things and they should leave the Man's World to the men.

What's your stand? — WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WTK:

I'm a NOW type (but not a member) who believes the "Happiness of Women" is the freedom to choose whatever life they prefer, be it pure homemaking, total dedication to career, or a workable mixture.

In its push for equal pay, equal recognition as PERSONS (not merely females), the National Organization for Women makes reasonable demands. The rights it asks will help those who need them, and they won't harm those who feel they don't.

Liberation means simply: Women no longer need be stereotyped. What's so frightening about that? — H.

P.S. In other word, "Live and let lib!"

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write Helen Bottel care of the Independent-Journal.

Fighting Crime —A Woman's Job

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) —Law enforcement agencies— from the FBI to local police— are finding out something Mrs. Anne Michalek learned the hard way seven years ago.

The something? When it comes to fighting crime, woman can do as good a job as men.

The FBI now is training women agents and New York and other cities are assigning policewomen to regular street patrols on a routine basis.

Mrs. Michalek, 40, is the lone woman among 107 branch managers of Burns International Security Services Inc. She heads the 175-man Burns force in western Massachusetts. Experienced in all phases of security, she's handled night watchman tours, walked the rounds in factories, and run the eight-hour shift in the patrol car.

She also has performed undercover and investigative tasks.

"My men know I won't ask them to do anything I can't or will not do myself," she says.

Mrs. Michalek got into security by starting her own company in 1965. It happened when the detective agency for which she worked in a sales capacity went out of business.

She was divorced, had two children to support and opted for a business of her own as one road to economicsecurity.

After building her company she sold out to Burns last year, but stayed on as a manager.

In pursuit of success, Mrs. Michalek said there were some perilous moments. Once a woman came at her with a knife. Several times she took part in high speed chases and once posed as a college student when there was a molester on campus.

Her employer now has 50 uniformed women guards performing duties similar to those assigned the males. Women also are in the special services corps, assigned primarily to crowd control duties at public events, such as golf and tennis tournaments, expositions and fairs.

Solutions Offered For The 'Dependent' Woman

Untapped resources of skills that women possess are not being used because of women's lack of confidence and because women must be educated to the opportunities opening up to them, the panel agreed. Myrlie Evers suggested that employment symposiums be taken to the neighborhood level. She added that minority women have always had to support their families and "now we're running into conflicts with our own men."

"We have to educate our black men that it makes no difference which one of us moves ahead, as long as one of us moves," Mrs. Evers said.

Some of the directions for opening up the opportunities to woman the panelists named were changing image of women in textbooks, changing work hours for flexibility to enable mothers of small children to work part-time or three days a week, to change inequitable laws and enforce those that now exist, and to band together to continue to work on the inequities for women in America.

Earlier Herbert Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, told the delegates that the President has asked him to set up an advisory committee on the economic role of women to ensure that economic interests of women would be considered in the formation of U.S. economic policy. But, he said later, industry and women themselves have to make most of the change.

The Bank of America, one of the sponsors of the conference, announced that it was working to issue credit cards in the name of the wife as well as the husband, a demand of women's liberation groups.

Other sponsors were Ladies Home Journal Magazine and BankAmericard.

She has been employed with the Zeocon Corp. as a laboratory technician in Palo Alto. She is the sister of David A. Lang of San Francisco and Paul A. Lang of Las Vegas.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Staiger of Mill Valley are Stevens parents. The bridegroom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and U.C. at Davis. He is a graduate student in librarianship at the University of California at Berkeley.

The couple plan to live in Berkeley.

Short-Short Hair

The short-short hair coming up for fall (for those who can wear it) is sleek and sophisticated. Endorsed by pace-setting hairdressers it is cut to be brushed forward on the cheeks or back behind the ears. At the neckline, it is tapered to brush forward and flat, curling forward ever so slightly at bottom tip of the ears.

Old Law Book Brings Profit

COVINGTON, Ky. — If you think there isn't a profit in dusty old law books, hear about the luck of Janet Slayback, 16.

She was sorting a box of surplus law books donated to a library when an envelope fell out of one. It contained $531 in currency. The name of the attorney who had donated the books was on the box. Janet hurried to his office. John Brooking was so grateful he gave Janet half of the forgotten funds.

"Wow! $266.50," exclaimed Janet. "I'll save it to buy my trousseau." She's getting married Aug. 31, 1973.

On 'Walking Street' Raspberryfizz Is Hit With Copenhagen Children

By CATHELL TOSCAN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

COPENHAGEN — Stroget, Copenhagen's "walking street" is a parade ground and a natural meeting place for the new and unusual. The several blocks that form it wind through the Danish capital and are open only to pedestrian traffic.

The street is lined with bakeries, boutiques, and restaurents of every size and shape. A stroll down Stroget is likely to be full of surprises.

Its magic seems reflected in a tall, costumed young man who, with his patchwork upholstered baby carriage, makes a daily tour of the walking street. Tourists tend to write him off as eccentric, but they always take time to stop and stare in fascination.

DANES WOULD recognize the man as Sigvaldi.

Sigvaldi's baby carriage is no ordinary one. For several years it has provided the transportation for a magazine called Hindbaerbrus og Kravtaer (Raspberryfizz and Scribbles), the most original children's magazine in Denmark.

Sigvaldi is a people magnet with a special interest in little people. His free-flowing ideas about life conflicted with studies in French and mathematics, so he took time out for travel and work as a translator. More than three years ago he got the idea for a magazine that would encourage children to share their ideas, drawings, and stories with others.

The idea was presented to established publishing companies, but none would accept a magazine written and illustrated by children. Sigvaldi's determination overcame his inexperience, and he decided to publish the magazine himself.

CONTACT WAS made and children, their teachers, and parents sent poems, short stories, and drawings from all over Denmark. Even the title was suggested by the children.

With the magazine's originator as editor, spelling errors and grammatical mistakes remain to add a special flavor to the writing. The direct, matter-of-fact approach is characteristic.

Perhaps the beauty and simplicty of Raspberryfizz is captured by an essay written by a fifth-grade boy, Hans Christian, who compared his own way of life with that of his ancestors:

In Viking times they didn't have speed boats, they had sail boats that you started yourself by rowing. And they didn't have cars either. Instead of a car they had a horse. Their house was made out of straw and wood and hide. Our house is made of stone, if it isn't a summer house, and there are windows and a chimney. In the old Viking house there are just some holes which they decided are chimney and window. The chimney should preferably be in the roof. The well with the clear water is a round hole with water in it which you can hoist a bucket with a rope. Now the water is polluted and tastes disgusting and so it must be pumped. In the old days you could just play. A toy was a bow and arrow. Now there are new toys, more effective, that is a rifle with bullets . . . In the old days when they wanted to read a book they couldn't go to the library. A man had to sit and carve out of stone in his spare time. They don't do that anymore they wouldn't hear of it. He sits and reads and listens to the radio and watches television . . . Now you know about it.

IMAGINATIVE LOGIC is responsible for many of the stories. Pernille, a 9-year-old girl, used a letter to explain a tricky situation. "Dear dad and mom and grandma and freddy and lise. If I was a prince or a sheik or a millionaire I would send a sports car to you, but I turned out to be a girl."

Each addition includes illustrations on topics from "Little Red Riding Hood on roller skates just after getting a spanking" to spiders and crocodiles. Children as young as 3 send in drawings.

Teachers are impressed and sometimes use the magazine to read aloud or inspire their own students. Children actively relate to the stories and anxiously make up their own.

AS RASPBERRYFIZZ and Scribbles became popular, Sigvaldi had to make a decision about distribution. Since local publication had been successful, he decided to try local distribution. Stroget was the obvious place, and when he stumbled on an old baby carriage in his attic, it seemed to be natural transportation for a young, growing magazine.

Children are drawn by the red-haired man's warm smile and brightly patched carriage. Groups of them often meet Sigvaldi on Stroget and talk and joke with him. He is usually ready with a game, a puppet, or a musical instrument to delight his audience.

In addition to a large number of individual sales on the walking street each day, Sigvaldi also mails copies of the magazine to 700 subscribers in Scandinavia, the Faroe Islands, Greenland, and England. As one of these subscribers has said, "Without Raspberryfizz and Scribbles, life is a skinned knee."

American Girl

Among new hairstyles for fall and winter is one called The American Girl. It is long hair—to the shoulder and longer. What's old about this: a center part. What's new about it is treatment with barettes. The barettes, worn low or high, give one ail kinds of possibilities of draping one's face with hair. When the barettes are worn behing the ears, for example, the hair is drawn back and shows most of the face. When they are worn high up toward the part, the hair falls, curtain-fashion, to show more hair than face.

Consumer Center Booklets Tell All

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Almost everything you want to know about almost anything, you need not be afraid to ask. In fact, the United States Government invites you to do so.

The Consumer Product Information Center has a storehouse of consumer information packaged in attractive and informative booklets.

Most of these publications look like mini-magazines, with glossy covers, color illustrations, easy-to-read type, with text simply and understandably written. They range in subject from home buying to home painting, how to choose a vacuum cleaner, an air conditioner, a car battery, and many other consumer products.

Many of these booklets are based on information gleaned by the government in its own purchasing program. They sell for less than a dollar, and some are free.

"Vacuum Cleaners" — the government buys them by the thousands. The benefit of this experience is in a 15-page booklet by that name. It is must reading for one who is about to set forth on a shopping expedition for "the housewives' best friend." Don't miss page 14 on "Questions to Ask Before Buying." Price, 40 cents. Order from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

WHETHER YOU live in a house or an apartment, you probably have a step-ladder. So, there is a consumer publication called "Ladders."

There are two ways to climb a ladder — the right one and the wrong one. You probably know right from wrong, but a refresher course won't do any harm. Also, how do you test the stability of a ladder before you buy it? See Page 8, to read about it — for 45 cents. Order from Consumer Product Information, address above.

A recent booklet, and a timely one, tells how to shop for a house — how to make the best selection, how to shop for mortgage money, and how to be happy though slightly broke. It is a 38-page booklet called "Wise Home Buying," and it's free. You can obtain a copy by writing to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D.C., 20410. Or pick one up at a HUB field office in San Francisco.

Old house or new, there's always painting to do. It's a subject the government knows a lot about, from experience. "Paint and Painting" gives you the benefit of that experience as it applies to the nonprofessional painter.

IT TELLS WHAT paint to use where, color dos and don'ts, and how to do a good paint job at a minimum expense. This 24-page booklet sells for 60 cents and may be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

What do you know about your car battery, other than it's there? Do you know when it doesn't pay to have an old battery serviced or recharged? What type and quality battery should you buy? Do you know the practical "trade offs" of price vs. power rating? What protection should a warranty provide?

If you're not sure, "Automobile Batteries, Their Selection and Care" is the booklet for you. It may save you many times the 40 cents you will pay for it. Order from Consumer Product Information.

THE LIBRARY of Congress compiled this one. "Children's Books of 1971." It contains a brief description of 200 children's books published in 1971, price 15 cents. It might help in making selections for Christmas. Available from Consumer Product Information.

Another booklet for parents and about children describes how to select car seats for youngsters.

"What to Buy in Child Restraint Systems," is the name of it. It tells what to look for and what to avoid when purchasing car seats, infant carriers, car beds, and child harness systems. Price, 20 cents from Consumer Product Information.

A booklet just off the press is one that may well save you money and trouble. It is an expose of fake contests, debt consolidation schemes, and other gimmicks designed to defraud the public.

CHARITIES MAY send out such merchandise, but you are under no obligation to make a contribution in order to keep it.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Check the candles on this "happy birthday" listing:

1. PHIL RIZZUTO, born in Brooklyn, N.Y., is 54 today. For a youngster who wanted to play pro ball, the odds were against him. Everybody said he was too small (5 feet, 6 inches; 150 pounds). But Phil showed such skill as an infielder he became one of the greatest shortstops the N.Y. Yankees ever had. Now retired, can you guess whether Rizzuto is running his own restaurant, broadcasting sporting events, or just loafing in Florida?

2. GLENN GOULD, [illegible] today, is a world famous [illegible] cert pianist. He began playing the piano at age 3, finished his music conservatory studies at 14, and was a concert artist at 15. Guess which country he calls home — Canada, the U.S., or England?

3. DIMITRI SHOSTAKOVICH celebrates his 66th birthday today. This Russian was born in Leningrad, took music lessons from his mother, and became one of the world's great classical composers. Guess which of his many symphonies the musical experts consider his greatest — The First, Third, or Fifth?

4. GUESS THE NAME of this celebrated American writer? He was born on Sept. 25, 1897, grew up in New Albany, Miss., and went looking for adventure with the British Royal Air Force in World War I. Educated at Oxford and the University of Mississippi, he was praised for his early novels, "The Sound and the Fury" a[illegible] "Sanctuary," winning the 1949 Nobel Prize for Literature: William Faulkner, Thomas Wolfe, or Robert Penn Warren?

ANSWERS

WINNING BRIDGE

Less Philosophy, More Logic Gets You More Games, Rubbers

"The way to make three no trump is to go after the long suit," a philosophical friend of mine declared. "If the hand just can't be made, as in this case, you must take it stoically." I was not convinced. "Less philosophy and more logic," I demurred, "would get you more games and rubbers."

TRICK REFUSED

My friend refused the first spade trick, properly enough, and won the second trick. He went after the long suit by finessing the jack of cl b: around to the king. A spade came back to the ace.

Now my philosophical friend took the rest of the clubs. He could count on making four clubs, two spades and two diamonds, for a total of eight tricks. When he led a heart, in the attempt to develop a ninth trick, West took the ace of hearts and defeated the contract with the rest of the spades.

MUST START HEARTS

The way to make this hand is to start with the hearts instead of the long clubs. After winning the second trick with the king of spades, South must lead a heart.

If West takes the ace of hearts and returns a spade to the ace, South can then take the club finesse in safety. East will get the king of clubs, of course, but he will then be out of spades. (If East still had a spade, the suit would break evenly and would give the defenders only two tricks.)

If West refuses the first heart, South can switch to clubs to be sure of nine tricks. He needs only one heart for his contract.

GIVE LEAD EARLY

The important point is to begin by knocking out the sure entry of the dangerous opponent. When you must give up the lead more than once, give it up early to the opponent who has a long suit.

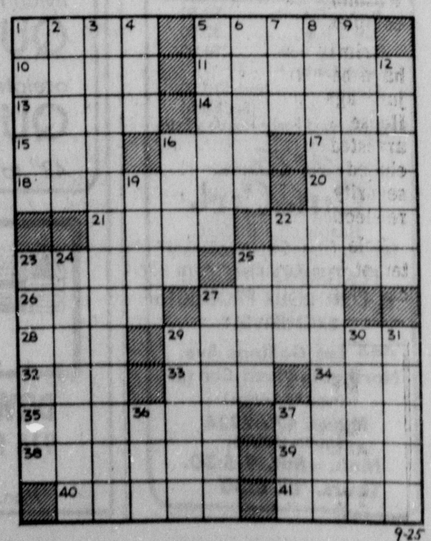
Saturday's Answer



Sea Lions Hear With Whiskers

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Sea lions use their whiskers as highly sensitive sonar systems and for hearing, according to a biologist from the Stanford Research Institute.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, 75, reported the results of years of research and experimentation with sea lions at the Biological Sonar Laboratory and Marine Mammal Study Center in Fermont. Poulter founded the center in 1962.

He determined that the antenna-like whiskers of sea lions are 10,000 times more sensitive to sound than their ears.

MUSIC REVIEW

Unexpected Variety In Bach Choir Concert

By WILLIAM CLARK

Two Bach cantatas in an afternoon may seem like too much of a good thing, but such was not the case Saturday at Old St. Hilary's Museum, Tiburon, in the final concert of the Landmarks Society series.

Edwin Flath, conducting the Peninsula and Berkeley Bach Choir, chose "Ich hatte viel bekummernis," Cantata No. 21, and "O Esiges Feuer," Cantata No. 34, two widely contrasting works that made an unexpectedly varied program.

The well-trained chorus of 26 voices consistently achieved a clear, balanced sound, even in the most intricate polyphony, under Mr. Flath's knowledgeable and sensitive direction.

The delightful soprano aria of the first cantata, a trio with oboe and continuo, was sung with elegance and precision by Nora Laurence, with John O'Meara on the oboe. David Hammer, in the more difficult tenor aria with its high tessitura and rapid chromatic passages, seemed sometimes on the brink of losing control, and was not helped by the sloppy attacks and slippery intonation of the accompanying string quartet. He did a good job in a vocal line perhaps more suitable for a counter-tenor.

The opening chorus of the second cantata was high baroque at its most ornate. The dizzying complexity of polyphonic devices was overlaid with the brilliance of two D trumpets, excellently played by Dana Kemp and Jon Aymony. The fully realized harpsichord part seemed to sprinkle this rousing, spirited movement with gold dust and glitter. The lovely alto aria which follows was flowing and joyous as sung by Betsy Koester.

The group is jointly sponsored by the Adult Education Program of Mountain View-Los Altos and All Souls Episcopal Church in Berkeley and, according to director Flath, would like to expand to Marin. Those interested in singing lots of Bach may contact Frank Evans at the Community Church in Tiburon.

Shriver Goes After Ethnic Vote

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Vice Presidential candidate Sargent Shriver flew here from Arizona Sunday night to campaign for the traditionally Democratic ethnic and labor vote.

Shaking off the effects of a severe cold, Shriver danced an Italian "Tarantella" at an ethnic street fair and met with local Jewish leaders in a closed-door session.

Shriver planned to address labor leaders today at a breakfast meeting.

Perspiring from the rigorous Italian folk dance, Shriver told reporters he could not guarantee all-out labor support for the McGovern-Shriver ticket, but predicted United Steelworkers president "I.W. Abel is going to vote for us."

Newsmen were barred from his meeting with Jewish leaders, but Meyer Berger, who arranged the session, said Shriver would repudiate reports that Jewish liberals were deserting the Democrats in favor of President Nixon because of the Israeli issue.

At the street fair, Shriver told a responsive crowd of 350 persons the belief that Pittsburgh was built by the rich Carnegie and Mellon families was a fallacy.

"I'll tell you who built Pittsburgh," he said to the group of mixed nationalities. "You people built Pittsburgh and will continue to do so."

Guitar Classes In Corte Madera

Demos Warned By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., believes the Democratic party will not win elections if it gives the appearance of being a special interest party, representing only college campuses, militant youths and racial minorities.

"...If we get the image of being a party that has gone to extremes — getting ourselves identified with what I call the esoteric issues—if your image is one of extremism as people see it, than we can't win," Humphrey said Sunday.

He made his remarks in an interview published in U.S. News & World Report.

Construction Site Tools Are Stolen

The theft took place Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Pat Starts To Boast: I've Got The Best Guy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pat Nixon says she is going to start boasting about her husband "because I've got the best guy in the world and I love him dearly".

She made the remark over the weekend on the plane that carried her back to Washington at the end of a week-long, cross-country campaign trip.

Mrs. Nixon was elated with her reception and appeared amazed when a reporter asked her if she believed President Nixon was going to defeat Democrat George S. McGovern.

"Oh, listen, kiddo, are you kidding?" she replied. "I didn't see any protesters and young college students come out...there's a number of young people who are enthusiastic."

Mrs. Nixon had never spoken more personally or glowingly about her husband or their relationship.

"I have news for you," she said, "you can't name any field in which we're not better off. The people know this. They're not dumb. They're upbeat. They're not pessimistic. I think this is great."

She added, "Look back four years ago...the campus disorders, the burning of the cities. There's been lots of change. We've never had more change in such short a time...under this great President. I've got to love him. He's great."

When reminded that there still was a Vietnam war after nearly four years of the Nixon administration, she said: "No one was killed last week."

Someone then said that the Pentagon casualty report last week referred only to no Americans killed but that the Vietnamese were still dying. Unperturbed she replied, "People do want a cessation to this war but they don't want to lose their freedom."

Mrs. Nixon said she had "never once boasted about my husband or my family" but "lately I've decided I'm going to have to."

She disclosed that she was a Democrat once "because my parents were". She said she voted for Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt once but switched to the Republicans in 1938.

McGovern Labels Republicans The Servants Of Big Business

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—Campaigning through the cattle, corn and wheat country that spawned American populism, Sen. George S. McGovern pictured the Nixon administration today as the servant of big business "sharks" and "hogs" who have victimized farmers and consumers alike.

Speaking at the Western States Water and Power conference here and a fund-raising dinner in Sioux Falls, S.D., Sunday night, the Democratic Presidential candidate lashed out at Republican favoritism for special interests "in callous disregard for the people."

The McGovern campaign, after a week spent prospecting for votes in the populous Eastern and mid-western industrial states, swung through the northern tier of farm states en route to the richest electoral prize of them all—California.

He was to speak next in Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., and then to turn south to San Francisco and Los Angeles before returning east in midweek.

But he took full advantage of stops in country where the "sons of the wild jackass"—the populace once fought the railroad and the banks—to paint Nixon and his lieutenants as the chore boys of privileged wealth.

"You have to go back to the times of Warren G. Harding to find an administration so beholden to and dominated by big business as the one we have today," McGovern said in his speech prepared for Billings, where he arrived Sunday night in sub-freezing weather with snow flurries in the air.

The administration, he said, "has stopped public power development in its tracks, handed one preferment after another to the oil and coal and power giants, allowed pollution to run wild, encouraged monoply and ignored the consumer."

And, charging the administration has helped big grain exporters make excess profits in wheat sales to Russia, he said "now these grain speculators want to crawl through a tax loophole that would exempt 50 per cent of their windfall profits from any tax at all."

"These fellows aren't just sharks, they're hogs."

Watergate 'Whitewash' Is Charged By O'Brien

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic campaign chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole agree the break-in at Democratic headquarters has failed to excite public interest.

But O'Brien Sunday accused the Justice Department of trying to "whitewash" the incident June 17 in which five men were caught with electronic gear and photographic equipment in the offices of the Democratic National Committee in Washington's Watergate office complex.

Criminal indictments since have been returned by a grand jury against two former White House aides and the five men arrested at the scene, who included the salaried chief of security of President Nixon's re-election committee.

Dole said he believed an attempt by Democrats to make a campaign issue out of the incident "hasn't had much impact". O'Brien, who was Democratic national chairman at the time of the break-in and now is chairman of Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign, agreed.

"I am inclined to agree with you that it has not ignited a cry of outrage in the country, and I think there is a reason for that," O'Brien said. "I think the American people have assumed that perhaps this is a type of activity that political parties and politicians traditionally engage in, and it was a matter of being caught in this instance. This is extremely unfortunate."

Dole and O'Brien were interviewed on ABC's Issues and Asnwers.

O'Brien said he believed the Justice Department "has done all it could to keep a cover on this, to slow the process, the judicial process.

SO YOU WANT TO TOW A TRAILER!

Trailers can be useful, but only if several safety rules are kept in mind.

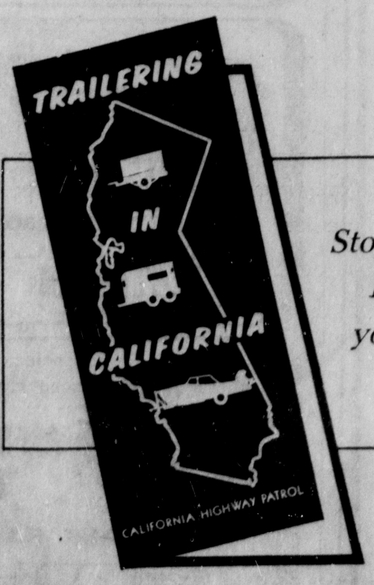
The maximum speed limit for towing trailers is 55 mph, so no speeding.

You must drive in the right-hand lane except when passing, preparing to make a turn, entering or leaving a highway, or when you must change lanes to continue your intended route.

Whenever the trailer is impeding the progress of five or more vehicles, pull off a marked turnout or at areas wide enough to let them pass by.

After the trailer is hooked up, if the driver's rear view is obscured, a rear view mirror should be attached on each side of the towing vehicle. And the alignment of headlights should be checked after it's hooked up and the necessary adjustments made.

Just a little cautiousness and towing a trailer can be fun.



Stop by your local California Highway Patrol Office for your free copy of "Trailing in California" Guide.

LONELY SHIP AT STINSON

A tiny toy galleon listed in the wet sand at Stinson Beach yesterday, virtually alone on the state park beach which was closed because of a water shortage. A few hardy souls, undaunted by the barred parking lots, enjoyed the late summer day on the beach, which was to reopen today. Stinson Beach's antiquated water system was unable to cope with a combination of dry weather, and reported squandering of water during the weekend, but the town's water tank was up to a normal level today.

Bagley Says Last Term Coming Up

Marin and Southern Sonoma will get a new state assemblyman, the longtime incumbent promised today.

In 1974, that is, according to Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. "This will be my last term in the state Assembly; I will not run again in 1974," he declared.

His statement, prepared for a noon speech before the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at the Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur, assumed his defeat of Democratic challenger Harry J. Moore of Novato.

Bagley's declaration confirmed private statements that he intends to leave the Legislature by 1974. He first was elected in 1960.

Bagley is considered a possible candidate for state controller in 1974.

The assemblyman will debate Los Angeles County Assessor Philip E. Watson on Proposition 14 at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on KQED, Channel 9.

Loan Company Settles With Novato Couple

A Novato couple which went to court to force settlement of a loan dispute with American Plan Investment Corp. has agreed to an out-of-court settlement.

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Bodewin of 1549 Hill Road and the San Francisco based corporation agreed that the loan would be reinstated and the couple would keep their home if they pay the corporation $666.

The couple sued in Marin Superior Court Aug. 11 noting they borrowed $4,400 in June 1971 and had tried to make payments, but the loan company refused them and threatened to foreclose on their home.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson temporarily barred the sale, but later withdrew the order.

The settlement cleared only one of three challenges by Marin residents to the lending practices of the giant lending company.

In May, Aileen Pick, a 77-year-old widow from Fairfax, filed suit in Marin Superior Court saying the company failed to inform her properly about the terms of the loan and was about to oreclose on her home as a result of her failure to meet the terms. She asked more than $300,000 in damages and the right to keep her home.

Last month in San Francisco, an 81-year-old Sausalito woman filed a similar suit asking $10.3 million in damages. Belle G. Shaw of 4 Third Street claimed she originally borrowed $999 in May 1970, but because of refinancing the loan escalated to $24,000.

Both women claimed in their suits to be naive about financial matters and said the company took advantage of that.

Chavez Talk On Prop. 22 Set Sunday

Farm labor leader Caesar Chavez will speak at a fund-raising cocktail party to oppose Proposition 22 on Sunday at the Belvedere home of Leonard M. Sperry.

Shuttles to the party, which will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., will be provided from the parking lot at St. Stephen's Parish, 3 Bay View Avenue.

Also speaking will be Father Eugene J. Boyle, director for justice and peace of the National Federation of Priests' Councils, Chicago.

The proposition, on the November ballot, would ban secondary food boycotts, require secret ballot union representation elections, establish an Agricultural Labor Relations Board and set a mandatory cooling off period for harvest time strikes.

Chavez, director of the United Farm Workers Union, opposes it and says it would destroy his union.

Police Can't Stop The Motorcyclists

Irate East Corte Madera residents have been bombarding town police with protests about motorcycles roaring up and down the Madera del Presidio development site.

Since the site next to Highway 101 above the Koch luggage plant was graded it's become a favorite for trailbike enthusiasts, with more than 50 riders using it regularly.

But Corte Madera police chief David L. McIntosh said today that police are powerless to halt the motorcycling until they get confirmation from the site's owners.

"That land is private property," explained Chief McIntosh, "and we must have something from the owner in writing stating that he doesn't want the motorcyclists up there. And so far we haven't been able to obtain that statement from Cal West Properties."

Chief McIntosh described the graded site for a high density townhouse development as "a great place for motorbikes, they've even cut a road back into Paradise Drive so it's very easy to get in and out."

He said police have been besieged with complaints about the noise of the bikes, and are endeavoring to secure "something in writing" from Cal West Properties.

Hearing On Use Of Treated Wastewater Slated Tonight

A $5.3 billion project that could see vast areas in West Marin and Sonoma preserved for lands to receive treated sewage wastewater will be heard at 7:30 p.m. today in the board of supervisors' chambers in the Marin Civic Center.

The hearing will be held by the Army Corps of Engineers, State Water Resources Control Board and federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The largest water reclamation project in the world, if undertaken, it would preserve some 255,000 acres as open land to be purchased with part of that money. The land would absorb the region's projected wastewater flow of 1.5 billion gallons a day by the year 2000.

That acreage is almost 400 square miles, the equivalent of about 80 per cent of Marin's total land area. Other lands throughout the 12 Bay Area and Delta counties also were earmarked for possible use in the reuse system.

The corps, which drafted the proposal, reported in detail by the Independent-Journal on Aug. 23, asked that facts and arguments be submitted in writing before Oct. 31 to its office at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Second Opera Preview Slated For Thursday

Dr. Jack Sacher, educational consultant to the Metropolitan Opera Guild, will present the second in a series of San Francisco Opera previews sponsored by Marin Opera Action Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

He will discuss "How to listen to Wagner's 'Ring.' "

Sacher is an author, music editor and associate professor of music at Montclair College in New Jersey. He plans to use audio-visual aids to explain the complicated relationships of the four operas.

Mrs. John Alexander is Marin Action chairman. Ticket information may be obtained from Carlo S. Fowler of Kentfield. Refreshments will be served, and records, libretti and tickets are available at the preview.

The Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael submitted the lowest of six bids for a contract to build a turn-off lane and bus stop on Tiburon Boulevard, 300 feet south of Stewart Drive.

The $15,957.50 contract was awarded Aug. 23 in Sacramento.

Commission To Consider Plans For 'Pinto Ridge'

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider plans for "Pinto Ridge", a 182-acre development of townhouses and single-family residences at its meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

It will also consider plans for a mobile home park off Smith Ranch Road, a facility for retarded children under the auspices of the Western Institute of Human Resources, a private tennis club at Marin Yacht Club and a sauna and massage parlor at 900 Fifth Avenue.

Five Are Injured In Total Wreckage

Five people were taken by ambulance to Marin General Hospital Saturday night after two cars were totally wrecked in a collision near the Redwood Pigh School west parking lot exit.

Larkspur police said a Dodge Dart driven by Newton Jeffrey Wise, 18, of 558 Tenaya Drive, Tiburon, collided with a Lincoln Continental driven by Stanley Gordon Walker, 39, of 123 King Street, Larkspur.

According to police, witnesses stated Wise's car failed to stop at the stop sign on Doherty Drive and Riviera Circle. He was later arrested and booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving.

Walker, and his three passengers, his wife, Margie, and Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Ferrari of 115 Baltimore Avenue, Corte Madera, and a passenger in Wise's car, Valerie Leona Gilbert of 334 Riviera Circle, Larkspur, were all taken to Marin General Hospital with injuries.

Mrs. Walker, 37, was admitted with a fractured pelvis, broken shoulderblade and cut forehead. She was in satisfactory condition today. Miss Gilbert was in fair condition with a compound vertebra fracture and cut right hand. The others were treated and released, the hospital said.

Highway Pattern Announced

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the State Division of Highways.

Reforestation Bill Signed By Nixon

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has signed into law a bill by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to expand reforestation throughout the nation.

The bill authorizes $70 million a year to expand the tree-growing program. It links the program with fish and wildlife enhancement, development of recreational facilities and preservation of esthetic values, Clausen reported.

Galbraith Comments On China Economy

PARIS (UPI) — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith, on his way home after visiting China, said Sunday the Chinese economy is strong but probably will not become important in the world market very soon.

He said one factor responsible for the strong economy is the "disciplined diligence" among Chinese workers, which leads to increased production. "It seems that they like to work," he said.

Thieves Cut Wall To Get $160 Haul

Burglars broke into a barbershop Saturday night, cut through a sheetrock wall into the Town and Country Pharmacy and stole, $610 from the pharmacy's safe, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported today.

The burglar at the shopping center at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive in Strawberry was similar to two recent burglaries in Mill Valley and Marinwood, said the sheriff's department.

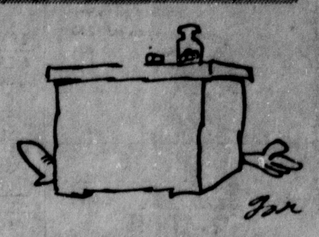
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Widow Wins Indemnity



Tom had a life insurance policy for $10,000. The policy was to pay his widow double that if his death was from "accidental bodily injury."

Tom was unhappy in his job and took illegal "bennies" to prop up his personality. He took a few too many and died from an overdose. His widow got the $10,000. However, the insurance company wouldn't pay the double indemnity. "His death wasn't accidental," they said. "Anyone who takes illegal drugs runs the risk of an overdose."

The widow sued for the additional $10,000. The word "accidental" should be given its ordinary understanding and common usage, her lawyer told the court. "The overdose was unexpected, sudden and undesigned. Tom just took too many or got a batch of pills more potent than he was used to." The court agreed and ordered the insurance company to pay the widow.

In another case, Gene took some illegal narcotics while in his car. The dose wasn't fatal. But it did cause him to pass out in his car. In the central valley heat, the temperature inside his car reached 148 degrees. There wasn't enough oxygen in the car and Gene died. His widow claimed double indemnity. She said the death was from accidental means. The court agreed that taking the drugs in the car was not calculated to produce death. The result was accidental. The widow got the award.

Some policies make it a point to say they won't pay double indemnity when death arises from certain illegal acts. Using or possessing drugs may be a felony. Some auto insurance companies don't cover the driver if he is injured while committing a felony.

San Jose's 'Voucher' School Plan Starts

SAN JOSE (AP) — Children in six schools here have begun fall classes under a unique "voucher" system that lets them, like college students, pick the school and study programs they want.

Each uses a voucher which represents the estimated cost of educating a student for one year to "pay" for any of 22 specially designed education programs. That amount of money then is allocated to his school.

Children from poor families — about half the 3,800 junior high and elementary youngsters involved — get extra voucher money allowing them to "buy" more from the 22 programs to augment their education.

The Alum Rock Union School District is using a $1.8 million Office of Economic Opportunity grant to finance a broad range of new classes and teaching methods such as trips into the community. The Rand Corp. will evaluate the experiment's results.

After visiting the district last week, OEO Director Philip V. Sanchez commented:

"If the experiment fails, nobody in Washington can say the basic ingredients were missing . . . The whole country's eyes are on these schools. What we learn here could have a very significant effect on national education."

Project Director Joel Levin noted, "we live in a highly-diverse, multi-cultural society in which children have different needs. By offering a variety of educational systems, we can make sure that a kid can find the program that will help him succeed."

Levin says the portion of the program that lets economically-deprived children get an extra chance at quality education "is like the difference between a free soup kitchen and food stamps."

Like getting food stamps, the poorer children don't have to take whatever is dished up for them, they get to choose what they want to buy, he says.

The program affects almost one fourth of the district's 16,000 students.

The entire program, Levin says, gives middle-and low-income families the opportunity a rich family might have by sending children to a private school.

Vouchers for each junior high pupil are worth $970 each, with economically deprived getting $323 extra. For elementary pupils it's $680, plus $225.

Each of this year's 22 new programs is centered around a theme, such as math and sciences, "learning by doing," reading, individualized learning, culture and physical education. Each school also offers traditional courses.

One called "school 2000," is designed to provide students with an awareness of the rapidly changing world and the future.

In another, pupils are grouped by ability rather than age and another school offers programs strictly for gifted students.

One school is offering its seventh graders a chance to go into the community, to the health department, newspaper offices, city offices, hospitals, law enforcement agencies and so forth, to learn first hand.

"Alum Rock was the only district in the country that had the courage to try the voucher program," said Levin.

"Superintendent William Jefferds perceived the program as a vehicle to help the district in the direction of ultimate decentralization."

"A big question mark is how many students will want to change programs during the year," Levin said. "Parents are allowed to transfer students three times a year and we have no idea how many are going to exercise this right."

Busing is provided to send the students to whichever school they choose, Levin said, but the trend so far has been to stay in neighborhood schools.

Only 120 students have chosen schools outside their neighborhoods, he said. Racially, he said each school generally is close to the district-wide averages which are 48 per cent Mexican-American, 41 per cent other (white) and 11 per cent black.

Redevelopment Agency To Meet

The San Rafael City Council will meet as the city's Redevelopment Agency at 8 p.m. today in city hall to set a public hearing on the final redevelopment plan.

The public hearing has been proposed for 8 p.m. Oct. 26, according to William J. Bielser, redevelopment executive director. He said that all property owners within the proposed redevelopment area would be notified in writing before the public hearing.

Sessions On Writer Wiesel Scheduled

Council, Planners Discuss Lawsuit

The Fairfax Town Council and the Planning Commission met in closed session Friday night to discuss progress of a suit against the town by the developers of Canon Village and Tennis Club.

The meeting, following which no decision was announced, had been adjourned from Tuesday.

Denkmann and Co., developers of 89 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, claims the city has illegally delayed approving the project's tentative map.

A show-cause hearing in the matter has been scheduled for Sept. 27 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Wineries Finding Extent Of Frost, Hot Weather

SONOMA, Calif. (UPI)—The 1972 vintage now in full swing reveals the greatest shortage of varietal (premium-type) wine grapes in the state's history.

California's 254 wineries and their thousands of grape growers are discovering the true extent of damage by heavy frosts of late spring, plus two days of 110-degree July weather in the Napa and Sonoma valleys.

The grape harvest here is down an estimated 20 percent and 15 percent respectively, against a 40 percent increase in wine demand compared with the same period of last year.

The present boom, unprecedented in the state's agricultural records, finds most wineries forced to ration their better wines. Growers are unable to supply winery demands despite record prices (many varietals have increased from about $250 per ton to $750). Vineyard nurseries are booked two and three years in advance to the army of new winegrowers and to present growers who are expanding established vineyards.

The latter programs range from two-acre plots being planted by "Sunday farmers", many of them doctors, lawyers and professional men who live in the San Francisco metropolitan area but are developing hobby vineyards in the country; to multi-million dollar professional enterprises.

Typical of the latter is a 30,000-acre project in the upper San Joaquin Valley in which, according to the California wine letter, "Dean Witter & Co. is working with First Boston Corp. to underwrite the development. John Hancock Insurance is lending $27 million and Bank of America is extending $7 million in credit."

More modest but relatively substantial developments in the center of the premium wine area, where land is more limited, include a 400-acre model vineyard owned by subsidiaries of Reckitt & Colman of London and now nearing production; and a similar development by Young's Market Company of Los Angeles.

The intensity of the boom has attracted a score of promoters to the fine-wine area, almost in the Florida land-boom tradition. Display ads in metropolitan newspapers invite the public to "invest in the California wine industry; the investor will receive a 9 per cent annual cash flow and an 88 per cent write-off on the first year's invested dollars."

The California Farm Bureau has warned the public to invest only in projects backed by established and reputable wineries and by substantial bank financing, and has also added a caution that over-production of wine grapes may be an eventual result.

Roy Taylor of San Francisco's Wine Institute does not believe the latter danger is acute. "We think the record increase in wine demand will more than absorb the increase in vineyard expansion for the foreseeable future," he said.

"It is unlikely that the grape crush can keep up with the demand for the next four seasons at least," said Dr. Kirby S. Moulton, economist of the University of California.

But the lure and romance of wine growing seems to remain strong and attractive. The vineyards of Sonoma county, where fine wine grapes were first introduced from Europe, has increased over 400 per cent since the boom started, according to Robert Sisson of the state's agricultural department.

Head-On Crash Injures Two

Two persons were injured in a head-on collision Saturday at 9:55 p.m. on Lakeville Highway, south of Petaluma.

Kathy Howes, 21, of 6220 Lakeville Highway, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a broken right leg and face cuts. The other driver, Rupert Brady Jr., 32, of Santa Rosa, was reported in good condition with cuts of the face, arms and legs.

The California Highway Patrol said Brady was blinded by lights, skidded across the center line and collided head-on with the car driven by Mrs. Howes.

Nobel Prize Winner Hospitalized Again

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Nobel Prize winning author Pearl S. Buck, 80, has been hospitalized for the second time within two months.

Mrs. Buck was admitted to Vermont Medical Center Sunday for tests after complaining of discomfort in the abdominal area. A hospital spokesman said she was "resting comfortably." She was treated for pleurisy during her previous hospital stay.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

What About The Women Who Would Steal A Baby?

From time to time we read about a woman who steals a baby. The very nature of the offense suggests a psychiatric disorder, and in most cases, this is true. According to a British report, several patterns of behavior were found in 13 such women. In general, the act seemed to be an attempt to compensate for emotional deprivation or frustrated maternal feelings. Now and then a real or imaginary miscarriage precepitated the unusual theft. The offenders had pronounced neurotic traits and the miscarriage posed a severe threat to an insecure relationship with the father.

Among the 13 baby stealers in the study, two involved subnormal teenagers who just wanted a child to play with. No harm came to the infant. The girls were lonely and played with the tyke as they would with a doll. Three of the women were mental cases suffering from schizophrenia.

THE STEALING took place during a relapse and was motivated by delusional ideas. One of these women had seven children of her own and was unable to care for them. Some were preoccupied with the desire to have a child.

Four other offenders had severe personality disorders and a history of delinquency. All came from a severely disturbed family background. Baby stealing was motivated by an attempt to compensate for feelings of emotional deprivation. Love-starved delinquents who have trouble forming relationships with adults often transfer their affection to children and pets.

NONE OF these women had thought of adoption. They were too unstable socially and disoriented to do this. It was easier to snatch the baby from an unattended buggy, usually outside a supermarket. In three instances, the offender had baby sat for the child. All of the babies were recovered unharmed.

Oddly, in England, men steal more children than do women. In most instances, the child is older and the theft is likely to be sexually motivated.

PERFUME DERMATITIS

Miss G. writes: I rubbed perfume on my wrists and then went out in the sun. These areas became irritated and have remained so for three weeks. The druggist says I have alcohol poisoning. What comments do you care to make?

REPLY

Certain oils in the perfume have made your skin overly sensitive to the rays of the sun. Bergamot oil is the worst offender in this respect, especially when it is dissolved in alcohol in the perfume.

FAMILY DOCTORS

I.E. writes: Is the family doctor the same as a general practitioner?

REPLY

Any physician can be your family doctor. The majority are general practitioners because they are prepared to treat most of the everyday medical problems in a family. However, when consultation is needed, they call in a specialist.

BLOOD VOLUME

H.V. writes: Does a tall, heavy person have as much blood as a short, thin one?

REPLY

A heavier person is likely to have more. The amount of blood varies with size and roughly is 1/11 of body weight.

Credit Card Arrest In Novato

A San Francisco man was arrested in Novato Saturday in connection with a stolen credit card.

Roy Lee Edward Clark, 38, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,500 bail on suspicion of forgery and possession of stolen property. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Clark was arrested on Highway 101 about 3:30 a.m. by Novato officer John Tyson, who noticed him loitering at a roadside gas station.

Tyson sent the license number of Clark's car to motor vehicle authorities and learned of $127 in traffic warrants against the vehicle. The officer returned to the gas station and was shown a credit card receipt signed by the suspect for purchase of gas.

He apprehended Clark on Highway 101 near the Route 37 exit. Police said Clark had no driver's license, no registration and would not produce the credit card. He subsequently gave the officer the credit card which had a name different from his and police said a check determined that it had been stolen in Reno.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidant, light air pollution.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Board To Resume Preserve Hearings

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the civic center, will resume a series of hearings on rezoning of the county's agricultural preserve.

The board considered the rezoning a month ago but found itself bogged down in protests from landowners seeking to have their property exempted from the action.

Under consideration will be about 120,000 acres of rural lands around Point Reyes Station, Nicasio, Bolinas and Muir Beach.

All have been recommended for low-density A-60, 40, 20, 10 and 5 zoning, with A-60 (one home per 60 acres) the predominant recommendation.

Rezoning of the county's sprawling preserve is required under state law in order to protect the agricultural industry from pressures of urban growth.

The law — the Williamson Act — states that lands within the preserve must be zoned in a manner compatible with agriculture. The planning department maintains the A-60 zoning is the most compatible for Marin's dairying and livestock operations.

Two sections of the preserve — about 20,000 acres around Novato and 60,000 acres in the northwestern portion of the county — already have been rezoned by supervisors despite heated protests of some landowners.

Writing, Art Contest Slated

The Marin County League of Women Voters is sponsoring a contest in creative writing and art on open space for third, fourth and fifth-graders. Deadline for entries is Oct. 14.

Applicants may send entries to the League at 243 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera 94925. Entries should include a short paragraph and a 12-by-18-inch drawing or painting about the concept of open space.

Selected entries will be exhibited at the civic center Oct. 23 through Nov. 7.

Deputies Destroy Rattler In Yard

Sheriff's deputies said Saturday they helped a Marinwood homeowner kill a rattlesnake earlier in the day.

The 29-inch snake had seven rattles. It was found in the backyard of the Shoso Mishinaga residence at 205 Johnstone Drive, deputies said.

Trustees Shift Meeting Site

San Rafael Board of Education members will shift to Santa Venetia Middle School for their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The session in room 23-24 of the school on North San Pedro Road will include a vote on acceptance of remodeling and expansion work done at the school.

Also on the agenda will be the board's first formal hearing on the much-discussed teacher evaluation policy required by the so-called Stull Act, adoption of a policy permitting teachers to transfer tenure between the San Rafael high school and elementary districts and adoption of courses for the 1972-73 school year in both districts.

Front Porch Arson Probed

San Rafael police and firemen are investigating the third case of arson in three months in the Belle Avenue area, police reported Saturday.

Investigators said resident Philip John Agard was awakened by his front doorbell at 2 a.m. Friday, then was almost engulfed in flames when he entered the porch to see who had been at the door. He escaped injury by pulling off his burning trousers, police said.

Gasoline or some other petroleum product had been poured on the concrete porch and then ignited. The blaze was put out without damage.

Two similar predawn fires near front doors were reported in July, police said.

Scientist Christofilos Dies At 56

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI)—Nicholas C. Christofilos, a senior scientist at the University of California's Lawrence Laboratory and an important figure in American science, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack. He was 56.

American-born and Greek-educated, Christofilos was both an engineer and a physicist. He was known as one of the most inventive men in science, originating major concepts in controlled thermonuclear reactions and in nuclear accelerator technology.

Born Dec. 16, 1916, in Boston, Mass., Christofilos was taken by his parents to Greece at an early age. He received his electrical and mechanical engineering degrees from the National Technical University in Athens in 1938.

He returned to the U.S. after World War II and worked for the Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York from 1953 until 1956, when he joined the Lawrence Laboratory.

At the time of his death, he was in charge of the laboratory's Astron Project, an attempt to create a clean inexhaustible means of generating electrical power by harnessing the kinds of thermonuclear reactions that go on in the centers of stars and the hydrogen bomb.

The project, one of the nation's major controlled fusion experiments, is based on Christofilos' own unique concepts for containing super-hot nuclear fuel with magnetic forces produced by a stream of electrons moving at nearly the speed of light.

Christofilos is survived by two former wives and their children, Mrs. Elly Christofilos and their son, Nicholas Jr., of Berkeley, and Mrs. Joan Jaffray and their son, Jason, of Oakland.

Swedish Aide Sees No Arms Race Halt

GENEVA (UPI) — Sweden said today the major powers intend to continue the nuclear arms race and have no intention of seeking genuine disarmament agreements.

Mrs. Alva Myrdal, Swedish minister for disarmament, said such agreements as the 1963 Partial Nuclear Test Ban and the recent SALT treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union are of "minimal value."

She told a symposium on disarmament convened by nongovernmental international organizations that the two major powers have even stepped up underground testing since the 1963 treaty.

"We know that preparations are being made by these nations for continued testing years ahead," she said.

"The nuclear weapon powers intend to keep nuclear arms in their arsenals and they intend to pursue the race towards even greater superpower superiority through nuclear overkill," Mrs. Myrdal said.

The Swedish delegate said the "most important obstacle to disarmament is the war in Indochina."

"As long as that brutal war goes on, as long as a great country is using all its technical paraphernalia against weaker peoples, in their own homelands, as long as we cannot count on genuine support by the United States for disarmament or for outlawing even the most cruel means and methods of warfare," she said.

Mrs. Myrdal said the entry into world affairs by China may lead to meaningful disarmament agreements.

"But for the present and the past I stand ready to defend as unavoidable the conclusion that what has been achieved in the direction of true international disarmament, indeed has been of minimal value," she said.

Sale of Records Climbs In 1971

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and prerecorded tapes were up 5 per cent in 1971 over 1970, the Recording Industry Association of America says.

Sales of phonograph records were up 5.8 per cent, to a high of $1.251 billion, against $1.182 billion the previous year. Of this total, LPs accounted for $1.086 billion in 1971, compared with $1.017 billion in 1970.

The increase is due in part at least to a rise in prices.

Total sales of prerecorded tapes in 1971 amounted to $493 million, an increase of 3 per cent over the $378 million in 1970.

The association estimates that piracy and counterfeiting of tapes took around $150 million away from legitimate sales.

Young Orchestra Performing Free

NEW YORK (AP) — The Orchestra of the City of New York, a new organization whose members are recent graduates of music schools, is launching a series of 15 free concerts. They will be given at prisons, hospitals and churches.

The orchestra hopefully will provide a showcase for young players, assisting them to launch their careers.

Also, an aim is to attract young and new audiences by imaginative programming and presentations at low prices. Jak Zadikov is music director. He has been music director of the Nassau-Suffolk Symphony on Long Island.

Program for the free concerts will include Stravinsky and Bach as well as guest appearances by folksingers Tom Paxton and Fat City, jazzman Herbie Hancock and young Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade. There are several sponsors for the free concerts.

Heir To Throne Has A Winner

DRAMMEN, Norway (AP) — Crown Prince Harald's 4-year-old favorite cow, Fiola, won first prize at the country show, scoring 129.5 points here.

The 35-year-old heir to the Norwegian throne has a 150-acre farm at his residence, "skaugum," 15 miles west of Oslo.

The crown prince was unable to attend the show because he took part in pre-Olympic yachting qualifications at Kiel, West Germany.

'Fragging' Court-Martial Recessed Another Week

FT. ORD, Calif. (UPI)—The "fragging" court-martial of Army Pvt. Billy D. Smith was recessed for an additional week Monday while federal authorities search for missing witnesses.

The trial judge, Col. Rawls H. Frazier, continued the case until Oct. 3 at the request of the prosecution, which has asked U.S. marshal's offices around the nation to locate the witnesses.

Prosecutor Capt. Craig J. Casey won't say how many witnesses are missing, but defense attorney Luke McKissack estimates four or five former soldiers are being sought.

Smith, 24, Los Angeles, is charged with the murder of two officers who were killed by a fragmentation grenade in their barracks at Bien Hoa, Vietnam, on March 15, 1971. The victims were 2nd Lt. Richard E. Harlan of Dallas and 1st Lt. Thomas A. Dwllwo of Mechanicsville, N.Y.

The prosecution requested the recess last Wednesday after a witness testified that Smith was not the soldier he saw running from the grenade explosion that killed the officers. The original recess was scheduled to end Tuesday.

Board Of Realtors To Hear Jarvis

Howard Jarvis of Los Angeles, state chairman of United Organizations of Taxpayers, Inc. will be the guest speaker at the 8 a.m. breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors tomorrow at the Corte Madera Lions Club in Corte Madera.

Rewards For Drug Informants Pondered

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —The Michigan Senate has created a special committee to study the feasibility of offering $500 to $1,000 rewards for turning in drug pushers to police.

"Extensive studies of the drug problem reveal that the most important link between the user and the dealer in illicit drugs is the pusher," said a senate resolution. "The drug pusher not only sells narcotics to the addicted, but children are exposed to the drug pusher at an early age."

Tam Defeats Marin 'Cats

14-8 Win Is First Since '70

By LEW CODDINGTON

There was nothing pretty about Saturday afternoon's football game between Tamalpais and Marin Catholic high schools. The two teams grovelled desperately in the pit for precious inches and seconds, and Tam ultimately clutched just enough of them to win, 14-8.

Marin Catholic's Ben Partee lunged across the goal line on the game's final play — "by about three inches," in his words — but the tying touchdown was nullified by an illegal procedure penalty. The Wildcats failed to set for one full second before putting the ball in play.

Three inches and a fraction of a second. It was that close.

It was the first victory for the Indians (1-1) since their final outing of 1970. Ten losses intervened.

Tam won the game by pounding relentlessly at the middle of Marin Catholic's line on time-consuming runs aftar piling up a 14-0 lead in the first half.

28-22 VICTORY

Stunning Rally By San Marin

The game seemed over to everyone else, but San Marin High School's offensive unit refused to believe it, and scored four touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday for a dramatic, 28-22 non-league football victory over Sonoma at Novato High.

Fullback Fred Doar cracked five yards for the winning touchdown with 4:24 remaining, after Craig Leaf recovered a fumble on the Sonoma five.

"The win was quite impressive after the flat three quarters we played," said San Marin coach Bob Martin. "Sonoma was much tougher than we thought."

The Mustangs (2-0) rode the left arm of quarterback Hoza Wright to three touchdowns earlier in the period. Wright hit Greg Pater on a 46-yard scoring bomb with about 10 minutes left, and seconds later went back to Pater for a 28-yard touchdown. The third score came on a 25-yard pass to Kevin Keller.

Neither team scored in the first half, as both squads were victimized by fumbles and penalties. Sonoma's Butch Nauheim tallied twice in the space of two minutes midway through the third quarter, both times on two-yardruns, and the Dragons added another score on a one-yard jaunt by Jim Woods early in the final period.

Simpson, Saban Enjoy 49er Upset

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — O.J. Simpson had a good time. Head coach Lou Saban just wanted to watch the final score flicker on and off.

What both Saban and Simpson were enjoying so much was the Buffalo Bills' 27-20 upset over the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Simpson's running and a defense shored up by Jerry Patton and Don Croft, just two of Saban's numerous, nameless, newcomers, sparked the Bills to their first win of the season.

Patton and Croft didn't have time to have their names sewn on their jerseys, but anonymity must become them. They spearheaded a defensive line that allowed the Forty Niners only 33 yards rushing.

"I never had a better time than I had today," Simpson said. It was his best day as a pro as he collected 138 yards on 29 carries. "I'm as happy about this game as any other game I ever played in."

Saban was fascinated by the final outcome. "I'd just as soon sit and watch the final score flicker on and off," he said.

Walt Patulski, Buffalo's rookie defensive end, said Croft and Patton were late but welcomed arrivals. "It seemed like we were just introduced to each other before the game," Patulski said. "I was amazed at the pressure they put on the inside of the line."

Jim Braxton scored two fourths quarter touchdowns, the second with only 1-16 left.

Braxton's first TD was set up by a Dennis Shaw-to-Simpson screen pass on second down and 23 yards to go from the Bills 47. Simpson used a fine block by Braxton and then dragged a tackler five yards for a 25-yard gain to the Forty Niners' 28. Shaw then hit J.D. Hill with a 13-yarder and five plays later Braxton bulled into the end zone from the two yard line.

The winning touchdown resulted from a John Pitts interception of a Steve Spurrier pass at the San Francisco 28. Pitts returned the ball to the 18 and on the first play, Simpson swept to the 10.

On third down Simpson got five tough yards through the middle and a first down at the three. Braxton tried the middle and got to the one on the next play and scored a one-yard run after a San Francisco off-sides call.

Fleet Feet Of Jackson Carry A's

Sunday was the exception, however, as Jackson salvaged a doubleheader split with the Kansas City Royals by utilizing his speed in the ninth inning rally that produced a 3-2 second game victory after the Royals won the opener, 4-2.

Jackson singled, stole second and third and scored the winning run on a throwing error by right fieldar Steve Hovley following a slide ball by Sal Bando.

The victory gave Oakland a 3½ game lead in the American League West over the Chicago White Sox. Both teams have eight games to go, the A's returning to action tonight in the opener of a three-game series with the Minnesota Twins.

Prior to Jackson's larceny, Matty Alou led off the ninth with a single, but was tossed out at third on Hovley's throw following Jackson's hit. Oakland manager Williams protested the call and was still upset about it after the game.

Reliever Rollie Fingers (10-8) registered his second win in as many days after taking over for starter Dave Hamilton.

Paul Schall's third-inning homer and five straight singles in a three-run seventh inning rally carried rookie right hander Monty Montgomery 3-2 to victory in the opener.

Game Of Errors: Raiders Triumph

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)— To err may be human, but in the world of professional football there is no room for mistakes.

Madden's Raiders were plagued by mistakes in last week's opening 34-28 loss to Pittsburgh and the trend appeared to be continuing Sunday through the first half of Oakland's game against the Packers.

But they turned things around and used Green Bay errors to record a 20-14 National Football League win.

"The last few weeks we've been bitten by mistakes," Madden said. "At halftime I told my players they were a little tight and should relax. They came back in the second half and controlled things pretty well."

Devine was clearly disheartened—especially by what probably was the key play of the game, a record 104-yard run with a fumble recovery by defensive back Jack Tatum for one of the Oakland scores.

The runback broke a mark that had been set 49 years ago by George Halas, founder, owner and onetime player and coach of the Chicago Bears. Halas' 1923 run covered 98 yards.

It was very disappointing, especially for a young team," Devine said. "I felt we could win. But I was very proud of the way they bounced back after that fumble runback.

"They didn't lose their poise," he said. But he was not completely convinced that Ta-

Dodgers' Downing Blanks Giants, 7-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Downing said he had better stuff the last time he pitched than he did Sunday when the Los Angeles lefthander shut out San Francisco, 7-0.

If so, "stuff" isn't all there is to pitching.

He failed to last three innings in his previous start but Sunday, as he pitched the Dodgers' 22nd shutout of the year, he limited the Giants to four singles, two of them in the ninth inning, which was the only time a runner advanced past first base.

The victory was the Dodgers' fourth straight, extending San Francisco's losing streak to eight, matching the club's West Coast record.

The Giants are idle today, then tackle Houston in the Astrodome Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Mrs. King Loses 'Insignificant' Match

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI)—Billie Jean King admitted tennis wasn't "significant" for her when she fell without much protest to Australia's Margaret Court in the singles finals of the Golden Gate Pacific Coast Classic.

The rangy Mrs. Court attacked savagely at the net and nullified Billie Jean's lobs with rifle volleys to down the topseed 6-4, 6-1 Sunday at Golden Gate Fields.

"There are days when tennis is significant and days when it isn't," said Mrs. King. "This was one when it wasn't. I wasn't playing very well even when I was ahead."

Mrs. King showed some of her championship form while teaming with Ann Jones of Great Britain to outlast Mrs. Court and Leslie Hunt 7-5, 2-6, 7- 6 for the doubles title. With the points divided evenly at 4-4 in the final tiebreaker, Mrs. King whistled a forehand out of Mrs. Court's reach.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco won third money in the singles by beating Kerry Melville of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

Mike Neal of Oakland, current U.S. 4,000-meter pursuit champion, was second, followed by Tim Parker and Fritz Liedle, a member of the Marin Cyclists, co-sponsors of the Cycle-O-Rama along with the Kiwanis Club of North San Rafael.

Sen. Peter Behr, representing the Fourth Senatorial District, was guest chairman and official starter for the race, and he awarded second places to the remainder of the entrants: Robert Walker, (college board), Harry Moore (assembly), Greg Feron (college board), Lawrence Mulligan (San Rafael City Council), Gary Giacomini and Mike Peevy (both fourth district supervisor).

Kim Bauer, 8, of 510 Blackstone Drive, San Rafael, fell from his bicycle in the stock race for youngsters under 10 years of age. He was taken to Marin General Hospital for treatment of multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face and then released.

Jets' Namath Sharp With Passes, Picks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Namath didn't guarantee it this time but he did give a big hint.

Three years ago, in January of 1969, Namath "guaranteed" the New York Jets would beat the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl and he went out and led his club to an upset victory.

But that was the last time the Jets defeated the Colts, who beat the Jets four consecutive times since then. But Namath changed all that Sunday.

During the week he was asked if he would go to a short passing game against Baltimore's zone defense, the best in the National Football league, "No, not necessarily," he replied, "There are times you can go long against a zone." Then he broke into a big grin.

He showed what was so funny Sunday as he bombed away for six touchdowns and 496 yards enroute to a 44-34 triumph over the Colts.

Namath's sensational performance overshadowed a brilliant effort by his "boyhood idol," John Unitas, who had his second straight outstanding game but came away with his second straight loss. The Jets are 2-0.

Unitas completed 26-of-45 passes for 376 yards and two TDs. He rallied the Colts twice late in the game to within three points but each time Namath, playing in Baltimore for the first time in his career, came back with a long touchdown throw to Richard Caster on the first play after the kickoff. Namath had TD passes of 10, 79 and 80 yards to Caster, 65 to Eddie Bell, 67 to running back John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard. Don McCauley had a 93-yard kickoff return for a Baltimore TD.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, Minnesota drubbed Detroit 34-10, Miami ripped Houston 34-13, Washington stopped St. Louis 24-10, Dallas held off the New York Giants 23-14, Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego ripped Denver 37-14, Oakland edged Green Bay 20-14, New England upset Atlanta 21-20, Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20 and Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 27-17. Kansas City is at New Orleans tonight.

Sub Dave Osborn scored three touchdowns as the Vikings downed Detroit for the ninth consecutive time. Osborn had TD runs of one and 14 yards and caught a 13-yard scoring pass from Fran Tarkenton. Tarkenton also passed 40 yards to John Gilliam for another score.

Jim Kiick scored a pair of TDs and Larry Csonka, Mercury Morris and Bob Griese had one each as the Dolphins remained unbeaten by ripping Houston. Dan Pastorini threw 82 yards to Charlie Joiner for an Oiler TD.

Larry Brown set a club career rushing record and Washington's defense scored one TD and set up another as the Redskins beat St. Louis. Mike Bass' 32-yard run with a blocked field goal attempt in the second quarter broke open the game.

Toni Fritsch's three field goals, one a 54-yarder, helped Dallas beat the Giants despite long TD passes of 94 and 55 yards from Norm Snead to Rich Houston and Horst Muhlmann kicked five field goals to account for all the Cincinnati scoring as the Bengals downed the Steelers.

John Hadl threw two TD passes and Mike Garrett ran 41 yards for another score to lead San Diego over the Broncos.

Carl Garrett ran 12 yards for the go-ahead score midway through the last period and the Faclons' Bill Bell blew an easy 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds left as the Patriots nipped Atlanta.

Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal in the last period earned Chicago a tie with the Rams Chicago a tie with the Rams.

Mike Phipps ran for one score and threw 23 yards to Frank Pitts for another to lead Cleveland over Philadelphia, the Browns' first victory.

Yanks Win 2; Lyle Sets Record With 35th Save

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Sparky Lyle saved the day and made history in the process.

New York's ace reliever gained his 35th "save" of the season Sunday to tie the major league record and set a new American League mark for saves as the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 in 11 innings and 8-3 to move within three games of the American League Aastern division-leading Boston Red Sox.

Lyle relieved with two on and none out in the ninth inning of the nightcap and retired the side in order in remarkable fashion with two strikeouts and a soft groundout to end the game.

Johnny Ellis had three RBI and Bobby Murcer unloaded his 30th homer of the season in the nightcap victory.

Thurman Munson singled to start the 11th inning winning rally of the first game. Munson tried to steal but was trapped between first and second. Shortstop Frank Duffy tagged Munson but the Yankee catcher knocked the ball out of the shorstop's glove and raced to third. Duffy then booted Gene Michael's grounder as Munson scored and threw wild to first with Michael taking second. Horace Clarke hit a bouncer in front of the plate after a strikeout and catcher Jerry Moses threw wild to first, then rightfielder Del Unser threw the ball wild trying to get Michael at the plate.

A two-run homer by Reggie Smith and a three-run blast by Rico Petrocelli powered Boston to a 7-2 victory over Detroit and restored the Red Sox's one-game edge over the Tigers in the tight Eastern division race.

Petrocelli's homer accounted for three more Red Sox runs in the fifth.

In other American League games, Baltimore edged Milwaukee, 4-3, California nipped Minnesota, 2-1, Chicago tripped Texas, 7-4, and Oakland split a twinbill with Kansas City, the Royals taking the first game 4-2 and the A's coming back to win the nightcap 2-1.

In the National League, New York beat Philadelphia, 2-1, Montreal nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1,St. Louis edged Chicago in 10, 2-1, San Diego nipped Atlanta, 2-1, Cincinnati romped past Houston, 10-2, and Los Angeles blanked San Francisco, 7-0.

Jim Palmer collected his 100th major league victory and scored the winning run on Bobby Grich's ninth-inning single as Baltimore beat Milwaukee.

Palmer permitted the Brewers just seven singles in picking up his 21st win of the season against only nine defeats and improving his lifetime mark to 100-47.

Rudy May scattered seven hits and rookie Chris Coletta hit his first major league homer as California defeated Minnesota.

Billy Parker scored the first Angel run in the second when he hit a sacrifice fly after two singles. Coletta homered in the eighth to help May upp his record to 11-11.

Novato Blasts Lincoln, 43-7

Using more weapons than anyone has seen this side of the drawing boards of the Pentagon, Novato High School rolled to a 43-7 non-league football victory over Lincoln High Saturday in San Francisco.

Four different Hornets scored touchdowns and three different ones threw T.D. passes as Novato took its second straight impressive victory from a City team. Riordan fell last week, 19-0.

Quarterback Tom Conklin completed nine of 12 passes for 87 yards and threw two scoring passes to Ken Straw. Conklin's replacement, Chris De Recat, hit on four of six for 46 yards and a score to Gary Lash. Lash also took a T.D. toss from Mark Magers.

"Conklin did a superb job of running the team," said Coach Al Scott. "Chris Meaney (tackle) and Paul Kessler (center) did some outstanding blocking in the line, and Lash, Joe Robinson and Chuck Dupuis made some excellent catches.

"Mike Rennier was a star on defense." A halfback, Rennier returned a punt 36 yards for a score.

Redwoods Ruins Tar Home Opener

By TOM THOMPSON

It was just too little, too late for the College of Marin Tars Saturday afternoon, in losing the home football opener to powerhouse College of the Redwoods, 24-13.

To say it was too late is an understatement for the Tars. Actually, the hosts didn't score until there was only 57 seconds left in the game; an instant later, they scored again after recovering an on-side kick.

Quarterback Kevin Donohoe led the late charges, completing five passes for 139 yards in the fourth quarter. He threw for both touchdowns, a 48-yarder to Mike Corder and a 34-yarder to Neal Given.

The fireworks were all in vain however as the Corsairs piled up a 21-0 lead in the first half and coasted the rest of the way with reserves.

The visitors scored the first two times they had the ball, after long drives. Less than four minutes had passed in the first quarter when Ray Miller caught a nine-yard Stu Titus pass to begin a series of Redwoods fortunes.

It was still the first quarter when Neal Peterson ran two yards through the Tar line to give the Corsairs the eventual winning touchdown.

Redwoods closed the first half scoring with a 12-yard run by Grant Dotts. They scored again early in the third stanza with a 15-yard field goal by Titus.

Marin will take on Sierra Saturday, 1 p.m., at Rocklin. The Tars will be looking to break their 16-game losing streak.

grinding carries, and three times got first downs by inches on a crucial fourth-quarter drive. Leading, 14-8, the Indians drove from their own seven-yard line to the Marin Cats' 47 and ate up four, agonizing minutes.

Tam broke on top in the first period, marching 15 yards in five plays after Herb Wade recovered a Wildcat fumble. Alvin Price ran two yards for the score.

In the second quarter, quarterback Steve Gaddis surprised virtually every observer by firing a 45-yard scoring bomb to Dennis Morini, and Adams ran the two-point conversion. Gaddis was the second-string quarterback until Tim Nowell injured a collarbone last week. Kanoe Lyons set up the play with a 16-yard pass interception return.

Marin Catholic struck back in the third quarter, as a frantically scrambling Partee launched a 26-yard scoring pass to Vic Terra, and Mark Ferrua ran the conversion.

The Wildcats later moved to Tam's five and 22 on successive series, only to be thrown back, before launching the final abortive drive.

"Kevin Murphy at wingback, Mike Shimmin at tailback and Craig Marshall at end provided the blocking for the ball control," said Tam coach Mike Davlin.

Davlin alleged that the official scoreboard clock failed to run for "one and a half to two minutes" in the third and fourth period, and that he protested "four times" to no avail. Marin Catholic coach Bruno Banducci conceded there may have been an error of "a few seconds either way, but it probably evened out."

Brodie was caught by the Bills' line while throwing an incomplete pass and suffered a slight sprain of his left wrist.

San Francisco upped the lead to 13-6 on a second Bruce Gossett field goal after driving to the Bills' 13 following the second half kickoff.

The Bills scored their first touchdown to tie the score at 13-13 on a 17-yard pass from Shaw to tight end Jan White late in the third period.

San Francisco scored on the first play of the fourth quarter. The drive took only 1:53 and seven plays and culminated in a two-yard plunge over the line by Larry Schreider.

San Francisco held the 20-13 lead until Braxton's two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play.

San Francisco also lost linebacker Jim Sniadecki with a fractured right ankle.

tum's record was fully legitimate.

"I don't want to make a big thing about it," he said as he paged through a National Football League rule book. He read aloud a rule stating that a muffed lateral could not be advanced by the defending team.

A pass interference ruling against Oakland's George Atkinson on the Raiders' two set up one Green Bay score and the Packers returned the favor in the third quarter to give Oakland the go-ahead and winning score.

Rookie Willie Buchanon was the offender this time and his interference with Fred Bilentnikoff not only gave the Raiders the ball on the one but wiped out a Jim Hill interception as well. Charlie Smith went over on the first play for the touchdown.

Both Green Bay scores came on one yard runs by John Brockington. The first climaxed an 80-yard drive and followed his 23-yard run to the one in the first quarter. The second in the second period came after the interference call on Atkinson.

While mistakes made the big difference, the margin of victory — as it had so often in the past — came on 43 and 14 yard field goals by George Blanda, who celebrated his 45th birthday just a week ago.

A completely outsized St. Vincent High School of Petaluma football team set a dubious school record and was walloped 32-0 by host Justin High of Napa in a non-league game Saturday.

The Mustangs fumbled nine times, losing six of them, to set a new school mark, and "that was the story of the game," said losing coach Bill Silva.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stick With Issue Which Has Strong Turnabout Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1966 I purchased 15 shares of Montgomery Ward at $43 per share. Now six years later, following a two-for-one split and the merger, I hold 30 shares of Marcor (NYSE) worth very little more than I invested originally. Should I switch into a more active issue? — K.S.

A. Problems with have contributed to the drop in Marcor's share price appear to be solved and forward progress should continue. Container Corp., which contributed 34 per cent to corporate earnings in fiscal 1971-72, was the primary factor with a strike and start-up snags at the new Florida mill cutting into profits. However, with the mill boosting the company's containerboard capacity 39 per cent volume should easily set a new record in excess of $3 billion this year.

Through the first half ended July, earnings were up 24 per cent on a 10 per cent gain in volume. Although the tax rate this year may be greater, higher product prices and an improved level of retail business should lift earnings about 15 per cent to about $1.90 per share. As the market recognizes the improving earnings trend a higher P/E multiple should be accorded the shares. I would advise sticking with this issue which currently has strong turnaround potential.

Q. I feel locked into certain securities because of capital gains. What are tax-free exchange funds and how do they operate? Could you suggest a few that emphasize income? — G. Q.

A. Although 23 of the 33 tax-free exhange funds formed between 1960 and 1967 are still in operation, these funds no longer offer any tax advantage. The Internal Revenue Service in 1967 eliminated this tax shelter and new funds have not been recently formed. The funds do permit the direct exchange of your individual shares for fund shares. However, you are liable for the capital gains tax in the year the exchange occurs. Yields on most of these funds are low — 1.8 per cent on average — although Empire Fund, Fourth Empire Fund and Sixth Empire Fund return over 3 per cent.

Airline Reports August Earnings

LOS ANGELES — Western Air Lines Thursday reported August net earnings of $3,876,000, or 29 cents a share, compared to earnings of $3,829,000, or 28 cents a share, for the same month last year.

Per share earnings are based on 13,511,370 shares for 1972 and 13,486,065 for 1971, the number outstanding after giving effect to the 2-½-for-1 stock split that was approved by Western's stockholders on Sept. 13.

Per share earnings for August, based on the 5,404,548 shares outstanding prior to the split, were equivalent to 72 cents a share, compared to 71 cents a share for August 1971.

Banks To Lend Airline Money

LOS ANGELES — Continental Airlines has arranged to borrow $150 million from a group of 25 banks, it was announced by President Robert F. Six.

Under the terms of the agreement, funds will be available to the airline on a revolving credit basis through 1976, at which point, the loan converts to five-year term, to be paid in 20 quarterly installments from 1977 through 1981.

The funds, together with $25.5 million Continental raised earlier this year through an issue of 1,250,000 shares of common stock, will be used to purchase new aircraft and related ground equipment and facilities, Six said.

Trucks Sold At A Record Rate

DETROIT — Retail sales by Dodge dealers of 7,085 cars and a record 4,738 trucks were reported for the first period of September's seven selling days.

The truck sales were 67 per cent greater than the previous high of 2,075 set during eight days of early September a year ago.

Market's Aimless Drifting

Declines led advances, 571 to 519, among the 1,493 issues crossing the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 4,030,000 shares.

Many investors were awaiting developments at the International Monetary Fund meeting at Washington. President Nixon told the IMF there was a need for monetary reform.

The new background otherwise failed to spark any enthusiasm in the market, which has been dragging since Labor Day.

Prices were mixed to slightly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

DISASTER SCENE — A charred shell was all that remained of the second floor of the Oscar Restaurant in Rhodes, Greece, yesterday after a flash fire that trapped 200 people inside. Thirty-two were killed, and more than a dozen injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Debt Limit Voted By Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Ways & Means Committee tentatively approved Monday President Nixon's proposal to put a $250 billion limit on federal spending this fiscal year.

Administration sources have contended —and most of the committee members agreed in public hearings —that without a rigid spending ceiling taxes would have to be increased next year.

Most Democrats had wanted Nixon to spell out what areas of federal spending would be cut to stay within the $250 billion lid. The administration refused to commit itself in advance.

The limit is part of a bill Nixon sent Congress asking that the present temporary $450 billion limit on the amount that the government can go into debt be raised to $465 billion.

Without congressional action by Oct. 31, the temporary ceiling would revert to the permanent $400 billion level while the government is already more than $430 billion in debt.

A White House source said minor changes were made in the administration's proposal but that the "total effect of the original language is still there".

House Moves To Put Teeth In Meat Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Agriculture Committee approved legislation Monday to cut off federal meat inspection funds to any state with meat labeling or packaging regulations that are different from federal standards—even if they are tougher.

The committee added the cutoff provision to a bill to increase the federal contribution to state inspection costs from 50 per cent to 80 per cent.

The bill was approved, 17 to 16, in a closed committee session.

A similar bill —but without the funds cutoff amendment — has been passed by the Senate. States with meat standards already higher than the federal guidelines have protested that the effect of the committee amendment would be to force them to weaken their own regulations.

For example, Michigan has a ban against inclusion in canned meat products sold in that state of such animal parts as sow ears, cow udders and pig lips which the federal government does not ban.

Although Michigan officials conceded those animal parts appeared in only the cheapest canned meats, they preferred to ban the products altogether.

Chain Helping Forest To Grow

QUEBEC (AP) — Anchor chain originally intended for a Canadian destroyer is being used to grow forests in Ontario.

Twenty-foot lengths of chain are dragged by tractors across waste land where trees have been harvested for newsprint and other forest products.

To each 76-pound link is welded a long heavy tractor pin, which churns the soil up over the surface mat of old pine needles and forest debris.

This helps put the jackpine seeds in direct contact with soil so they will germinate. If the seeds stayed on top of the non-soil mat, they could not germinate and produce a new forest.

No Important Village Business

LONDON (AP) — Even after 90 years, villagers of Norton Bavant, Wiltshire, have nothing to talk about.

Sidney Davis, clerk of Warminster Rural Council, called a meeting in Norton Bavant Village Hall.

"By law villages this size have to hold a meeting twice a year to discuss local matters," he said. "I was amazed when I looked for the minutes of these meetings. There just weren't any."

Only a dozen of the 100 villagers turned up and "after at least 90 years they still haven't anything to talk about," Davis said.

Free Service —Towing Autos

VIENNA (AP) — The City of Vienna has a special mailbox for motorists desiring to surrender ownership of their dying automobiles.

The mailbox in the traffic department is used to speed receipt of documents facilitating the removal of abandoned cars from the streets of the Austrian capital. Under a program started in 1970, old cars are towed away free if the driver signs a form relinquishing ownership to the city.

So far, more than 1,200 Viennese have signed their cars up for the free trip to an auto graveyard.

Jammed Restaurant Burns; 32 Killed

RHODES, Greece (UPI)— Martha Lindqvist of Stockholm celebrated her 56th birthday Saturday night with a party at a restaurant much patronized by Scandinavian visitors to the island of Rhodes.

One minute 200 people were talking and singing in the upstairs snack bar of the Oscar Restaurant. The next they were screaming in terror as a short circuit in an electrical control panel set fire to the highly flammable bamboo panels which covered the walls.

Firemen rushed to the scene but did not use their hoses for almost an hour, witnesses said, for fear of electrocution by the burning wires through which power still surged.

By the time the fire was out, 31 persons were known dead and another 16 were hospitalized with severe burns and broken bones.

One of those hospitalized ied later.

Most of the victims were Scandinavian tourists. Three Irish girls were also feared among the dead.

"While the fire brigade rushed immediately to the scene, firemen did not have masks against smoke or special fire extinguishing chemicals, and they would not use their water for almost an hour," waiter Stylianos Economou said.

Dimitrios Kastrinis, 47, organist at the Oscar, said it took 45 minutes for power company technicians to reach the scene and cut the electricity. "Meanwhile, firemen could not use their hoses for fear of being electrocuted," Kastranis said.

Police said identification of the dead was difficult because many were only charred remains.

Most of the bodies were found near second story windows of the two-story restaurant. Twenty-nine of the victims perished in the fire. Two others died minutes after jumping from windows.

Sign Wrong For Musical 'Hair'

But it was the planet Mercury which caused one of the group's performances here to be canceled.

The cast took the night off on the advice of an astrologer, said a spokesman for the Mechanic Theater, which had to exchange about 1,000 tickets already sold for the performance.

"They mentioned something about Mercury being in the wrong house or something," said Robert Gibson, assistant managing director of the theater.

The chance of amking a gold strike in California today is estimated at less than a thousand to one.

Jet Hits Ice Cream Parlor; 22 Killed

Another 16 persons were injured when the privately-owned F86 Sabrejet barrelled across a highway, struck three vehicles and bounced in a "ball of fire" into Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour.

"I'm sorry...I'm sorry. Get the people out," groaned Richard Bingham, 39, of Novato, pilot of the plane. He was pulled from the wreckage while 200 screaming children and adults fought to escape flames that turned the Gay-90s style shop into an inferno.

Bingham, general manager of Spectrum Air Services of Novato, escaped with a broken arm and cuts and bruises from what was believed to be the worst disaster of this type ever to occur in the United States.

Sacramento County Coroner George L. Nilsen said 12 of the victims were youngsters, five boys and seven girls. Five women and five men were also killed.

He said at least two complete families were among the dead. A father, mother and two children made up one of the families.

The plane, owned by Spectrum Air Services, which belongs to millionaire cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick, hit one car on a highway and two in a parking lot and dragged them into the parlor.

The nose of the Korean War-era plane, one of America's first fighter jets being displayed across the street at Sacramento's Executive Airport, smashed into the parlor's Howard Hughes Room. A party was being held in the room for 20 youngsters from the Sacramento 49ers Little League football team.

Don McClusky, an employee, was filling salt shakers in the room when the plane hit.

"After I picked myself up I grabbed five kids and broke a window and got them out," he said. "But by then the smoke and flames were too intense and I couldn't get back in."

Linda Fourby, 17, Sacramento, was in a car which the plane missed by 100 feet. She said she ran toward the "screaming and breaking glass" at Farrells.

"People were saying 'get me out, get me out! Where's my kids?' Everybody was trying to help everybody."

Old Jet Reconstructed; Once Housed In Museum

The pilot of the old fighter jet which crashed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor yesterday is a Novato man who runs Spectrum Air Inc., part of William Penn Patrick's corporate empire.

Richard L. Bingham, 39, escaped from the fiery crash which killed 22 persons and injured 16 others, with only a broken arm and cuts and burns.

Officials at the Sacramento Medical Center where he was hospitalized today said he was in "satisfactory" condition.

Sgt. Ray Bryers of the homicide detail of the Sacramento Police Department confirmed today that he had interviewed Bingham about the tradedy but said the cause was still undetermined. Also assisting in the investigation are Federal Aviation Authority agents, he said.

Bingham reportedly had served as an Air Force enlisted man. He gave his occupation to Sergeant Bryers as a "pilot and aircraft mechanic."

A woman, according to United Press International, telephoned a San Francisco paper last night and identified herself as Bingham's mother, Mrs. Robert Kincaid of Palo Alto.

Mrs. Kincaid said her son had been born in Fresno and quit high school when he was 17. He joined the Air Force during the Korean War, she said, but as far as she knew, he never went overseas.

"We hadn't heard from him in two years," the woman said.

"He had a trucking business in Watsonville but he sold that two years ago in order to go into flying on a full-time basis."

"He loves flying more than anything in the world."

The plane he was flying was an old F-86 Sabrejet that had spent eight years in crates in Canada before being reconstructed early this year in Syracuse, N.Y.

The aircraft, one of several purchased by Patrick, who is a vintage plane buff, bore the cosmetic magnate's name on the nose.

Another Novato man and former Spectrum Air employee, Joe Patrick (no relation to William Penn Patrick), spent two months in New York supervising the reconstruction, according to his wife, Ann.

Joe Patrick, an ex-Air Force jet pilot, then flew the plane, described as "very hot," to California, where it has been housed in Oakland at William Penn Patrick's aircraft museum.

The plane received further repair in Oakland, and Bingham said in a recent interview that he had supervised the work. He also said he had flown the plane about 12 hours in August and this month under FAA rules.

It was not known today whether Bingham had an FAA permit to fly the plane in the air show in which he was participating.

The tragedy occurred when Bingham attempted to take off

Treaty Proposed To Curb Terror

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Secretary of State William P. Rogers today proposed a worldwide treaty that would insure universal condemnation, prosecution and extradition of international terrorists.

The emphasis of the draft treaty Rogers submitted to the General Assembly in a major policy speech was on the international nature of the crimes.

U.S. spokesmen said the treaty would outlaw such incidents as the killings at the Munich Olympic village but not such murders as those at Lod International Airport last May.

U.S. diplomats said the treaty was aimed specifically at hijackings, kidnapings of diplomats or other civilians, and the sending of explosives through the mails.

"It has nothing to do with an individual nation's internal jurisdiction," a spokesman said.

Spokesmen said it specifically deals with terrorism both outside the state of which the terrorist is a national and affecting victims who also are outside the state at which the terror is aimed.

The spokesman said the treaty therefore would apply in the case of the Munich massacre, where Arab guerrillas attacked Israeli athletes in West Germany. The same spokesmen said however that since the Japanese terrorists who killed 26 persons at Lod International Airport claimed to be working for Palestinian exiles hoping to regain what they consider their own land the treaty would not apply.

"We specifically exclude references to 'liberation' movements," the spokesman said.

U.S. diplomats said the wording was aimed at averting "the balking" of the Palestinians and other Arab bloc members.

The treaty would also set up a three-member conciliation commission to decide disputes coming under its jurisdiction and if that group, appointed by affected parties, failed to reach agreement, the U.N. secretary general would appoint a jurist to look into the case.

In his speech before the world body, Rogers also praised a pending U.N. resolution that would call for a cut off of air service to countries which refuse to extradite aircraft hijackers. A similar proposal is being considered by the U.S. Congress.

Rogers arrived Sunday night in New York, where he planned to confer over the next two weeks with 50 or more of the nearly 90 premiers and foreign ministers expected at the assembly session. The assembly voted 66-27 with 33 abstentions Saturday night to include the international terrorism issue for debate and sent it to its legal committee, comprising

Longshore Union Backs President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thomas W. Gleason, president of the 115,000-member International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), today endorsed President Nixon for re-election, reversing the union's traditional Democratic stand.

Gleason, whose union represents East and Gulf Coast longshoremen, said in remarks prepared for a news conference:

"Unfortunately, this year the Democratic party has been captured by elements whose beliefs are not ours and whose policies are alien to our own. Essentially, isolationist in outlook, they would like to see a weakened America and a retreat from world involvement."

Gleason praised Nixon for maintaining "our national power and our commitment to international obligations, while at the same time taking new initiatives to ease world tensions."

Faced with "runaway inflation" Nixon "had the courage to institute price and wage controls." Gleason said. "Although these controls have not always worked fairly, and, indeed, ILA members have lost through Federal Pay Board action...we have always felt that presidential action was necessary to halt the spiraling inflation that was punishing all American workers and consumers."

Gleason also said the ILA "is particularly familiar with his unprecedented efforts to revive the dying American merchant marine."

Nixon Urges Reform Of Monetary System

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon called today for "a thoroughgoing reform of the world monetary system" which he said was needed to permit free and open world trade in an era of international peace.

In a prepared speech to an annual meeting of top free world bankers and financiers, Nixon said the United States would drive a hard but fair bargain in negotiating new money alignments.

"There must be a thoroughgoing reform of the world monetary system, to clear the path for the health competition of the future," Nixon said.

"We must see monetary reform as one vital part of a total reform of international economic affairs, an encompassing trade and investment opportunity as well."

Nixon's speech was viewed as the keynote of the five-day conference of free world directors of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank aimed at patching up the post-World War II system of exchange rates of currencies of the world's non-Communist economic giants.

Nixon said the United States wanted to see that American workers and businessmen "have a fair chance to compete for their share of the expanding trade between nations".

"A generation ago, we deliberately set out to help our former enemies as well as our weakened allies so that they could gain the economic strength which would enable them to compete with us in world markets," he said. "Now we expect our trading partners to help bring about equal competition."

Although Nixon pledged U.S. support for monetary reform, he made it plain the U.S. would not agree to international changes that would damage this nation's domestic economy.

"We can all agree that the health of the world economy and the stability of the international economic system rest largely on the successful management of domestic economies," he said.

Some international officials, including IMF managing director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer have suggested that the United States boost its domestic interest rates to stem a flow of "hot money" from the U.S. to borrowers paying higher interest rates abroad.

The United States has resisted such suggestions, arguing that higher interest rates might abort current effort to reduce unemployment and prop up the economy.

The United States has served notice it will not support Schweitzer's re-election when his current term as head of the 124-nation IMF expires next year.

Nixon said in negotiating new alignments the United States would be guided by these principles:

"We shall press for a more equitable and open world of trade. We shall meet competition rather than run away from it. We shall be a stimulating trading partner and a straightforward bargainer. We shall not turn inward and isolationist."

But Nixon added, "in turn we shall look to our friends for evidence of similar rejection of isolationism in economic and political affairs."

Fire Is Contained In Sierra Nevada

SAN ANDREAS (UPI) — A 350-acre brush and timber fire was contained Sunday in Sierra Nevada foothills six miles northeast of the site of the "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" contest.

Dispatcher Wayne Gilstrapp of the State Division of Forestry said 300 firefighters had stopped the spread of the blaze and aerial tankers had been called off.

Vouchers Reveal Councilmen's Unpublicized Hawaiian Trips

By NELS JOHNSON

Four San Rafael city councilmen traveled to Hawaii on unpublicized official junkets costing $2,668.81 within a two-month period last fiscal year, according to financial records on file at city hall.

The city and a city-controlled agency picked up the tab for the junkets, the records assert.

News of the trips came to light when the Independent-Journal examined "cash revolving account" vouchers filed with the city's finance department and expense vouchers of the San Rafael Sanitation District filed in the public works department.

No mention of the trips is made in minutes of last fiscal year's city council meetings.

Participating in the junkets was Councilman Harry A. Barbier, who charged the San Rafael Sanitation Districl $560.15 for airfare and expenses incurred while attending the 44th annual conference of the Water Pollution Control Federation in Honolulu Oct. 9 through 14.

Barbier, a San Rafael Sanitation District director, said he had "no comment whatsoever" on his Hawaii trip or on those of other councilmen.

The Barbier trip was followed by a trip to Honolulu by Mayor C. Paul Bettini and councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Lawrence F. Mulryan, who attended the 48th annual Congress of the National League of Cities Nov. 28 through Dec. 2.

In addition to a $360 registration fee apparently paid to cover four council representatives at the Hawaii conference, Bettini and Mulryan each charged the city $557.72 in expenses, while Jensen logged a $633.22 expense.

The trio said they had no misgivings about making the League trip, and asserted no attempt was made to conceal news of the event.

Councilman John A. Miskimen, however, said the council "wasn't particularly advertising the trip."

Originally, all five council members had planned to attend the League conference, according to reservation documents retained by the city manager's office. Councilman Miskimen dropped out of the junket, however, and Councilman Barbier decided to represent the sanitation district at the pollution conference in an effort to "spread the costs out among

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Pilots Still In Hanoi

TOKYO (UPI)—Three U.S. pilots freed from prison in North Vietnam do not want to fly home with American military escorts, the Vietnam News Agency said today.

A VNA news dispatch from Hanoi monitored in Tokyo said that the pilots sent separate cables to President Nixon Saturday requesting that U.S. authorities refrain from interfering with their trip home.

The pilots were Maj. Edward K. Elias, of Valdosta, Ga., Navy Lt. (jg) Markham L. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., and Navy Lt. (jg) Norris A. Charles of San Diego, Calif. They were released May 17 to the American antiwar group now on a visit to North Vietnam.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird accused Hanoi of making "propaganda tools" of the pilots and their relatives in the North Vietnamese capital. Noting that North Vietnamese officials three weeks ago promised to release the three pilots, Laird said the Communists were still making the men "parade around" Hanoi and "they are even using the families of these prisoners of war as propaganda tools at this particular time."

China-Japan Talks Start

PEKING (UPI)—China and Japan in their first formal talks since World War II discussed normalizing Sino-Japanese relations today in a session described by Japanese officials as "surprisingly frank and very useful."

Chief Japanese Cabinet Secretary Susumu Nikaido said after the hour-and-40-minute meeting between Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka in Peking's Great Hall of the People that the discussions would produce "successful results." He did not elaborate.

Tanaka, who fought in China 35 years ago as a Japanese soldier, arrived in Peking today and was greeted by Chou in a friendly but formal reception at Peking Airport. There was an honor guard to greet Tanaka, but no members of the diplomatic corps were present.

Belfast Hotel Damaged

No casualties were reported in the blast, which reduced the hotel's newly opened ground floor reception area to what was termed "a complete demolition job".

The explosion in the hotel's underground garage came only hours after the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) said it would continue its Northern Ireland bombing campaign despite political talks in England on the province's future.

Soldiers Hurt In Crash

SCHWEINFURT, Germany (UPI)—A troop train loaded with American troops and tanks was shunted accidentally today onto a set of deadend tracks and crashed through the barrier at the end, injuring 18 soldiers, police reported.

Police said 18 of the 154 soldiers aboard the train were detained in hospital with injuries, four of them in serious condition.

An Army spokesman confirmed the accident but could give no immediate details.

Nixon's Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon plans to campaign for re-election on both coasts this week in an acceleration of his political activity.

Tomorrow, Nixon goes to New York to dedicate the opening of the American Museum of Immigration at the base of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. The ceremony is part of a National Parks Centennial celebration.

Later in the day he plans to address a Republican "Victory '72" fund-raising dinner in Manhattan.

On Wednesday, the President flies to California for GOP fund-raising dinners in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He plans to return to the White House Thursday.

Blast Injures Eight

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—At least eight persons were injured today, three of them critically, when two huge gasoline storage tanks exploded in roaring flames at the TriCommunity Shell storage yard.

Listed in critical condition at Erlanger Hospital were Alfred Hodge, 38, an employe of the nearby Firestone Latex Co., and two Ringgold, Ga., men, Don Ross and Paul Henley.

The exploding tanks were believed to belong to the Southern Facilities Oil Co., one of several firms storing gasoline in the huge yard bristling with tanks.

Parenthood Classes Set For Teen-agers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) has announced a national project to start parenthood education classes for 500,000 teen-agers in 500 school districts by September, 1973.

HEW spokesmen said Sunday curriculum materials are being prepared by Education Development Center of Cambridge, Mass., with a $570,000 grant from HEW's Office of Child Development.

The materials will be tested this school year at five still undetermined public schools and at one center sponsored by a voluntary organization.

53 Arrested So Far In Philippines

MANILA (UPI)—Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad said today that 53 persons including senators, congressmen, governors and publishers had been arrested since President Ferdinand E. Marcos put the Philippines under martial law.

Tatad told a news conference the arrests were carried out under Marcos' proclamation Saturday announcing a national emergency as part of what the government called a crackdown against Communist conspirators, gun runners, smugglers and "other criminal activities."

Marcos was to make a speech later today.

Those arrested include opposition party Sens. Benigno S. Aquino Jr., and Ramon Mitra and independent Sen. Jose W. Diokno. Others were Congressmen Roque Ablan, Rafael Aquino and David Puzon, all of them members of the ruling Nacionalista Party, Govs. Lino Bocalan and Rolando Puzon, both Nacionalista party members and Manila Times Publisher Joaquin P. Roces Jr. and Free Press magazine Publisher Teodoro Locson.

Three Constitutional Convention delegates including convention Vice President Napoleon Rama, at least six newsmen and five other persons also were arrested, Tatad said.

Of those under detention, Sen. Aquino, Congressman Ablan and publisher Roces are the best known internationally. Aquino has been a leading Marcos critic. Ablan, regarded as a Marcos friend, is the chairman of the Philippine Tourist and Travel Association and past president of the Pacific Area Travel Association (PATA). Roces publishes the Philippines' largest newspaper and has been active internationally in the international press institute, a watchdog on press freedom.

All but four of the 53 remained under detention today. They are living in "comfortable quarters" and permitted to be visited by relatives, Tatad said. He said the four persons who were released were set free because of "mistaken identity."

Tatad made clear not all of those arrested were suspected of antigovernment activities. He said some of them were taken "under protective custody" either because they had been threatened with death by the communists or their presence in their homes or offices "might permit them to be involved in certain activities that would aggravate the situation."

He declined to comment on what specific charges would be brought against those who were arrested or what kind of tribunal would try them.

Reviewing the overall national security situation Tatad said military authorities reported no incidents throughout the country after two days of martial law.

CLIMBER NEAL OLSON

Yosemite Climber Saved: Leg Broken

YOSEMITE, Calif. (UPI)— Sandy-haired Neal Olson, 24, said after his rescue Sunday that dangling from the 2,300-foot level of El Capitan monolith with a broken leg "wasn't so bad to me."

"People are making more out of it than it really is," the young mountaineer said from his hospital bed.

Olson, Portland, Ore., was struck by a boulder Swurday morning while scaling the popular "nose route" of the sheer rock in Yosemite National Park with a hometown partner, Wayne Haack, 24.

Four volunteer rescuers, three men and a woman, used a hand winch Sunday to lower Olson, who was 900-feet from completing his week-long climb, to the Yosemite Valley floor.

Olson said he was two steps from a ledge where the climbers camped Friday night "when a big boulder became detached from the wall."

"I straddled it, but it came off, glanced off my head and back and hit my right leg," said Olson.

Debris from the accident showered two other climbers on a lower edge, Mark Hamond, 28, Fresno and Michael Dent, 27, Los Angeles. They were told of the injury and grappled down the majestic rock to seek help.

The rescuers—Beverly Johnson, Jim Bridwell, John Bragg and Rik Reider—were ferried to the top of El Capitan Saturday by helicopter. They lowered themselves to a ledge above the injured climber and spent the night on the face after cloudy weather blotted out an attempt to lower Olson by the light of a full moon.

Sunday, the rescue team put splints on Olson's broken leg, gave him medication to ease the pain, and lowered him to the valley floor with nylon ropes.

The red-bearded Olson said later at the park's Lewis Memorial Hospital that he had climbed other rocks in Yosemite, but that it was his first try at conquering 3,200-foot El Capitan. The route he chose was first scaled in 1958 by Warren Harding and by about 40 others since.

He'll spend a few days in the hospital but considered himself lucky to have escaped with only a broken leg.

"I think if I had jumped from the ledge to get out of the way the rock could have chopped my rope," he said. "I was tied in at the time."

Mayor Wants Birds Back On The River

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Frank Rizzo, the 6-2, 250-pound ex-cop who became mayor of Philadelphia last year, has a fondness for swans and geese.

If some city officials think the mayor's prediliction a bit funny, they aren't laughing out loud. The director of the city's Fairmount Park for one, is taking the mayor very seriously.

Rizzo told park director Robert McConnell he wanted to see the birds back on the Schuylkill River. He said he was unhappy when they disappeared six years ago after an epidemic of food poisoning.

The mayor has ordered city park workers to provide a daily ration of grain for the geese and to set up old tires along the river for nests.

"I read in a wildlife book once that geese like tires for nests," Rizzo said. "These geese are reproducing all over the place."

School Strike Issues Shift To Courts

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The focus in two major strikes which have closed schoolroom doors to more than 400,000 children shifted today to courts which were being asked to require striking teachers to return to work.

In the 285,000-student Philadelphia school system, where teachers' strike entered its fourth week Sunday, both sides adjourned negotiations to await action on two suits, one filed by an irate parent.

In Washington, D.C., hearings on a proposed contempt action in a strike affecting 148,000 children were to resume today in U.S. District Court.

The first of two suits to end the Philadelphia strike will be heard Tuesday in Common Pleas Court. It was filed by Joseph Fineman, a lawyer with two children in public schools.

"If I'm not going to do it, who is?" asked Fineman. "I'm a product of the public schools. I've got kids in school and I don't want to see them stay closed.

"I think we've got a pretty good argument. All we want to do is to get the teachers back in school and the pupils learning."

Both the 13,000 striking teachers, who are seeking a 34 per cent raise, and the School Board, which has offered a 4 per cent increase, said they would oppose the class-action suit.

The second suit, filed by Community Legal Services, will be heard later in the week.

In the nation's capital, school authorities hoped to resume classes today, although unionized teachers vowed they would not return to work. The school board decided late Sunday night to take their case out on the hands of city attorneys who had been pressing for a contempt citation which the board feared might "escalate" the strike situation.

Acting Howard University Law Dean Herbert O. Reid was chosen to represent the board in further court proceedings.

At a rally Sunday night, union leaders urged the teachers to stay out because talks with the school board and city officials made "no progress" over the weekend.

Negotiations in Washington centered on salaries and class size. A raise for the teachers is tied up in a congressional committee, which has power over the capital, in a liberal-conservative home rule fight.

In western Pennsylvania, the Allegheny County Bomb and Arson Squad was investigating fires at two schools where teachers are on strike.

Police believe both were set by arsonists. One fire Saturday night caused more than $1 million damage to Cornell Senior High School. The other fire, at Scott High School, caused $150,000 damage Friday.

Elsewhere in Pennsylvania, strikes in nearly a dozen school districts affected about 35,000 children.

Allies Pushing To Clear Highway 1 Before Rains

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied forces killed more than 150 Communists in central coast fighting and began a push to clear vital Highway 1 before the approaching rainy season cuts off key government outposts from resupply, field reports said today.

A U.S. Air Force C130 transport plane tried to parachute supplies today to one threatened outpost at Ba To, about 320 miles northeast of Saigon, but winds carried the cargo behind Communist lines, the reports said. But allied fighter-bombers were credited with killing 35 Communist troops and knocking out five mortar and two antiaircraft positions outside the camp.

U.S. military sources said today American jets caught Communist units trying to move heavy 130mm artillery pieces to high ground Sunday in an attempt to shell reoccupied Quang Tri City and destroyed at least six of the big guns. One source said the U.S. airmen had advance word of the Communist move from prisoner interrogation and "other information. We were ready for them."

Most of the central coast action centered in Quang Ngai Province where Ba To is located, but other weekend battles also erupted in Quang Tin to the north and Binh Dinh to the south, allied military communiques reported.

Heavy monsoon weather Sunday limited the United States to only 140 air strikes over North Vietnam, military spokesmen said, with all of the raids carried out in the lower panhandle region. With monsoon rains only two weeks away along South Vietnam's central coast, the South Vietnamese were trying to push Communist units away from bases along Highway 1 and get them fully resupplied before the rains begin.

Territory occupied by the North Vietnamese when the monsoons begin will be difficult to recapture, sources said.

U.S. command spokesmen said Sunday's raids into the North cut a fuel pipeline about 34 miles above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams while other strikes knocked out seven bridges in the same area.

The U.S. jets struck Sunday as the Communists were moving toward high ground north of the Ba Long Valley between Quang Tri City, 404 miles north of Saigon, and the former U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh to the west.

The 130mm guns are the heaviest in the North Vietnamese arsenel and can fire a 73-pound shell 17 miles. They require a six-man crew and can fire five to six rounds per minute.

To the south, government forces Sunday turned back a stepped-up Communist drive that ranged into three adjoining provinces of the north-central coast, field reports and military spokesmen said.

In the heaviest attack, hundreds of Communists with amphibous tanks and 130mm guns assaulted a hill near Tien Phuoc, 330 miles north of Saigon.

In Quang Ngai, the next province to the south, Communist troops also attacked the militia outpost at Hoa Thanh, in neighboring Quang Ngai province and a mile south of the Duc Pho district capital. U.S. planes and ships of the 7th Fleet provided support to help drive off the attack.

The South Vietnamese command said the North Vietnamese lost 10 men killed; the South Vietnamese reported no casualties.

We have a favorite anecdote from a national magazine about the Veterinarian who was treating a very sick puppy. But its little owner was an unusually healthy child. The doctor discovered why: The little lad was feeding his pup his own highly sweetened, refined cereal and he was eating the dog's food!

Pet food labels reveal an impressive list of ingredients. Some folks find, though, that sensitive animals have uncomfortable reactions to the synthetic additives involved. So - we've had a research project going. Result: the discovery of a line that seems to be a great success. It's called "Foods of Nature Pet Food." There's a beef dinner, also ones featuring fish and kidney. They're combined with vegetables, soy grits, wheat germ, whey, dried yeast and no other additives. Of course the proof of the "pudding" will be in the eating. Our pets say it's right on!

Novatan To Resign ABAG Directorship

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — J. Julien Baget of Novato has announced his resignation as executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Baget said his resignation will be effective next March 31, explaining he had given advance notice "in the interest of an orderly transition."

The 58-year-old former Novato city manager was hired by ABAG as its top executive four years ago at an annual salary of $24,150. His current salary is $29,700.

He told the Independent-Journal he had "several options open" after next March, but that he had not yet decided which to take. He declined to elaborate.

Baget said he had been hired to help ABAG recover from the theft of its funds by its former assistant director, and that this had been completed.

Schools, Churches Receive Most Of Tax Exemptions

Marin County educational institutions and churches hold the lion's share of property granted tax exemptions for fiscal 1972-73, the State Board of Equalization reported today.

Property assessed at a total of $20,633,000 has been granted tax exemption in Marin, Bennett said. Of this, $4,159,000 is held by schools other than colleges; $5,350,000 by colleges and $4,742,000 by churches.

Veterans received exemptions on only $983,000 in assessed valuations, largely because most homes in Marin County exceed the exemption limit of $10,000 assessed valuation allowed to veterans.

Exemptions granted all other Marin County nonprofit institutions, ranging from incorporated little theater groups and charities to humane societies, total $5,120,000 in assessed valuation, according to Bennett.

The statewide total of tax exempt property is $1,976,358. Church exemptions, at $487,283,000, are the largest single category.

Temblors Hit Prior To Earthquake Parley

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—A series of small temblors cracked pavements and shook residents in the Monterey Bay Area just prior to a weekend meeting of earthquake experts to discuss geological hazards.

Four quakes, measuring between 3.5 and 4.0 on the Richter Scale, swayed tall buildings in nearby Salinas.

Mrs. Raleigh Alston said her garage's concrete floor cracked.

The earthquake experts met a few hours after the Saturday morning quakes to talk about seismic dangers with the Northern California chapter of the American Institute of Planners.

Corte Madera Hires Plan Consultants

Corte Madera town councilmen, acting as the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency, voted 5-0 Saturday to hire consultants Sedway and Cooke to plan redevelopment and to update the town's general plan.

The councilmen set maximums of $35,000 on the consultants' contract for the redevelopment agency task, and of $10,000 for the general plan revisions and the necessary publications, according to Mayor Holmes S. Norville.

Saturday's session was called to have the consultants present more detail on their proposed project. The approval came after a 90-minute description, Norville reported.

The redevelopment planning will include seven phases — initial review and preparation of base maps, analysis of land capabilities and open space values; analyses of housing, public services, transportation, commerce and industry, and a wrapup of miscellaneous planning needed for redevelopment.

A principal function of the redevelopment project would to be finance development of a major regional shopping center east of Highway 101.

Animal Oscar Award Goes To Ben The Rat

VALENCIA, Calif. (UPI)— The "Patsy," the equivalent of an Oscar for the animals of show business, was awarded Sunday by the American Humane Association.

The winner was Ben, the rat who starred in the movie "Willard."

He beat three horses, a goose, eight dogs, an eagle, two cats, a racoon, four chimps, a cougar and a duck.

GOP, Demos Argue 'Riot' Plans

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Democrats and Republicans were at odds today over whether local McGovern headquarters helped organizers of an anti-Nixon demonstration that the GOP claimed could start "a riot" when the President arrives Wednesday.

Democratic spokesmen said they did no such thing, but conceded that the organizers of the demonstration had been allowed to use the telephones at McGovern headquarters.

A Republican representative said he had evidence of a "huge number" of calls made on phones at the McGovern office to organize a crowd of "people who have a record of burning the American flag, carrying the Viet Cong flag and have arrest records for causing previous demonstrations.

"These aren't the kind of people who are interested in a political campaign, they are interested in starting a riot," said Jack Easton, communications chairman for the California Committee to Re-elect the President.

Nixon is scheduled to address a $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Century Plaza Hotel Wednesday night. A coalition of antiwar groups has announced plans for a demonstration against him.

The "Century Plaza Reception Committee" said they expect more than 20,000 demonstrators. Police officials say they have estimates ranging from that figure down to 1,000.

A spokesman for the local McGovern campaign, Tom Sullivan, said "no one in our campaign has endorsed or actively organized" the demonstration. Press aide Fred Epstein conceded earlier that "a handful" of demonstration organizers had used telephones at McGovern headquarters here for two nights, but said the practice was stopped.

"The fact that it was stopped indicates the limited extent of our support," Epstein said.

"We don't know who authorized them," Sullivan said. "It is not our policy to endorse or participate in anything other than the McGovern campaign," he said. "We certainly hope there is no violence."

Frank Mankiewicz, one of the Democratic nominee's chief advisers, said in Montana, where McGovern is campaigning that "If seven of my employes had been indicted for burglary, I'd try diversionary tactics too," referring to indictments in the alleged bugging of Democratic headquarters in Washington.

Gordon C. Luce, vice chairman of the local Nixon committee, telegraphed McGovern "formally requesting that your campaign post a $1 million bond with a disinterested third party...to reimburse innocent third persons who suffer bodily injury or property loss as a result of a demonstration planned by your supporters...during scheduled appearance of President Nixon in Los Angeles."

Mankiewicz replied that "There are paid Nixon bigots at every stop we make. We don't ask for a bond from the Republicans for them."

Easton said he was not accusing the Democrats themselves of planning to start a riot, but of letting their facilities be used by "people who have a record of starting violence."

A police spokesman said "We will have sufficient policemen present to handle any eventuality in a professional manner."

Three Charges For Petaluman

Johnny Miller Portes, 22, of 322 Post Street, Petaluma, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possession of stolen property, impersonating a police officer and carrying a concealed, loaded weapon.

Portes was released on his own recognizance by Southern Sonoma Municipal Court Judge Alexander J. McMahon, and scheduled for arraignment today.

Officers stopped Portes at 3 a.m. Saturday for a traffic offense and questioned him about loose clothing and household items in his car. They said Portes produced an identification card and said he was with the San Francisco Police Department on special assignment in Petaluma. Officers said the identification card had been reported stolen.

Robbers Get $679 At Novato Motel

Two armed young men robbed employees of Mission Lodge motel office in Novato of $679 last night after tying and gagging three persons.

Novato police said the two men, armed with a "cut-off rifle," or shotgun, entered the motel of 7299 Redwood Highway at 8:15 p.m.

They taped the hands, feet and mouths of Eugene R. Busig, 46, and Inge K. Busig, 44, hotel managers, and Elizabeth Kehle, 61, Mrs. Busig's mother, after ordering them to lie down on the floor of the manager's apartment off the office, police said.

Mrs. Busig said the two men entered the office and one asked for a room. As he began to register, his companion displayed the weapon and ordered her to the apartment where her husband and mother were, police said.

Officers said the bound victims weren't able to telephone for help until about 15 minutes after the two men left.

The two men wearing green Army jackets and jeans reportedly were driving a pickup truck with a camper top, police said. The robbers were described as being in their twenties, one with blond hair and the other with dark wavy hair.

TRIP

taxing agencies," according to Mayor Bettini.

The total cost to the city for the three council representatives in Hawaii was $2,108.66, according to revolving account vouchers. There is apparently no record that any of the initial $360 registration fee for four was refunded, although registration per councilman for the conference was $90 and only three attended at city expense.

Sanitation district board meeting minutes make no mention of the Barbier Hawaii trip. The pollution conference was adjourned from San Francisco to Honolulu, according to board secretary Virginia Congdon, who did not know if director Barbier had attended the local portion of the conference.

"When board members attend a conference, it is usually brought up at a meeting," Mrs. Congdon said, adding that the board sometimes discusses travel expenses after a meeting is adjourned. The sanitation boardbudgeted $2,850 for "miscellaneous conferences" last fiscal year and spent $2,643 of the sum, she said.

Mention of the League junket is similarly lacking in city council meeting minutes for last fiscal year, though the conference is lumped with other meetings as a budget expense. Some $3,500 was budgeted for council travel in 1971-72, with $3,527 spent, according to Finance Director John B. Averett. Some $4,000 is budgeted for travel costs this fiscal year.

Mayor Bettini, noting the lack of public mention of the trip at the time it occurred, said such junkets generally aren't brought up at council meetings.

He said it was the council's privilege and responsibility to attend the Hawaii conference. More than 3,000 representatives from cities across the nation attended the meeting, he said, adding that officials from Novato had also been present.

"We're not on the gravy train," the mayor said, adding that the council was concerned about the total expense of the trip. He said that as mayor, he had no authority to preclude any councilman from going along on the trip. "It's a matter of individual choice," he said.

Bettini said that he and Mulryan had travelled tourist class and brought along bag lunches to cut down on the total expense.

Both Bettini and Mulryan said that San Rafael's involvement in redevelopment was a direct result of the Hawaii conference, which focused on the capacity of the city to cope with urban problems. The council also learned of various federal funding programs available to San Rafael, according to Mulryan.

Councilman Jensen called the trip educational, saying he had attended meetings "morning noon and night. The people got their money's worth."

City Mgr. James H. McCown said the Hawaii junket was a normal function of the council and declared that "the fact that they were near is the reason they went."

McCown said there was no publicity surrounding the trip, because the expense had been budgeted. "Usually three or four officials will attend a conference like this," he said.

Councilman Miskimen said that although it was important for San Rafael to be represented at the conference, "how many should go is a good question."

The councilman said he was surprised at the lack of coverage of the trip.

Moratorium On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo City Council will consider a moratorium on rezoning and development when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The measure, approved by the planning commission, would prohibit any use or rezoning which may be in conflict with contemplated zoning proposals and general plan revisions.

The council will also consider an appeal of planning commission denial of a proposed lot split on property owned by city engineer Charles R. Leitzell.

experts on international law, for preliminary consideration.

Diplomats feared, however, that a Saudi Arabian amendment credited with gaining the lopsided vote for assembly debate on the proposal— introduced personally by U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim—had clouded the issue beyond any hope of effective assembly action against terrorism.

The Saudi amendment called for a U.N. study of the "underlying causes of those forms of terrorism and acts of violence which lie in misery, frustration, grievance and despair." The diplomatic fear was that this would open the way for the introduction of so many extraneous debating points that it would emasculate the item as submitted by Waldheim.

U.S. sources said in discussing terrorism, Rogers would underscore violence in Latin America as well as that arising from the troubled Middle East.

PILOT

after showing the Korean War era plane in the Golden West Air Show in Sacramento, a two-day event sponsored by the local 20-30 Club.

(William Penn Patrick, whose fortune comes from Holiday Magic Inc. and other enterprises, is also an Air Force veteran and occasionally flies one of his vintage aircraft. He also sometimes exhibits the planes in shows, which was the case yesterday.)

Spectrum Air was founded, Patrick once told the Independent-Journal because of his love of planes. The company, headquartered at Gnoss Field, provides pilot training and aircraft sales and service.

A company employee who answered the phone at the firm today said "all the management" was in a meeting and unavailable for comment.

Another air accident involving a Spectrum Air plane resulted last week in a $865,000 judgment against the firm.

A jury in San Francisco Superior Court awarded the sum to the family of Los Ranchitos attorney Steven J. Dedina III, who was killed when his light plane crashed into a Peacock Gap hillside in 1970.

Attorneys for Dedina's widow, Sandra, and his four children, charged that faulty and negligent repairs made by the aircraft firm were responsible for the crash, which occurred three minutes after Dedina took off from the Smith Ranch airstrip.

Uplands Design Before Board

Corte Madera Board of Design will take another look at plans for 168 units to complete the Uplands complex on Paradise Drive at its meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

At its Sept. 5 meeting, the board sent the plans back to the applicants, D. R. Coldoff, Willis and Associates Inc., saying the 72 condominiums and 96 townhouses looked like "a mass of wood" in the western portion of the 16 acre site.

Board members also questionedthe three-story heights of the buildings and said the site appeared crowded.

Also before the board will be design review applications for a planned unit development at 200 Tamal Vista, and for 78 dwelling units at 66 Tamal Vista.

CRASH

from the doorways. One girl, Christie Kiehn, 12, Stockton, Calif., said she helped a friend get out safely and tried to return but couldn't.

"I climbed over all sorts of stuff, maybe some of it was bodies," said the girl, whose father, Rubin Bacci, 35, was among those missing. One 10-year-old boy, Steve Martin, Sacramento, was later found safely crouched under a table in the party room.

Roger Lindberg, a newscaster for Sacramento station KXTV, said he witnessed the crash when he was leaving the air show.

"There was a power failure," he said. "The pilot dropped back to the runway, hit his brakes, then flipped up like a catapult onto Freeport Boulevard where the plane exploded into a ball of fire and cartwheeled into Farrell's."

"The heat was terrific. It was terribly smoky," said Sacramento Fire Chief Winston Wilson.

One eyewitness said: "As far as I'm concerned this should be the end of air shows," referring to the death of a pilot last Sunday in a crash at the National Air Races in Reno, Nev.

In June, 1970, four pilots flying World War II planes died in two separate collisions during a vintage air race at Cape May County Airport, N.J. In the worst of two crashes at the 1965 Paris air show an Italian training jet crashed into a parking area, killing the pilot and seven visitors.

Mill Valley Fire Station Site Urged

A site selection committee has recommended that the new fire station in East Mill Valley be built on a triangular-shaped parcel at the intersection of Roque Moraes and an extension of Sycamore Avenue, just south of the last house in Enchanted Knolls.

The commitea chose the site over three others considered because it is moderately sloped and would not require extensive grading. The other sites, said the report, were on filled marshland which would require costly foundation work.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will receive and consider the site selection report at its meeting at 8 p.m. today.

The selection committee — which consisted of the fire chief, city engineer, parks and recreation director and planning director — envisions a further extension of Sycamore Avenue across Upper Richardson Bay, connecting Camino Alto to Highway 101.

The proposed site, said the report, would provide the fire department with good access to such areas in East Mill Valley as Enchanted Knolls, Shelter Ridge, Alto, Highway 101, and Scott Valley.

The station will be constructed with money acquired from the sale of $275,000 worth of bonds authorized by the voters of Mill Valley in April.

The committee said that natural screening and additional shrubbery will insulate the activites of the fire department from the residential area of Enchanted Knolls, just north of the station.

Grass Fire Near Homes Stopped

A brush and grass fire burned right to the backyards of several homes in Santa Venetia yesterday, but was contained before it did any damage other than burning 10 acres.

Three California Division of Forestry chemical retardent planes, fifty firemen from nine departments and two bulldozers fought the fire.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started at 2:35 p.m. and was contained about two and one half hours later.

The Marin County Fire Department responded initially and summoned mutual aid from surrounding communities. Thirty-four firemen from numerous departments responded with 18 others put on stand-by.

Good Investment

Home improvement can be a worthwhile investment. Not only do you increase the value of your house, but by modernizing the heating system, you can save up to 25 per cent in fuel cost.

'HAPPY PLACE' BECOMES INFERNO

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Twelve-year-old Christie Kiehn and her family were digging into an exotic, mountainous ice cream treat called a "Zoo" when "something crashed right behind us and people began screaming."

"I thought it was just another gimmick," Christie said, referring to the fanfare and frills that accompany the many sumptuous dishes served at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor, knicknamed "The Happy Place."

Instead, it was a jet fighter which slammed into the parlor, turning it into an inferno and killing 22 persons.

"The wood poles started breaking and everything started floating all over the place," Christie said. "All the tables went on everybody. The whole place came in."

She grabbed Kerri Francis, a 3-year-old youngster traveling with the family, and crawled through the burning rubble to safety. She tried to return for Kerri's twin, Kristi, but couldn't.

"I climbed over all sorts of stuff, maybe some of it was bodies," the girl said.

It was a cloudless Sunday afternoon and many families had gone to the ice cream parlor for birthday celebrations. The Sacramento 49ers, a Little League football team, was having a party at the time.

Wearing a straw hat and a gay nineties uniform, employe Don McClusky was filling a salt shaker when the F86 Korean War-vintage plane crashed into the Howard Hughes Room of the establishment.

At first he tried to put the raging fire out with extinguishers. But he quickly gave it up.

"There was no way to help them," he said. "It was mass confusion. I smashed out a window and hauled about five or six people out, but then the heat was too intense and I couldn't get back in."

Linda Fourby, 17, Sacramento, was riding past in a car that was missed by the plane by about 100 feet.

"A friend of mine said, 'Oh! Look at the plane!' We slammed on the brakes. I looked up just in time to see the tail like a speeding ball of fire going right into Farrell's, she said.

"People were saying, 'Get out! Get out! Where's my kids?' Everybody was trying to help everybody."

"The heat was terrific, it was terribly smokey and we didn't have good visibility," said Sacramento City Fire Chief Winston Wilson.

"When they (the bodies) came out they all looked like all the kids you know."

For Christie the mishap was a family tragedy. Her step father, Rubin Bacci, 35, was missing, along with the second twin. Her mother, Joan, 29, and the rest of the family—three boys and a girl—were hospitalized.

Yosemite Brush Fire Contained

A spokesman for the U. S. Forest Service said some of the firefighters would remain to conduct mop-up operations.

The fire broke out Friday in an abandoned mine working and spread through rugged Merced River Canyon about four miles west of the main entrance to the park in Stanislaus National Forest.

Field-Trip Policy May Be Formulated

Lagunitas School District trustees will be asked to set a policy on student field trips and to consider reactivation of the district's citizens' finance committee at their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in San Geronimo Valley School.

Trustees also will receive a report on a fire that gutted the district's multimedia center earlier this month.

Planners Will Consider Policy

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a development policy for the south side of Novato Boulevard between St. Paul Circle and Diablo Avenue when it meets at 8 p.m. today at the community house.

As proposed, medium-density apartments would be allowed, with the Warner Creek area as a linear park accessible to pedestrians and bicycles. The area is now composed mainly of single-family detached homes.

Commissioners also will review plans by Robert L. Goetz for 38 townhouse units, west of Highway 101 and north of the crossroads project.

Language School Picnic Is Saturday

The German Language School of Marin will hold its fifth annual public picnic at noon Saturday in San Rafael's Gerstle Park.

Proceeds will benefit operation of the school, which holds classes at Oliver R. Hartzell School in San Rafael.

Two Women Receive Ph. D.s In Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI)—Two female university lecturers Sunday became Thailand's first locally trained Ph.D.s.

Mrs. Chaufah Thongthai and Miss Chaweewan Koonkhamlert, both 29, each received a doctor of philosophy degree in microbiology from Mahidol University in Bangkok. The degrees were conferred by King Bhumibol Adulyadej.

Canon Village Plan On Agenda

Fairfax planning commissioners will review a tentative subdivision map and precise development plan for the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club at their meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the women's club.

The 89-acre development is embroiled in legal action, with the commission facing a superior court order to approve the subdivision map or show cause why it should not be done.

Owners Robert D. Marshall and Denkmann and Co. seek approval for 128 dwellings on the property, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Oak Manor Drive. The developers filed suit Sept. 6, contending that action on the map had been delayed illegally past the 30-day deadline provided in city ordinances. The map was filed July 17.

The commission also will hear an application by Family Mix of Marin to operate a free medical clinic two nights a week in the Fairfax Community Church.

Two State Bond Issues Both Needed

As usual in California elections, voters will be faced with a long and confusing list of propositions when they go to the polls Nov. 7.

Also as usual, these include state bond issues.

Propositions 1 and 2 on the ballot will call for approval of new bond issues.

PROPOSITION 1 calls for a $160 million issue to help finance site acquisition and buildings for California's community colleges.

The ommunity colleges — as Marinites must be well aware by this time — are in about the same position today as were elementary schools between 10 and 20 years ago. That is, their student populations are growing faster than facilities can be provided. This has resulted in increasing tax rates, crowded campuses, and fiscal headaches.

The squeeze comes about not only because children of the "baby boom" high-birth-rate years are now reaching college age. Adding to the community colleges' problems, University of California and the state colleges-universities continue to tighten entrance requirements, forcing more and more of those who want to continue their education onto the locally supported community colleges.

The $160 million bond issue would continue, and expand, state assistance to community college districts begun a decade ago. Up to now, $135 million in state bonds have been used to assist community colleges in meeting their increased enrollments. College of Marin has shared in this.

Since the squeeze on these local colleges is increasing rather than decreasing, and since they are forced to take high school graduates from throughout the state, it seems fair that statewide financing should assist them.

The Independent-Journal will support Proposition 1.

PROPOSITION 2 calls for a $155,900,000 bond issue to provide health science facilities. (Why this one wasn't rounded off to an even $160 million also escapes us; perhaps the sponsors were using the "$1.98 sounds cheaper than $2" approach.)

These bonds would finance new buildings and equipment on University of California campuses for medical schools, public health courses, pharmacy, dentistry, optometry, nursing and veterinary medicine.

The issue has been endorsed by the California Medical Association as needed to meet the increasing demand for people in the health fields.

Two years ago last June, a $246.3 million issue for the same purpose was defeated at the polls. The Independent-Journal endorsed that one. The presently proposed issue is smaller; the need is no less — in fact, probably greater.

The Independent-Journal will support Proposition 2.

Every Month Of The Year

Marin's gardeners are lucky. If they are flower lovers, they can easily plan things so flowers are blooming in their gardens every month of the year. In November, when the fall flowers are dying off, the roses are bedraggled, the fuchsias fading and the chrysanthemums just past their prime, the spring narcissus begin to bloom, starting the train of spring flowers that bloom throught the winter.

GAME OF BRINKMANSHIP?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Sausalito City Council is engaged in a hazardous game of brinkmanship with the Golden Gate Bridge District over the ferry terminal the district plans on the downtown waterfront.

The council knows the district has the power to condemn whatever it needs for the terminal, but has its head so deep in cobwebs it seems content to forget this power.

The council already has burned up five months since the district sent its plan for the $1.7 million terminal to the city for its reaction. Mayor Robin Sweeney acknowledged the district has to get approval from the council by November so construction can start early next year.

But judging from the council's inability last Monday night to grapple with a decision on the terminal, meeting that deadline may be impossible.

AT THIS RATE, it is almost certain the alternatives available to the bridge district will be to either abandon the plan or exercise its considerable legal muscle to force the city to accept the terminal.

With Sausalito a key to the district's $24 million ferry system, we doubt the bridge board will hesitate to move against the city: The city's parochial interests cannot interfere with the public transportation needs of the general public, the bridge board could argue — doubtless a persuasive point in court.

We were especially surprised to hear Mayor Sweeny argue there were "all kinds of study that we need to do" to plan the entire waterfront before deciding what to do about the ferry terminal. The city has spent too many years and tax dollars on waterfront plans to hide behind this excuse.

Only Councilman Stephen Fraser saw the issue clearly to comment, "I hesitate to push these guys too far." He could see that if the city pushes too hard, it — not the bridge district — could be the one to go over the brink.

SUPERVISORIAL candidate Michael R. Peevey has formed something called the Bipartisan Better Government Committee for Mike Peevey.

Supervisors are nonpartisan under California law, but somehow it is no secret that Peevey is a Democrat and his opponent, Gary T. Giacomini, a Republican.

The least surprising name on the committee's roster was Charles Smith, president of the Marin County Labor Council. Peevey, after all, is an official with the AFL-CIO.

Far more significant were the names of Paul R. Haerle, Gov. Ronald Reagan's former appointments secretary and secretary of the Republican State Central Committee; Rodgers Broomhead, past chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee; John F. Fiorito Jr., president of the Marin Republican Council, and Betty Gardner, a member of the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

'Boxer Rebellion' Title For Campaign

"Boxer Rebellion." What a great title for a campaign!!

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, the Boxer Rebellion was ". . .a blind attempt, largely popular but sanctioned by the extremists. . ." Then, and now?

Speaking of Barbara Boxer, I keep hearing of what she will do. Perhaps she should "do" more things for Marin and learn more about Marin and live here longer to get the feel of Marin. Her ideas may be great, but let's wait.

Being a native, I'm very anxious to keep Marin as Marin.

Social Service Agency Should Be Unsuspicious

I find it very sad that the only daily newspaper in Marin County would sink so low as to print the story of Marlene Freedman's account of the ready availability of food stamps to the hungry and the needy, especially in an emergency. I am proud the Marin County Department of Public Social Services is not overly suspicious but really tries to help someone in distress which is true to our American tradition.

So what if the I-J did find a determined person who goes to vast lengths of deceit and time-consuming effort to prove anyone can cheat? So what else is new? And how many people does the I-J think will bother with all that lying for $64 worth of food stamps when fraudulent use is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $5,000? It might even be easier to steal $64 worth of food and perhaps not be so time consuming! Why not try that next?

I do assume that Marlene Freedman will be fined $100 for fraudently acquiring the food stamps even though she was careful not to use them or apply for more. Was she afraid of being found out and of being unable to prove her preconceived notion that the food stamp program is lax?

The food stamp program does help many, many, hungry, needy people. Since in the U.S. one is assumed to be innocent until proven otherwise, I hope the Department of Public Social Services will continue to service people in a friendly and non-suspicious manner.

Hurrah for our Marin County DPSS which is handling a federal program set up to distribute food surpluses!

Expose The Big Cheaters Instead

On your front page, Sept. 15, were two juxtaposed stories of 'fraud' in our government.

The story of the light-hearted felony of Marlene Freedman in lying and fraudulently obtaining food stamps, then so gaily dismissing it as a prank to test the food stamp program, angered me the most — while proving that at least one of our local government departments IS efficient! I believe that lying is lying, sometimes it is perjury, and must be prosecuted to the full extent in the fine print which seemed to amuse the reporter so much!

Dismissing the completed crime with a light-hearted jest does not erase the crime. While she proved that the mail does go through, did she not also open herself to prosecution for using the mails to defraud?

The second article regarding misuse of "expense" funds, perhaps, will not arouse so much ire, because we are so accustomed to this type of cheating among our government employees — it was excused by our governor as being necessary to the rest and recreation of the National Guard conventioneers, quite recently. The tab for one luncheon meeting very nearly equalled the total amount for one month food allowance for the spurious mother and infant in food stamps . . .

As an income tax payer, I feel discriminated against as the new minority. I don't have a large enough income to be eligible to cheat on the staturorily protected "loss" frauds, and I don't get a pension for "service" to the state, as legislators, et al, and can only object as loudly as I can to these "rip-offs" when they are cited.

No good purpose would be served by establishing another enormous bureaucracy to spy on the little people. That would just set up another category of people who would then be eligible to put in some time and then draw their pensions. Rather, we should look to the already enormous pension plan the higher echelons of Government employees have voted themselves, and their cost-of-living escalations . . .

Bureaucracy Ignores Citizen's Problem

In this age of protest I'd like to add mine — those of a near-retirement age, lone woman. My protest is against what I consider the cavalier treatment by local city bureaucrats who, in turn, wonder why the public is so apathetic about bond issues and salary increases.

My specific indictment is against the director of the Sausalito Planning Department who feels it is beneath his dignity to answer written questions regarding his arbitrary decisions. The case in point is a piece of property which, to this writer, is her sole means of being able to retire.

Better than 20 years ago, I bought a piece of Sausalito property (two lots). There was an old building on one lot which was remodelled as living quarters until a home could be built on the other lot. Personal matters intervened. The other lot was never built upon.

Three years ago, I decided to sell the other lot so I could finance an elevator which would be built between the lots, and which would service them both. The day is not far off then I'll no longer be able to climb those 80 stairs.

At this point, I went to the city engineer (there was no planning director at that time.) He told me that the lot could be sold and could be built on. He even wrote out the formula as to what could be built on it. He confirmed this three times — once to my brother, an architect. As the result of this, I went ahead, spent some $400 on blueprints, survey and so on.

This winter, when the preliminary work was complete and I had some time, I put the lot on the market, assuring the real estate person that I had cleared it completely. When she checked, she was airly told that there was no way wya that I could ever sell this lot. At this, I flew down to the new planning director where, face-to-face, he sounded sympathetic, saying he would write a letter to the city attorney in my behlaf. Some months later, the city attorney wrote an opinion, simply quoting the building code as it now exists, one of which I felt explained to me my situation of having bought a building lot 20 years ago, paying taxes on it all these years and now summarily being told I have nothing but an expensive Sausalito greenbelt.

Since that time, I have, in a series of letters, tried to get clarification from the planning director. My letters have all been ignored.

Harriman Won't Back McGovern; More On Watergate Scandal Due

The Democratic Party's senior diplomat and last Democratic governor of New York will not support Sen. George McGovern. He is Averell Harriman, who has served in the administration of every Democratic President since F.D.R.

Harriman is not making any public announcement of his decision, but he has confided to friends that he can't go along with McGovern. He will help other Democratic candidates.

MORE TO COME ON WATERGATE BUGGING. The scandal of the Republican commandos, arrested for electronic spying at Democratic National Committee headquarters, is getting murkier and murkier.

New charges of law violation can now be expected. The unanswered question: Hasn't the Committee for the Re-election of the President violated the Federal Election Campaign Act? Is it legal to spend campaign funds to finance political espionage? Lawyers are now looking into this.

Agents of the Republican campaign committee are charged with committing these crimes last June 17 — breaking and entering, tapping telephones, taping and transcribing private conversations.

Voluntary, if not authorized, agents of the Republican Party are investigating these crimes.

Is it beyond the ability of the administration to enforce the law, or is there a lack of will?

IS VIETNAM SETTLEMENT GETTING NEARER? Experts outside the government think so.They see President Thieu strengthening his control in order to deal with political ferment when compromises are made. They point to Saigon's recapture of Quang Tri, the only provincial capital lost to the North Vietnamese during their all-out offensive.

The consensus in Washington is that Moscow is strongly advising Hanoi that the best terms they can get from the United States will be before, not after, the presidential election.

CHINESE-SOVIET TENSIONS INCREASING. The apparent cause is Peking's emergence into the world political arena. Ever since China joined the U.N., Peking has been plaguing Moscow at nearly every point where their interests touch or conflict.

One Chinese official describes "repeated provocations by the Soviet Union against China this year."

U.S. intelligence reports that the Russians have recently added approximately three divisions to their eastern frontier, which brings their total force to about 50 Soviet divisions along the 6,000-mile border with China.

U.N. WILL HAVE TO TIGHTEN ITS BELT. Already in the red, the United Nations faces a reduction of the U.S. contribution from 31 per cent to 25 per cent of its budget, down by $3,379,930.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills putting the 25 per cent ceiling on U.S. payments.

Russia pays 14 per cent of the U.N. budget. The formula for working out these percentages involves per capital income, population and gross national product.

HOW U.N. COULD INCREASE ITS INCOME. All it has to do is to elect West Germany to membership. West Germany is one of the four wealthiest countries in the world and would be able to pay its full share.

Bonn is expected to make a strong case for membership at this session. The sword which threatens is a Russian veto unless the East German Communist regime is also admitted.

Private School Tax Credits Have Election-Year Earmark

WASHINGTON — Perhaps it was coincidence that George McGovern disclosed his support of tax credits for parents of nonpublic school students while he was campaigning at the largest Catholic school in Chicago, in a state he desperately needs if he is to come close in the election just seven weeks away. If so, it was no more coincidental than the fact that Mr. Nixon chose the summer of re-election year to come out for the same plan after his administration had opposed the idea firmly for his first three and a half years in office.

But we are grown-ups, and we understand that politicians make political decisions under election pressure. Let us then try to pass by the politics involved and consider the substance of the issue. It is of historic importance, explosive and, on the basis of a series of court decisions rendered just this year, still of doubtful validity under the Consitution.

MR. NIXON'S proposal has been laid before the Ways and Means Committee in some detail. McGovern carefully avoided specifics when he announced his stand last week, but two other Democrats presumably on his wavelength — Chairman Wilbur Mills and Rep. Hugh Carey of New York — have put in a comparable measure.

To give federal money even indirectly to church education remains of dubious constitutionality, even though parochial schools indisputably are in serious financial trouble. Recent court decisions in Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island have reconfirmed this.

The current suggestions apply to all legitimate nonpublic schools rather than church schools only, and they would allow tax credits to the parents rather than to the schools themselves. Whether those points bring this legislation within the bounds of the First Amendment is certain to be tested all the way to the Supreme Court. I will avoid that legal argument except to note that the revised proposals still wind up subsidizing religious education, and both presidential candidates acknowledge that that is what they want to do.

IT DOES NOT TAKE a Sam Ervin, however, to foresee what would happen if the current court should sanction such a law.

The major groups who would benefit are: (1) mostly white, mostly urban Catholics who choose voluntarily to send their children to parochial schools to get a religiously oriented education and in many cases also to avoid racially integrated public schools; (2) mostly white, upper-class parents who choose voluntarily to send their children to private schools to get a supposedly superior education and incidentally to avoid racially integrated public schools, and (3) white southerners who choose voluntarily to send their children to the burgeoning private academies there for no other reason than to avoid racially integrated public schools.

McGovern, to be sure, said in Chicago that the Internal Revenue Service has the power to see that those using private schools merely to escape integration will not benefit. But having that poweC9does not mean exerting it. Mr. Nixon had the IRS announce more than two years ago that segregated schools would not be granted tax-exempt status — and while a few new southern "academies" were thus closed, many more continue to flourish.

Already, without financial inducement, millions of parents are opting for private education while the public schools in most American cities become blacker and poorer, and the heavy-voting white middle class rebels against bond issues and property tax boosts intended to improve them. On the very day McGovern announced his position, the mostly black teachers union struck the mostly black public school system in the nation's capital, in part because congressional budget-cutters blocked a larger pay increase and imposed a larger average class size than before.

THE RESULT of giving tax credits for private school education will be to tempt still more white children out of the public systems and sendthose systems spiraling further downward into federally subsidized de facto segregation, even worse fundamental teaching accomplishment. And at the same time, as Mr. Nixon's budget director conceded before Ways and Means, the taxes credited — estimated variously at from $584 million to $970 million a year to start — would "in all fairness" be withheld from other (i.e., public) educational spending.

The crux of it is that in pursuing a plausible-sounding and probably electorally profitable end, our politicians may be abetting the ruination of the public school tradition that supports our democracy. After Nov. 7, when the fever has subsided, they should be able to see this danger more clearly.

The Day When All Of Marin Was Turned Into National Park

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 25, 1980 — Two Sausalito city officials, in the capitol this week to continue to plead for inclusion of the city's Wolfback Ridge in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, succeeded beyond their wildest dreams.

In a surprise move, the Senate committee conducting hearings on the recreation bill voted unanimously to include all of Marin County in the new park.

The committee action was quickly and enthusiastically ratified by the Senate and House and signed into law by President Joan Kennedy, who remarked that it was "about time this country stopped taking a piecemeal approach to open space planning."

Sausalito Mayor Robin Sweeny and Councilman Stephen Fraser, interviewed in the hearing chambers minutes after the committee acted, expressed surprise and delight at the victory. "All those trees and all that grass; no more cars and filthy gas," Fraser chanted happily when the vote was announced.

A SPOKESMAN for the committee said its decision to turn Marin into a park was influenced both by pictures of the county shown by Mrs. Sweeny and Fraser and the comments of a delegation of citizens from San Francisco.

"That's one beautiful county you have out there, all those trees and hills and valley and beaches and things," the senator said. "It just seemed a shame to let a measly 200,000 people live in it and muck it up. That Marin is a scenic wonder, like Old Faithful and the Grand Canyon. It should belong to all the people."

"Yes, that's right," said another legislator who had voted for the omnibus bill. "It was just time to clean up Marin before it was completely ruined."

The San Francisco delegation, headed by Mayor Vito Corleone, had lobbied for turning its neighboring county into a public park.

"We San Franciscans are just sick and tired of seeing all those houses when we drive across the bridge for a nice trip to the country," Corleone said in an impassioned plea to the committee.. "If we wanna see houses, there's plenty of 'em right in San Francisco — lotsa real high ones too," he added with a laugh.

UNDER TERMS of the new legislation, Marin will be phased out of existence in the next five yars.

All buildings in the county will be torn down, with the exception of public restrooms and drinking fountains, and all roads will be removed, the committee agreed.

To forestall the chance that auto traffic will continue to arrive in Marin, the bill also calls for demolition of the Golden Gate and Richmond-San Rafael bridges and construction of a great wall running across Marin at the Sonoma County line.

Residents will be relocated in northwestern Utah in one of the largest rural renewal projects in history. (One senator said he may introduce legislation permitting U.S. citizens to live only in Utah, and Nevada, deserts, parts of Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas, and the Majove Desert. "We have to keep people from residing in beautiful places that we may someday need for recreation areas," he said.)

COST OF THE entire conversion project, estimated at $350 billion, will be shared jointly by Bay Area residents and former Marinites living in Utah. "After all, it was their county and they should be proud and happy that it was singled out for this honor," one senator said.

The committee thanked Marin conservationists and open space advocates for their help in passing the park bill and said it was sorry that even these people would no longer be able to live in their favorite county.

But the senators agreed they should be given free passes once Marin National Park is open, allowing them to visit their former home Wednesdays through Sundays from 11 a.m to 10 p.m. although not by automobile.

Thousands For Autographs, But Not A Minute For Letters

A recent auction at Parke-Bernet Galleries found the autograph market up. The star signatures, which included John Hancock (of course), Catherine the Great, and Louis XIV, went for a total of $131,590, or a third more than the autograph experts — yes, there are those experts, too — predicted. One letter, written by Luther in 1520 after he had been denounced by Rome, featured the line, "Italy is also not without asses," and brought $10,000.

Does all this mean letter writing is coming back? Alas, it may suggest rather that letters are becoming a department of the antique business: as dated as smoke signals.

Tomorrow's grandchildren, rummaging around the attic on a rainy Saturday afternoon, are more likely to find a trunk full of ancient television circuits and 40-year-o ld dishwashe guarantees than a bundle of grandmother's letters.

WHO WRITES letters anymore? Through the mailbox tumble bills, solicitations, printed forms addressed to "Dear Homeowner" or, at this season, "Dear voter." But letters? Real letters?

There are the obligatory "just-a-line-to-say . . ." notes that parents write to absent children and absent children write back. There are the "Re-yours-of-the-14th . . ." business communiques. But letters? Real letters?

Letters are for the very old, the very young, and those who can't afford their phone bill.

Children will write letters to friends — or even parents — in the next room, slip the letter under the door, then knock on the door and ask if you got it. These letters may consist of little more than "How are you, Im fine." (Forget the punctuation. Or a snappy riddle. Or a Christmas request list, submitted in July and forgotten by both parties in August. Nevertheless, these are real letters.

THE VERY OLD may write soliloquies — memory's streams-of-consciousness in which the writer becomes his own reader and nobody else is really there. But these are real letters, too.

Real letters are the expressions of impulses that cannot wait. The impulse to share news. The impulse to communicate affection — or the absolutely unpostponable impulse of a writer to pass on himself — to make his absence felt. "Here I am," is the coded message of every letter. "Remember me? Here is what I feel. Here is what I think . Here is what I'm going to do. Here am I . . . ."

One of the 20th century's most persistent Here-am-I's was George Bernard Shaw. A second volume of his correspondence, "Collected Letters, 1898-1910," has just been published. Dan H. Lawrence, the editor, has kept the package down to 950 pages only by trimming the 644 letters.

LIKE ANOTHER voluminous letter writer, Voltaire, Shaw used his letters as a podium. He quite literally addressed people. Letters for him were a place for public statements rather than private rendezvous.

But then, letters are almost always a form of interior monologue, though usually less baldly so. In letters one tries out new ideas — or even new selves — that one does not yet dare display in public. Through letters one may agonize one's way in and out of a credo, or in and out of love.

The one command upon all letter writers — whether thinkers, feelers, or Bernard Shaw — is this: no second drafts. Second drafts are self-defeating. "Letters should be easy and natural," Lord Chesterfield insisted, "and convey to the persons to whom we send just what we should say if we were with them."

Poor Lord Chesterfield! What a phone bill he would run up today! And it would be just like his much-epistled son to move to California.

12 In CRA Quit Over 'Credibility'

BERKELEY (UPI)—Twelve members of the California Republican Assembly, including two vice presidents, have criticized the organization for being a "rubber stamp" for the Nixon Administration.

The 12 walked out of the group's directors' meeting Sunday.

"As responsible Republicans we can no longer support the CRA," said a statement signed by vice president Stephen Downard and Wally Reemeline and assistant secretary Sue Smith.

The statement charged the assembly was "abandoning its principles and eroding its credibility."

The three officers were joined in their walkout at the Marriott Inn by nine others.

They said there was widespread dissatisfaction in the volunteer group over endorsement of President Nixon.

Some members, they said, wanted to endorse Representative John Ashbrook of Ohio and others were in favor of no endorsement at all. Downard of San Francisco said 31 members of the CRA would resign.

Uganda Ties Peace To Ouster Of Obote

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Tanzania has accepted a plan to end nine days of fighting along its border with Uganda, Foreign Minister Omar Arteh Ghalib of Somalia said today.

President Idi Amin of Uganda welcomed the plan, but he ruled out peace until the Tanzanian government has withdrawn its forces from the border and ousted former Ugandan President Milton Obote leaves Tanzania.

In Kampala, a Ugandan military spokesman said 37 more guerrillas have been killed in mopping up operations by Ugandan troops near the border town of Mutukila in Southwest Uganda.

The reported deaths would bring to 367 the number of invaders Ugandan forces say they have killed since a 1,500-man force moved into Uganda from Tanzania Sept. 17.

In Dar es Salaam Ghalib told newsmen Sunday that President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania had accepted a five-point peace plan proposed by President Mohamed Said Barre of Somalia. Ghalib gave no details of the plan.

Radio Uganda quoted Amin as saying the plan was "very good."

But Amin said that unless Tanzanian and other hostile forces withdrew from the frontier he would order a "big air raid and a large-scale operation of the army and paratroopers to destroy them completely."

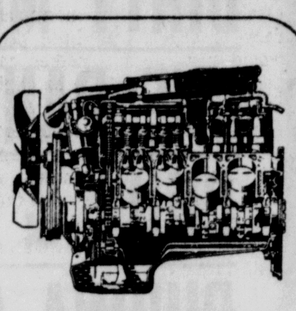
Mercedes-Benz shatters the stereotype of the $10,000 "luxury" car.

Cars of the $10,000 class arouse images of bulk, brocade and an overbearing manner. Luxury has come to mean pomp.

The new Mercedes-Benz 280SE 4.5 Sedan rejects this hollow approach. It is an investment in fine machinery. This mechanical excellence not only elevates your standard of living; it raises your standard of driving. Can you think of a more worthwhile luxury than that?



New 280SE 4.5 V-8 is marked by advanced features like electronic fuel injection and transistorized ignition system. Connecting rods and other engine parts are meticulously hand balanced before assembly; after assembly, each engine gets a thorough bench test.

No chauffeur needed

Rather than drowsing in the rear seat while someone else drives, you will actually look forward to taking the wheel of this car.

Credit the Mercedes-Benz engineers. They pulled out all the stops:

- Power flows from the same large V-8 used in the new 450SL sports car. Don't worry; this engine is tamed to a purr.
- You ride on one of the most elaborately engineered suspensions on any passenger car, similar in principle to the all-independent systems used on 200-mph racing machines.
- Racing machines employ 4-wheel disc brakes; so does your 4.5 Sedan. Even the costliest domestic luxury sedan, on the other hand, uses disc brakes only on the front wheels.
- Functional design keeps the 4.5 almost 3 feet shorter and half a ton lighter than America's best-selling luxury sedan. An agile car.

Mouth-watering details

The engineers fitted that V-8 with a computer to check speed, load, temperature—even altitude—and meter fuel to the cylinders accordingly. It is uncannily efficient.

Steering is power assisted and extremely accurate. The car glides nimbly through traffic. Manual effort is wonderfully light. (Tell your wife.)

Tired of fatigue?

The engineers even took a different approach to the seats in the 4.5 Sedan.

"The uninitiated are, at first anyway, put off by the firm Mercedes seats," observes Road & Track magazine, "but after several hours of traveling these same people are still comfortable—they're beginning to know what Mercedes cars are all about."

Your 4.5 comes with air conditioning already built in. That power steering and automatic shift, plus power brakes, electric windows, tinted glass, AM-FM receiver, heated rear window—all standard fittings.

Standard too is a bit of technical wizardry called a central locking system. Touch a button and all 4 doors, the trunk lid and the gas port silently lock by vacuum power. Instant security.

You can order some options. They include leather upholstery and a sliding steel sunroof.

Additionally, two elongated versions of the 4.5 Sedan are available: the 280SEL 4.5 at $10,969, and the 300SEL 4.5 at $14,227. Both afford 4 more inches of rear-seat legroom. The 300SEL 4.5 uses an air-suspension system.

The car is put together with care and patience. It is more than "fine workmanship." It is a zeal for perfection.

1973, 1974, 1975, 1976, etc.

A $10,000 car is clearly no short-term investment. Your 4.5 was put together to stay together—an old Mercedes-Benz tradition that reflects an old European tradition. Unafflicted by new-car mania, Europeans tend to hang on to their cars a good long time.

The long life expectancy of a Mercedes-Benz is aided by its welded "unit" body; far fewer nuts and bolts to possibly work loose, squeak and rattle. Your 4.5 carries 44 lbs of anti-corrosion defense in its primer and paint coats alone. More than 20 lbs of plasticized undercoating are bonded to the underside.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $15,182* to $6,439*

450SL Coupe	$15,182
450SL Coupe/Roadster	$11,761
280SE 4.5 Sedan	$10,378
250 Coupe	$ 8,169
250 Sedan	$ 7,315
220 Sedan	$ 6,665
220 Diesel Sedan	$ 6,439

"The best available today"

Mercedes-Benz engineers poured the cream of their expertise into the 280SE 4.5 Sedan. They believe it is worth every penny of that $10,378 price. Other experts concur:

"One has to pay through the nose for the best, but for those who can afford it and demand real roadability with their luxury, comfort and prestige, the 280SE with the V-8, in either regular or L version, is the best available today."

McGovern Slips 11 More Points

NEW YORK (UPI)—A poll of voters in 16 key states indicates that Sen. George McGovern has lost ground to President Nixon and may face a landslide defeat in the November presidential election.

According to the poll, commissioned by Time magazine and the New York Times, Nixon has increased his lead over McGovern by 11 points for a 62 per cent to 23 per cent lead.

Time said "if the election were held today, McGovern would join those presidential aspirants buried under the country's historic landslides—Henry Clay, Alton Parker, James Cox, Alfred Landon, and of course, Barry Goldwater."

The poll, conducted by Daniel Yankelovich Inc., was based on interviews with 2,239 registered voters in 16 key states between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

California, New York, Texas and Illinois were included in the 16 states—which had a combined total of 332 electoral votes—considerably more than the 270 votes needed to win.

The poll also indicated the Democratic voters are turning to Nixon and favor the incumbent over their own party's choice by a margin of 43 to 40 per cent, Time said.

Newsweek magazine reported in another poll released Sunday that the President had gained strength among young voters 18 to 24 by two percentage points. He now leads 52 per cent to McGovern's 48.

The Newsweek poll, based on 1,242 voters, was conducted by the Gallup organization in late August.

Oak Ridge Cancer Report Seen Raising 'False Hopes'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cancer researcher at the University of California Medical Center has accused researchers at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee of raising "false hopes" among cancer victims.

Dr. Martin Apple said Oak Ridge reports of a 100 per cent cancer cure rate in animals by a bacterial agent called BCG "are very misleading" and based "on insufficient testing under special circumstances."

Apple is a researcher at the Cancer Research Institute and a recognized authority on the use of drugs to treat cancer.

He said the drug BCG is "nothing new" and has been used in France for years on leukemia patients, "but its effectiveness is yet to be proven.

"Don't get me wrong," Apple said. "There is no doubt this work has merit. But the question of how much merit is totally unanswered."

Syria Paper Hints Israel Mailing Bombs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Syria's official newspaper suggested today that Israel, in search of an excuse to attack Arab guerrillas with global support, is behind the current wave of explosive parcels being mailed to Israeli officials around the world.

The latest such incident was reported today in Canberra, Australia, where post office detectives discovered five letter bombs with Amsterdam postmarks. Three of the letters were addressed to the Israeli Consulate in Sydney and two to the Israeli Embassy in Canberra, a post office spokesman said. None of the parcels exploded.

Reports by Arab newsmen reaching Cairo said four Israeli warplanes flew over the Nabatiyeh region of Lebanon today but were chased away by anti-aircraft fire. They said the Israeli aircraft stayed in the area 30 minutes before retreating. The reports said villagers went to their air raid shelters during the flyover.

"This is absolutely not true," he said.

The Lebanese weekly magazine Al Usbu Al Arabi had suggested that Barratt, who speaks fluent Arabic, might have defected to Syria, carrying with him important documents.

A Tripoli Radio report monitored in Beirut said Libya has asked the Arab League to begin contacts aimed at a united stand agairst treatment of Arabs residing in West Germany. The travel plans of hundreds of Arabs trying to enter and leave West Germany have been reported cut short by German authorities following the Sept. 5 massacre of 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation in Munich.

But a West German Embassy spokesman in Cairo said securirty measures in his country apply to all arriving and leaving foreigners, not just Arabs.

Syria's official Al Baath newspaper in Damascus, noting that the Palestinian resistance has not claimed responsibility for the bomb parcel campaign, said the mailing could be a guise by the Israelis to spoil the reputation of the Palestinian resistance and produce an excuse to launch antiguerrilla hostilities.

U.S. Reported Nearing Zero Population Growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Census Bureau survey of the childbearing expectations of young wives showed today the United States may be nearicg a point of zero population growth.

The agency said its conclusions were based on interviews with 50,000 wives between the ages of 18 to 24 conducted in June that showed they expected to have an average of 2.3 children during their lifetimes.

The Census Bureau came up with an anticipated birth rate of 2.1 children for each woman, making adjustments for differences noted between expected childbearing and actual births in previous studies.

Agnecy officials said the 2.1 birth rate eventually would produce a population of fixed size. But they cautioned that the projection was subject to unknown variables and was at best of only limited reliability.

The bureau said that even should a birthrate at the zero population growth level be reached now, it would be well into the next century before the U.S. population reached a fixed size. This is because there is an unusually high proportion of women of childbearing age in the population as a result of the baby boom that followed World War II.

The survey estimated that if a 2.1 children per woman birthrate was reached by American women in the next several years and was maintained thereafter, the American population would level off at about 274 million by the middle of the next century.

120,800 Gallons Of Gas Spilled

RICHMOND (UPI) —Cleanup operations are about half completed in a 120,800-gallon spill of gasoline at a tank storage farm which resulted when somebody forgot to turn off a series of valves.

The fuel was contained by dikes and employes of Atlantic Richfield put down sumps to gather it in.

Firemen stood guard around the 2,000 square yard area because of fumes and the Coast Guard closed an adjacent shipping channel.

SOME BLACKS THINK ABOUT GOING TO COLLEGE, BUT THAT'S AS FAR AS THEY GET.

There are potential black leaders graduating from high school every year. Gifted black men and women, who could change the worlds of medicine, or law. Or just change the world to make it a better place, for them, and for you. But if they can't make it to college, they can't make much of anything better.

We want black men, and women, to turn their potentials into realities. That's why we help to educate thousands of black students in 40 private, four-year colleges, every year.

WORD-A-DAY

Four Held in Robbery Of Lake Casino

RENO (AP) — Federal authorities have recovered $126,280 of the $178,500 stolen in last week's robbery at Harrah's casino at Lake Tahoe — the largest casino robbery in Nevada history.

The FBI would not say how the money was recovered.

Vern Loetterle, special FBI agent in charge, said yesterday the money was found "in the Lake Tahoe area." He did not detail how the recovery was made and said that the rest of the money had still not been located.

Four men were charged in the case Saturday by federal and Douglas County authorities. Arraigned on federal charges of interstate transportation of stolen property were: Jack A. Cozard, 37, and Donald Leroy Rice, 35, both of Stateline, Nev.; Larry Joseph Swinberg, 36, of South Lake Tahoe, Calif., and Thomas Richard Norman, 36, of Reno.

A U.S. magistrate fixed bail at $75,000 each for Cozad and Swinbeg and $50,000 each for Norman and Rice.

Douglas County Sheriff Dave McCreary said that local charges of armed robbery and conspiracy have been filed against all four men and additional bail was set at $75,000 each on those charges.

Last Tuesday, a man wearing a false beard and a cowboy hat and carrying a gun surprised five unarmed casino employes and took a bag with the money. The man then dashed out of the casino, across the street — and the California state line — to an accomplice who was waiting with a motorcycle.

Thus far, authorities have refused to divulge which two of the suspects actually participated in the theft. In addition, the FBI has not said whether the robbery was an inside job although the Douglas County sheriff's office indicated Friday that it may have been executed by present or former employes of the casino.

Unconfirmed reports say that all four of the men have been casino employes and that two of them worked for the Harrah's club that was robbed.

It has not been determined yet whether the federal or Douglas County charges will take precedence as far as a trial date is concerned.

The four suspects are being held in Washoe County Jail in lieu of bail.

Woman Writer Researches Historical Books On Marin

By BETTY FROST

This is fortunate, for she is a writer totally dedicated to her work.

"Writing is like being in a different world. You are immersed in a whole set of imaginary characters. It blows your mind," she said. "When a book is finished, I have a lost feeling. I ask myself 'what shall I do?"

Months later, whenshe gets a package from her publisher in the mail, "I claw it open. There it is — my new book." Then she has the finished product in her hands, and realizes the satisfactions of a work accomplished. "Then I get that new baby feeling," Miss Montgomery said.

THIS IS the Mill Valley woman's second book with a Marin County theme, intended for the "over 12 reader." Her first book, "The Wrath of the Coyote", dealt with the story of the Indian chief, Marin. The Coast Miwok Indians of Marin play a prominent part in the "Passage to Drake's Bay," when the hero, Tom, an orphaned cabin boy, leaves Sir Francis Drake's Golden Hind and is befriended by the Indians.

A great deal of research went into the "Passage to Drake's Bay." The writer finds the Bay area rich in source material, and has spent countless hours at the Bancroft Library at the University of California, the historical section of the San Francisco Public Library, Marin County libraries, and perusing private sources of rare documents.

Her books are officially designated for juniors, but the writer's historical accuracy and mature approach makes them appealing to adult readers, too.

"What teen-agers want these days," Miss Montgomery stated, "is for you to 'tell it like it is.' They have been so lied to. There has been so much hypocrisy. You have to start being honest with young people."

She finds the robust Elizabethan age comparable to our own period.

IMPATIENT WITH anything outside of her work, the author says, "Hobbies are a way of killing time. I don't have that approach about what to do." She is interested in archeology, and belongs to the Northwestern California Archeological Society and the Marin Archeological Preserve. She participates in the archeological diggings hoping to learn more about the California Coast Indians whose culture she continually studies.

She also enjoy hiking, but usually it is a walk with a goal. "I hiked all over Drake's Bay time and time again in preparation for the book," she said. Her observations and studies have convinced her that the conclusions of the Drake Navigators Guild are correct and that the Marin harbor so long associated with the English explorer is indeed the location of Drake's local landing. "The essential key is the whitecliffs, which are found nowhere else in Marin," she believes.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., she is a graduate of Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and she did newspaper and magazine work in New York City. In 1955 she came to California for her health. It was then that she discovered Mill Valley and made it her permanent residence.

DURING THE years she was working for magazines both as an editor and contributor, the Mill Valley woman never thought she had the patience or discipline to write books. Now she finds "articles seem impermanent."

Miss Montgomery is beginning the manuscript of the next book, working, as is her custom, in longhand. This one will be about the Russian Colony at Fort Ross in Sonoma County. There will also be Indians again, this time the Pomos of the Northern California Coast.

At her feet as she works is a young hunting dog, Nonny. The dog's name is derived from the lyrics of an Elizabethan madrigal, "Hey nonny no." Nonny is a lively reminder of the tremendous research that went into the preparation of "Passage to Drake's Bay."

HAPPIEST WHEN she is writing, author Jean Montgomery of Mill Valley reminisces with a visitor about the research involved in her newest book, "Passage to Drake's Bay", written, she said, "for anyone over 12 years old." She is seated in the cheerful dining alcove where she does much of her work.

The Economically Dependent Woman: Solutions Offered

By BARBARA HOSMER

The factors that keep women in a state of economic dependency in America and some of their solutions were outlined at a high-powered conference Thursday in San Francisco.

"Any woman who becomes rich has done it despite laws and customs," Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Michigan, told the 200 California women gathered to examine "Women in the Economy" at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. "Women are not equal to men economically," she said.

Financial columnist Sylvia Porter agreed. "We could spend the rest of the day with examples," she said.

Mrs. Griffiths listed economic inequities that keep women in a state of dependency, aside from low pay for jobs. She named inability to get credit, social security system discriminations, military benefit discriminations, some community property laws and inadequate tax deductions for child care as factors that affect all women.

"Laws are made by men and for men," she said. "When a man dies he takes the credit cards with him. My staff says that lenders and providers believe that a man five years dead is a better credit risk than a woman."

SOCIAL SECURITY does not protect the widow, she said. Even though she helped save money and maintain the home, the wife who becomes a widow gets the same amount, if she has two children or 20. $482 is the highest payment a widow can receive, Mrs. Griffiths stated. If she works, the payment is reduced.

"If she even walks out the door to work she loses $800 and has to pay income tax and other things out of her paycheck."

And, she said, a working woman averages only 60 per cent of the pay that working men do.

"If the husband is alive a woman loses her economic rights. And if he walks out, she has no social security."

Married women in some community property states have no say in the management of that property by law, she added. The federal income tax law also helps men, she said.

"The value that men who make the laws place on the work their wives do is nothing." The cost of office help is tax deductible but domestic work is not; the cost of child care is deductible only if both husband and wife are employed and earn jointly less than $27,000, she said. "I believe child care should be wholly deductible."

In the military a female gets no quarters allowance for her family unless her husband is unable to work and dependent on her, and women don't qualify for the same benefits as male military personnel," Mrs. Griffiths said.

SYLVIA PORTER said that she has received many letters from women censuring her "for money goes through the economy, it multiplies."

MARTHA GRIFFITHS
'Women not equal'

LIZ CARPENTER
'Feminism pays off'

LIZ CARPENTER, former press secretary for Lady Bird Johnson and vice president of Hill and Knowlton, said she was one of the 1 per cent of women who earn more than $15,000 per year in the U.S.

"We are not making progress. Twenty years ago 1.9 million women lived in poverty. Today there are still 1.9 million women in poverty.

"After 200 years the conversation in this country has gotten around to women. Until we got noisy about it no one paid any attention at all. Let Bella bellow and Betty Friedan organize — it's paying off for us all," said Mrs. Carpenter.

"It's a myth that the feminist movement defeminizes — we can be sensuous and think, too... The wise company today is looking to see if it is complying (with affirmative action against sex and race discrimination) but some have to be taught, like AT & T."

The panelists agreed that women need to overcome their trying to take away their passive, protected role."

"Protected women are protected only as long as they are the present wife," Mrs. Griffith replied. Virginia Carabillo, vice president of the National Organization for Women, added that the bread and butter issues were what the women's liberation movement has been talking about all along, despite press distortions, and that compliance with the new anti-discrimination laws in employment "is the hard talk." Progress to date has been given only grudgingly in employment for women, she siad, perhaps because it will cost billions.

She also said supporters of the feminism movement have talked about economic issues all along, but that too many prominent women feel compelled to say, "I'm not for women's liberation, but..." and "proceed to tell you all the reasons that they are.

"You can be ladylike, but major developments of the past few years occurred because some of us got noisy and angry. It's time women stopped disassociating themselves from a phrase as good as women's liberation," she said.

Cost of giving women economic equality on the job, Mrs. Porter said, "would come back double in spending power — as

Marin Auto Owners Place In Concours

Marin residents brought home two second place and four third place trophies from the 10th annual Concours d'Elegance held yesterday at Silverado Country Club in Napa.

Eighteen cars from Marin County were entered in the event sponsored annually by the Marin Circle, Florence Crittenton Home and Service of San Francisco.

The second place winners were a 1932 Rolls Royce 20/25 Saloon owned by A. B. Richardson of Forest Knolls and a 1920 Rajo Ford speedster roadster exhibited by Fredric W. Temps of San Rafael.

Richardson's automobile was entered in the Rolls Royce small horsepower class, and Temps' was one of three Ford Model Ts.

In the Ford Model A open class Russell P. Batt of Mill Valley was awarded a third place trophy for his 1931 roadster, and in the Ford Model A closed class a 1930 Tudor owned by Ernest C. Legnito of Fairfax also received a third place trophy.

Merle E. Smith's 1946 Lincoln Continental cabriolet was judged in third place. Smith lives in Mill Valley.

Third place in the Rolls Royce large horsepower class went to Haddon N. Salt of San Rafael, owner of a 1927 Rolls Royce Phantom I dual cowl phaeton.

Among the 1971 first place winning autos, invited back for an exhibit but not to be judged, was the 1934 Rolls Royce Phantom II drop head coupe owned by Robert A. Davies of Belvedere.

Also exhibiting cars from Marin were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker of Novato, a 1918 Buick touring car; Robert J. Hadden of San Rafael, a 1927 Buick 27-55 sport touring; John C. LaBoyteaux of San Anselmo, a 1931 Chevrolet 109 cabriolet; Ernest C. Legnitto of Fairfax, a 1941 Plymouth special de luxe four door sedan; Timothy P. Howley of San Rafael, a 1947 Lincoln continental cabriolet; John A. Sweeney of Sausalito, a 1929 Packard 633 runabout; Kenneth Larkins of Kentfield, a 1931 Packard 826 roadster; George Arents, a 1938 Packard 1608 convertible sedan and a 1938 Packard 1707 convertible Victoria; Alfred Lovi of San Rafael, a 1927 Packard 443 seven passenger sedan; and Paul Marioni of Mill Valley, a 1937 Bentley 4¼ liter saloon.

William R. Charles of Sausalito showed his 1966 Mercedes Benz 250 SE cabriolet in a special contemporary production class. The class, for exhibit only and not judged, was for post World War II cars originally costing more than $10,000.

A 1910 Mitchell touring car won the best of show award.

The car chosen most elegant was a 1934 Packard sports sedan owned by Kenneth Baughn of Concord.

Rapping About The Instant
Reducing Wrap

Many questions have been raised concerning the new methods of size and weight reduction now offered in health studios around the country. The following information is designed to help answer some of your questions about our organic mummy wrap, not to make or imply any medical or therapeutic claims.

Q. What is the Ann Marie Body Wrap method? A. Our body wrap is a reducing process allowing a person to lose inches and in many instances, pounds, as it liquifies fat, lightens scars, stretch and age marks, increases the circulation, draws out the poisons and toxins without dehydration and most of all it conditions and shrinks the skin. Q. Is the Organic Mummy Wrap safe for me to use? A. A dermatologist brought this formula from Europe and developed this exclusively for Ann Marie Figure Salons. Any person can use our wrap. We suggest if you have any question about your health or reducing plans, consult your family doctor, before beginning your program of self improvement.

Jean Hicks
Lost 6 inches in first visit, next day another 7¾ inches off in the tummy area.

Q. Does wrapping involve exercise? A. No, our body wrap works independently of exercise. You do nothing except lie back, relax, read a book, or even take a nap while your body wrap treatment works for you. We ask you not to go into any exercise program of any kind while on our program. Q. Is the treatment hot? A. No, heat sometimes triggers your body into gaining weight and makes your skin flabby. With our body wrap we cool the body making your skin young and tight. It feels good too. Q. How fast will we see results? A. You will feel and see results after your first treatment. In just 90 minutes we guarantee you will lose from 5 to 25 inches, depending on where you are wrapped or your money will be refunded. Q. How do I know I am receiving results. A. In many ways: Prior to the wrap we measure tightly and mark each and every person where they are measured. Second, after the wrap you are remeasured on the same mark so the before and after measurements are as accurate as possible. In addition many people will lose actual body weight as well as inches making the results evident. Q. Is our wrap like most of the other wraps I have heard about? A. No our wrap is considerably different from any of the other reducing wraps on the market. We use the compression method because it works best. We have used this for 13 years. This method molds the body the way you want it. It increases circulation, pulls fatty granules out of the tissue. The tighter you are wrapped the more you lose. Our lotion is different. It is organic and completely safe. Our added tightening ingredient LJ5 is also organic which conditions the skin and makes the inch loss more permanent. Q. Do I lose all over? A. Not necessarily, we use the controlled area method. What this means is we wrap you only where you want to lose. You can lose as much as 3 inches or more off midriff and back, without changing the size of the bust. Q. Does this mean the inch loss a person receives from our wrap is a water loss that will return after drinking water? A. We feel that the inch loss a person receives from our wrap is more permanent than dieting or exercise. As with dieting or exercising, the permanency of inch loss depends on a person's day to day habits after the event. Contrary to common belief, a liquid loss of this nature will not return permanently upon the consumption of non-caloric fluids. Drinking water is non-caloric and its ingestion travels the digestive process with the greatest percentage leaving the body through the urinary system. We encourage you to drink as much as eight glasses of water a day.

Nancy Ruud
Lost 8 inches from upper thighs in 2 wraps.

Q. Do you use any drugs or medications. A. Absolutely not! Q. How long does it last? A. Nothing lasts forever but most of our ladies are happy for one year. Q. Can the face be wrapped? A. Yes, most of our ladies do take facials. It is not only very restful but it stops the aging process, tightens the neck, eye and chin tissue as it lightens scar and age marks. Q. Do you keep records in your salons? A. At all Ann Marie Figure Salons, measurements before and after the process are recorded and the results totaled on a measurement chart. Statistical material gathered from these charts in our Santa Rosa salon, which we routinely keep, for the month of February, 1972, showed an average inch loss of 8.67 inches per application for patrons wrapped that month. This was based on approximately 211 wraps applied. If you would like to confirm the results for yourself, you're welcome to stop by and review our results charts at any time. Q. Is the wrap painful? A. No. Unlike salons who use rough paper which has to be hosed off, we use sterilized rolls of soft cotton bandages. A. Our wrap has worked on thousands of other people and that's why we offer a money back guarantee if you don't lose from 5 to 25 inches, depending on where you are wrapped. May we suggest that anybody with a figure problem call us for a body wrap analysis without cost or obligation. These consultations are private and confidential. TIME MAGAZINE: "The most passive reduction plan yet developed. VOGUE: "... works on stubborn fat ... lost 5 inches of derrier ..." PAGEANT: "Jane Fonda is reported to have successfully remodeled her legs using it ... Candy Bergen is supposed to have firmed up her entire body."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

An old friend of ours introduced us to his girl friend who seemed perfectly charming. When they broke up she needed a temporary place to stay so I took her in for " a couple of days" which extended to three weeks!

She finally found another roommate, but she left me with a $50 long-distance telephone bill. She also borrowed $40 from me, and three dresses she hasn't returned. I learned today she hit my fiance up for a loan too. In all, she owes us about $150. It's been four months.

She has a job and doesn't pay rent or food (her new "roommate" is a man), so she could afford to pay us back. But when I ask her, nicely, she makes me feel cheap, as if all I think of is money. The other day she said the secret of success in her new affair is that they never hassle over finances: "It's too grubby." (Her new b.f. thinks she's wonderful, doesn't know about her freeloading past.)

Without feeling grubby, how do we get our money back? — NEEDS IT

DEAR N.I.:

Without ACTING "grubby" you may never get your money back. A moocher's first line of defense is "Nice people don't discuss dirty old money," so knock off the niceness and tell this gal the next bill you present will be to her boyfriend. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a straight meat and potatoes man. He doesn't like change. If I try different meals, even another kind of meat rather than beef steak or roast, anguished screams arise.

Yet the other day he informed me that "variety is the spice of Wife" and I should read up on those sex manuals because the same old thing gets dull.

I don't consider myself "dull" (he doesn't either, really!). We get along great. But Helen, this made me wonder: How come a man who wants the same old dinner every night in the year, isn'tn't happy with the "same" old wife ditto? — NOT AN ACROBAT

DEAR NOT:

Maybe your husband could counter with this question (in the spirit of good clean banter, naturally): How come a wife who loves to cook "different," rearranges furniture at the drop of a sofa, and probably nags her man into buying new suits just when the old ones are getting comfortable . . . leaves her change-ability at the bedroom door? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please, no hedging. Are you for N.O.W. or H.O.W.? The first, of course, is the women's liberation organization. The second is anti-lib: "Happiness of Womanhood." It emphasizes that women are happiest doing female things and they should leave the Man's World to the men.

What's your stand? — WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WTK:

I'm a NOW type (but not a member) who believes the "Happiness of Women" is the freedom to choose whatever life they prefer, be it pure homemaking, total dedication to career, or a workable mixture.

In its push for equal pay, equal recognition as PERSONS (not merely females), the National Organization for Women makes reasonable demands. The rights it asks will help those who need them, and they won't harm those who feel they don't.

Liberation means simply: Women no longer need be stereotyped. What's so frightening about that? — H.

P.S. In other word, "Live and let lib!"

Fighting Crime —A Woman's Job

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) —Law enforcement agencies— from the FBI to local police— are finding out something Mrs. Anne Michalek learned the hard way seven years ago.

The something? When it comes to fighting crime, woman can do as good a job as men.

The FBI now is training women agents and New York and other cities are assigning policewomen to regular street patrols on a routine basis.

Mrs. Michalek, 40, is the lone woman among 107 branch managers of Burns International Security Services Inc. She heads the 175-man Burns force in western Massachusetts. Experienced in all phases of security, she's handled night watchman tours, walked the rounds in factories, and run the eight-hour shift in the patrol car.

She also has performed undercover and investigative tasks.

"My men know I won't ask them to do anything I can't or will not do myself," she says.

Mrs. Michalek got into security by starting her own company in 1965. It happened when the detective agency for which she worked in a sales capacity went out of business.

She was divorced, had two children to support and opted for a business of her own as one road to economicsecurity.

After building her company she sold out to Burns last year, but stayed on as a manager.

In pursuit of success, Mrs. Michalek said there were some perilous moments. Once a woman came at her with a knife. Several times she took part in high speed chases and once posed as a college student when there was a molester on campus.

Her employer now has 50 uniformed women guards performing duties similar to those assigned the males. Women also are in the special services corps, assigned primarily to crowd control duties at public events, such as golf and tennis tournaments, expositions and fairs.

Solutions Offered For The 'Dependent' Woman

carefully taught underconfidence in themselves. "Women who isolate themselves in their suburban shells are missing out," said Mrs. Carpenter.

Untapped resources of skills that women possess are not being used because of women's lack of confidence and because women must be educated to the opportunities opening up to them, the panel agreed. Myrlie Evers suggested that employment symposiums be taken to the neighborhood level. She added that minority women have always had to support their families and "now we're running into conflicts with our own men."

"We have to educate our black men that it makes no difference which one of us moves ahead, as long as one of us moves," Mrs. Evers said.

Some of the directions for opening up the opportunities to woman the panelists named were changing image of women in textbooks, changing work hours for flexibility to enable mothers of small children to work part-time or three days a week, to change inequitable laws and enforce those that now exist, and to band together to continue to work on the inequities for women in America.

Earlier Herbert Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, told the delegates that the President has asked him to set up an advisory committee on the economic role of women to ensure that economic interests of women would be considered in the formation of U.S. economic policy. But, he said later, industry and women themselves have to make most of the change.

The Bank of America, one of the sponsors of the conference, announced that it was working to issue credit cards in the name of the wife as well as the husband, a demand of women's liberation groups.

Other sponsors were Ladies Home Journal Magazine and BankAmericard.

Short-Short Hair

The short-short hair coming up for fall (for those who can wear it) is sleek and sophisticated. Endorsed by pace-setting hairdressers it is cut to be brushed forward on the cheeks or back behind the ears. At the neckline, it is tapered to brush forward and flat, curling forward ever so slightly at bottom tip of the ears.

Old Law Book Brings Profit

COVINGTON, Ky. — If you think there isn't a profit in dusty old law books, hear about the luck of Janet Slayback, 16.

She was sorting a box of surplus law books donated to a library when an envelope fell out of one. It contained $531 in currency. The name of the attorney who had donated the books was on the box. Janet hurried to his office. John Brooking was so grateful he gave Janet half of the forgotten funds.

"Wow! $266.50," exclaimed Janet. "I'll save it to buy my trousseau." She's getting married Aug. 31, 1973.

On 'Walking Street' Raspberryfizz Is Hit With Copenhagen Children

By CATHELL TOSCAN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

COPENHAGEN — Stroget, Copenhagen's "walking street" is a parade ground and a natural meeting place for the new and unusual. The several blocks that form it wind through the Danish capital and are open only to pedestrian traffic.

The street is lined with bakeries, boutiques, and restaurents of every size and shape. A stroll down Stroget is likely to be full of surprises.

Its magic seems reflected in a tall, costumed young man who, with his patchwork upholstered baby carriage, makes a daily tour of the walking street. Tourists tend to write him off as eccentric, but they always take time to stop and stare in fascination.

DANES WOULD recognize the man as Sigvaldi.

Sigvaldi's baby carriage is no ordinary one. For several years it has provided the transportation for a magazine called Hindbaerbrus og Kravtaer (Raspberryfizz and Scribbles), the most original children's magazine in Denmark.

Sigvaldi is a people magnet with a special interest in little people. His free-flowing ideas about life conflicted with studies in French and mathematics, so he took time out for travel and work as a translator. More than three years ago he got the idea for a magazine that would encourage children to share their ideas, drawings, and stories with others.

The idea was presented to established publishing companies, but none would accept a magazine written and illustrated by children. Sigvaldi's determination overcame his inexperience, and he decided to publish the magazine himself.

CONTACT WAS made and children, their teachers, and parents sent poems, short stories, and drawings from all over Denmark. Even the title was suggested by the children.

With the magazine's originator as editor, spelling errors and grammatical mistakes remain to add a special flavor to the writing. The direct, matter-of-fact approach is characteristic.

Perhaps the beauty and simplicty of Raspberryfizz is captured by an essay written by a fifth-grade boy, Hans Christian, who compared his own way of life with that of his ancestors:

In Viking times they didn't have speed boats, they had sail boats that you started yourself by rowing. And they didn't have cars either. Instead of a car they had a horse. Their house was made out of straw and wood and hide. Our house is made of stone, if it isn't a summer house, and there are windows and a chimney. In the old Viking house there are just some holes which they decided are chimney and window. The chimney should preferably be in the roof. The well with the clear water is a round hole with water in it which you can hoist a bucket with a rope. Now the water is polluted and tastes disgusting and so it must be pumped. In the old days you could just play. A toy was a bow and arrow. Now there are new toys, more effective, that is a rifle with bullets . . . In the old days when they wanted to read a book they couldn't go to the library. A man had to sit and carve out of stone in his spare time. They don't do that anymore they wouldn't hear of it. He sits and reads and listens to the radio and watches television . . . Now you know about it.

IMAGINATIVE LOGIC is responsible for many of the stories. Pernille, a 9-year-old girl, used a letter to explain a tricky situation. "Dear dad and mom and grandma and freddy and lise. If I was a prince or a sheik or a millionaire I would send a sports car to you, but I turned out to be a girl."

Each addition includes illustrations on topics from "Little Red Riding Hood on roller skates just after getting a spanking" to spiders and crocodiles. Children as young as 3 send in drawings.

Teachers are impressed and sometimes use the magazine to read aloud or inspire their own students. Children actively relate to the stories and anxiously make up their own.

AS RASPBERRYFIZZ and Scribbles became popular, Sigvaldi had to make a decision about distribution. Since local publication had been successful, he decided to try local distribution. Stroget was the obvious place, and when he stumbled on an old baby carriage in his attic, it seemed to be natural transportation for a young, growing magazine.

Children are drawn by the red-haired man's warm smile and brightly patched carriage. Groups of them often meet Sigvaldi on Stroget and talk and joke with him. He is usually ready with a game, a puppet, or a musical instrument to delight his audience.

In addition to a large number of individual sales on the walking street each day, Sigvaldi also mails copies of the magazine to 700 subscribers in Scandinavia, the Faroe Islands, Greenland, and England. As one of these subscribers has said, "Without Raspberryfizz and Scribbles, life is a skinned knee."

American Girl

Among new hairstyles for fall and winter is one called The American Girl. It is long hair— to the shoulder and longer. What's old about this: a center part. What's new about it is treatment with barettes. The barettes, worn low or high, give one all kinds of possibilities of draping one's face with hair. When the barettes are worn behing the ears, for example, the hair is drawn back and shows most of the face. When they are worn high up toward the part, the hair falls, curtain-fashion, to show more hair than face.

Consumer Center Booklets Tell All

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Almost everything you want to know about almost anything, you need not be afraid to ask. In fact, the United States Government invites you to do so.

The Consumer Product Information Center has a storehouse of consumer information packaged in attractive and informative booklets.

Most of these publications look like mini-magazines, with glossy covers, color illustrations, easy-to-read type, with text simply and understandably written. They range in subject from home buying to home painting, how to choose a vacuum cleaner, an air conditioner, a car battery, and many other consumer products.

Many of these booklets are based on information gleaned by the government in its own purchasing program. They sell for less than a dollar, and some are free.

"Vacuum Cleaners" — the government buys them by the thousands. The benefit of this experience is in a 15-page booklet by that name. It is must reading for one who is about to set forth on a shopping expedition for "the housewives' best friend." Don't miss page 14 on "Questions to Ask Before Buying." Price, 40 cents. Order from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

WHETHER YOU live in a house or an apartment, you probably have a step-ladder. So, there is a consumer publication called "Ladders."

There are two ways to climb a ladder — the right one and the wrong one. You probably know right from wrong, but a refresher course won't do any harm. Also, how do you test the stability of a ladder before you buy it? See Page 8, to read about it — for 45 cents. Order from Consumer Product Information, address above.

A recent booklet, and a timely one, tells how to shop for a house — how to make the best selection, how to shop for mortgage money, and how to be happy though slightly broke. It is a 38-page booklet called "Wise Home Buying," and it's free. You can obtain a copy by writing to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D.C., 20410. Or pick one up at a HUB field office in San Francisco.

Old house or new, there's always painting to do. It's a subject the government knows a lot about, from expericnce. "Paint and Painting" gives you the benefit of that experience as it applies to the nonprofessional painter.

IT TELLS WHAT paint to use where, color dos and don'ts, and how to do a good paint job at a minimum expense. This 24-page booklet sells for 60 cents and may be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

What do you know about your car battery, other than it's there? Do you know when it doesn't pay to have an old battery serviced or recharged? What type and quality battery should you buy? Do you know the practical "trade offs" of price vs. power rating? What protection should a warranty provide?

If you're not sure, "Automobile Batteries, Their Selection and Care" is the booklet for you. It may save you many times the 40 cents you will pay for it. Order from Consumer Product Information.

THE LIBRARY of Congress compiled this one. "Children's Books of 1971." It contains a brief description of 200 children's books published in 1971, price 15 cents. It might help in making selections for Christmas. Available from Consumer Product Information.

Another booklet for parents and about children describes how to select car seats for youngsters.

"What to Buy in Child Restraint Systems," is the name of it. It tells what to look for and what to avoid when purchasing car seats, infant carriers, car beds, and child harness systems. Price, 20 cents from Consumer Product Information.

A booklet just off the press is one that may well save you money and trouble. It is an expose of fake contests, debt consolidation schemes, and other gimmicks designed to defraud the public.

CHARITIES MAY send out such merchandise, but you are under no obligation to make a contribution in order to keep it.

The publication is called "Mail Fraud Laws."

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Check the candles on this "happy birthday" listing:

1. PHIL RIZZUTO, born in Brooklyn, N.Y., is 54 today. For a youngster who wanted to play pro ball, the odds were against him. Everybody said he was too small (5 feet, 6 inches; 150 pounds). But Phil showed such skill as an infielder he became one of the greatest shortstops the N.Y. Yankees ever had. Now retired, can you guess whether Rizzuto is running his own restaurant, broadcasting sporting events, or just loafing in Florida?

2. GLENN GOULD, [illegible] today, is a world famous [illegible] cert pianist. He began playing the piano at age 3, finished his music conservatory studies at 14, and was a concert artist at 15. Guess which country he calls home — Canada, the U.S., or England?

3. DIMITRI SHOSTAKOVICH celebrates his 66th birthday today. This Russian was born in Leningrad, took music lessons from his mother, and became one of the world's great classical composers. Guess which of his many symphonies the musical experts consider his greatest — The First, Third, or Fifth?

4. GUESS THE NAME of this celebrated American writer? He was born on Sept. 25, 1897, grew up in New Albany, Miss., and went looking for adventure with the British Royal Air Force in World War I. Educated at Oxford and the University of Mississippi, he was praised for his early novels, "The Sound and the Fury" a[illegible] "Sanctuary," winning the 1949 Nobel Prize for Literature: William Faulkner, Thomas Wolfe, or Robert Penn Warren?

ANSWERS

1. Broadcasting; 2. Canada; 3. Fifth; 4. Faulkner.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Less Philosophy, More Logic Gets You More Games, Rubbers

"The way to make three no trump is to go after the long suit," a philosophical friend of mine declared. "If the hand just can't be made, as in this case, you must take it stoically." I was not convinced. "Less philosophy and more logic," I demurred, "would get you more games and rubbers."

TRICK REFUSED

My friend refused the first spade trick, properly enough, and won the second trick. He went after the long suit by finessing the jack of cl b[illegible] around to the king. A spade came back to the ace.

Now my philosophical friend took the rest of the clubs. He could count on making four clubs, two spades and two diamonds, for a total of eight tricks. When he led a heart, in the attempt to develop a ninth trick, West took the ace of hearts and defeated the contract with the rest of the spades.

MUST START HEARTS

The way to make this hand is to start with the hearts instead of the long clubs. After winning the second trick with the king of spades, South must lead a heart.

If West takes the ace of hearts and returns a spade to the ace, South can then take the club finesse in safety. East will get the king of clubs, of course, but he will then be out of spades. (If East still had a spade, the suit would break evenly and would give the defenders only two tricks.)

If West refuses the first heart, South can switch to clubs to be sure of nine tricks. He needs only one heart for his contract.

GIVE LEAD EARLY

The important point is to begin by knocking out the sure entry of the dangerous opponent. When you must give up the lead more than once, give it up early to the opponent who has a long suit.

Sea Lions Hear With Whiskers

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Sea lions use their whiskers as highly sensitive sonar systems and for hearing, according to a biologist from the Stanford Research Institute.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, 75, reported the results of years of research and experimentation with sea lions at the Biological Sonar Laboratory and Marine Mammal Study Center in Fermont. Poulter founded the center in 1962.

He determined that the antenna-like whiskers of sea lions are 10,000 times more sensitive to sound than their ears.

MUSIC REVIEW

Unexpected Variety In Bach Choir Concert

By WILLIAM CLARK

Two Bach cantatas in an afternoon may seem like too much of a good thing, but such was not the case Saturday at Old St. Hilary's Museum, Tiburon, in the final concert of the Landmarks Society series.

Edwin Flath, conducting the Peninsula and Berkeley Bach Choir, chose "Ich hatte viel bekummernis," Cantata No. 21, and "O Esiges Feuer," Cantata No. 34, two widely contrasting works that made an unexpectedly varied program.

The well-trained chorus of 26 voices consistently achieved a clear, balanced sound, even in the most intricate polyphony, under Mr. Flath's knowledgeable and sensitive direction.

The delightful soprano aria of the first cantata, a trio with oboe and continuo, was sung with elegance and precision by Nora Laurence, with John O'Meara on the oboe. David Hammer, in the more difficult tenor aria with its high tessitura and rapid chromatic passages, seemed sometimes on the brink of losing control, and was not helped by the sloppy attacks and slippery intonation of the accompanying string quartet. He did a good job in a vocal line perhaps more suitable for a counter-tenor.

The opening chorus of the second cantata was high baroque at its most ornate. The dizzying complexity of polyphonic devices was overlaid with the brilliance of two D trumpets, excellently played by Dana Kemp and Jon Aymony. The fully realized harpsichord part seemed to sprinkle this rousing, spirited movement with gold dust and glitter. The lovely alto aria which follows was flowing and joyous as sung by Betsy Koester.

The group is jointly sponsored by the Adult Education Program of Mountain View-Los Altos and All Souls Episcopal Church in Berkeley and, according to director Flath, would like to expand to Marin. Those interested in singing lots of Bach may contact Frank Evans at the Community Church in Tiburon.

Shriver Goes After Ethnic Vote

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Vice Presidential candidate Sargent Shriver flew here from Arizona Sunday night to campaign for the traditionally Democratic ethnic and labor vote.

Shaking off the effects of a severe cold, Shriver danced an Italian "Tarantella" at an ethnic street fair and met with local Jewish leaders in a closed-door session.

Shriver planned to address labor leaders today at a breakfast meeting.

Perspiring from the rigorous Italian folk dance, Shriver told reporters he could not guarantee all-out labor support for the McGovern-Shriver ticket, but predicted United Steelworkers president "I.W. Abel is going to vote for us."

Newsmen were barred from his meeting with Jewish leaders, but Meyer Berger, who arranged the session, said Shriver would repudiate reports that Jewish liberals were deserting the Democrats in favor of President Nixon because of the Israeli issue.

At the street fair, Shriver told a responsive crowd of 350 persons the belief that Pittsburgh was built by the rich Carnegie and Mellon families was a fallacy.

"I'll tell you who built Pittsburgh," he said to the group of mixed nationalities. "You people built Pittsburgh and will continue to do so."

Guitar Classes In Corte Madera

Demos Warned By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., believes the Democratic party will not win elections if it gives the appearance of being a special interest party, representing only college campuses, militant youths and racial minorities.

"...If we get the image of being a party that has gone to extremes — getting ourselves identified with what I call the esoteric issues—if your image is one of extremism as people see it, than we can't win," Humphrey said Sunday.

He made his remarks in an interview published in U.S. News & World Report.

Construction Site Tools Are Stolen

The theft took place Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Pat Starts To Boast: I've Got The Best Guy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pat Nixon says she is going to start boasting about her husband "because I've got the best guy in the world and I love him dearly".

She made the remark over the weekend on the plane that carried her back to Washington at the end of a week-long, cross-country campaign trip.

Mrs. Nixon was elated with her reception and appeared amazed when a reporter asked her if she believed President Nixon was going to defeat Democrat George S. McGovern.

"Oh, listen, kiddo, are you kidding?" she replied. "I didn't see any protesters and young college students come out...there's a number of young people who are enthusiastic."

Mrs. Nixon had never spoken more personally or glowingly about her husband or their relationship.

"I have news for you," she said, "you can't name any field in which we're not better off. The people know this. They're not dumb. They're upbeat. They're not pessimistic. I think this is great."

She added, "Look back four years ago...the campus disorders, the burning of the cities. There's been lots of change. We've never had more change in such short a time...under this great President. I've got to love him. He's great."

When reminded that there still was a Vietnam war after nearly four years of the Nixon administration, she said: "No one was killed last week."

Someone then said that the Pentagon casualty report last week referred only to no Americans killed but that the Vietnamese were still dying. Unperturbed she replied, "People do want a cessation to this war but they don't want to lose their freedom."

Mrs. Nixon said she had "never once boasted about my husband or my family" but "lately I've decided I'm going to have to."

She disclosed that she was a Democrat once "because my parents were". She said she voted for Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt once but switched to the Republicans in 1938.

McGovern Labels Republicans The Servants Of Big Business

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—Campaigning through the cattle, corn and wheat country that spawned American populism, Sen. George S. McGovern pictured the Nixon administration today as the servant of big business "sharks" and "hogs" who have victimized farmers and consumers alike.

Speaking at the Western States Water and Power conference here and a fund-raising dinner in Sioux Falls, S.D., Sunday night, the Democratic Presidential candidate lashed out at Republican favoritism for special interests "in callous disregard for the people."

The McGovern campaign, after a week spent prospecting for votes in the populous Eastern and mid-western industrial states, swung through the northern tier of farm states en route to the richest electoral prize of them all—California.

He was to speak next in Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., and then to turn south to San Francisco and Los Angeles before returning east in midweek.

But he took full advantage of stops in country where the "sons of the wild jackass"—the populace once fought the railroad and the banks—to paint Nixon and his lieutenants as the chore boys of privileged wealth.

"You have to go back to the times of Warren G. Harding to find an administration so beholden to and dominated by big business as the one we have today," McGovern said in his speech prepared for Billings, where he arrived Sunday night in sub-freezing weather with snow flurries in the air.

The administration, he said, "has stopped public power development in its tracks, handed one preferment after another to the oil and coal and power giants, allowed pollution to run wild, encouraged monoply and ignored the consumer."

And, charging the administration has helped big grain exporters make excess profits in wheat sales to Russia, he said "now these grain speculators want to crawl through a tax loophole that would exempt 50 per cent of their windfall profits from any tax at all."

"These fellows aren't just sharks, they're hogs."

Watergate 'Whitewash' Is Charged By O'Brien

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic campaign chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole agree the break-in at Democratic headquarters has failed to excite public interest.

But O'Brien Sunday accused the Justice Department of trying to "whitewash" the incident June 17 in which five men were caught with electronic gear and photographic equipment in the offices of the Democratic National Committee in Washington's Watergate office complex.

Criminal indictments since have been returned by a grand jury against two former White House aides and the five men arrested at the scene, who included the salaried chief of security of President Nixon's re-election committee.

Dole said he believed an attempt by Democrats to make a campaign issue out of the incident "hasn't had much impact". O'Brien, who was Democratic national chairman at the time of the break-in and now is chairman of Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign, agreed.

"I am inclined to agree with you that it has not ignited a cry of outrage in the country, and I think there is a reason for that," O'Brien said. "I think the American people have assumed that perhaps this is a type of activity that political parties and politicians traditionally engage in, and it was a matter of being caught in this instance. This is extremely unfortunate."

Dole and O'Brien were interviewed on ABC's Issues and Asnwers.

O'Brien said he believed the Justice Department "has done all it could to keep a cover on this, to slow the process, the judicial process.

SO YOU WANT TO TOW A TRAILER!

Trailers can be useful, but only if several safety rules are kept in mind.

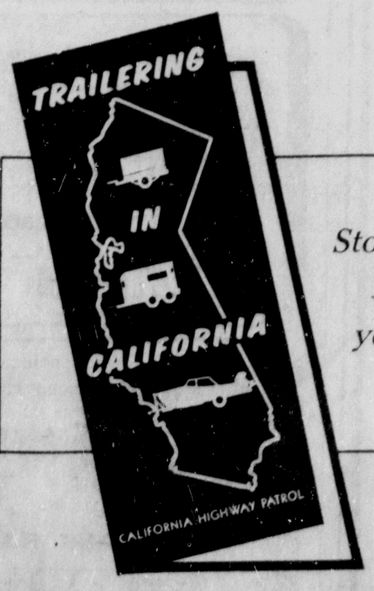
The maximum speed limit for towing trailers is 55 mph, so no speeding.

You must drive in the right-hand lane except when passing, preparing to make a turn, entering or leaving a highway, or when you must change lanes to continue your intended route.

Whenever the trailer is impeding the progress of five or more vehicles, pull off a marked turnout or at areas wide enough to let them pass by.

After the trailer is hooked up, if the driver's rear view is obscured, a rear view mirror should be attached on each side of the towing vehicle. And the alignment of headlights should be checked after it's hooked up and the necessary adjustments made.

Just a little cautiousness and towing a trailer can be fun.



Stop by your local California Highway Patrol Office for your free copy of "Trailing in California" Guide.

LONELY SHIP AT STINSON

A tiny toy galleon listed in the wet sand at Stinson Beach yesterday, virtually alone on the state park beach which was closed because of a water shortage. A few hardy souls, undaunted by the barred parking lots, enjoyed the late summer day on the beach, which was to reopen today. Stinson Beach's antiquated water system was unable to cope with a combination of dry weather, and reported squandering of water during the weekend, but the town's water tank was up to a normal level today. Bagley Says Last Term Coming Up

Marin and Southern Sonoma will get a new state assemblyman, the longtime incumbent promised today.

In 1974, that is, according to Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. "This will be my last term in the state Assembly; I will not run again in 1974," he declared.

His statement, prepared for a noon speech before the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at the Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur, assumed his defeat of Democratic challenger Harry J. Moore of Novato.

Bagley's declaration confirmed private statements that he intends to leave the Legislature by 1974. He first was elected in 1960.

Bagley is considered a possible candidate for state controller in 1974.

The assemblyman will debate Los Angeles County Assessor Philip E. Watson on Proposition 14 at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on KQED, Channel 9.

Loan Company Settles With Novato Couple

A Novato couple which went to court to force settlement of a loan dispute with American Plan Investment Corp. has agreed to an out-of-court settlement.

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Bodewin of 1549 Hill Road and the San Francisco based corporation agreed that the loan would be reinstated and the couple would keep their home if they pay the corporation $666.

The couple sued in Marin Superior Court Aug. 11 noting they borrowed $4,400 in June 1971 and had tried to make payments, but the loan company refused them and threatened to foreclose on their home.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson temporarily barred the sale, but later withdrew the order.

The settlement cleared only one of three challenges by Marin residents to the lending practices of the giant lending company.

In May, Aileen Pick, a 77-year-old widow from Fairfax, filed suit in Marin Superior Court saying the company failed to inform her properly about the terms of the loan and was about to oreclose on her home as a result of her failure to meet the terms. She asked more than $300,000 in damages and the right to keep her home.

Last month in San Francisco, an 81-year-old Sausalito woman filed a similar suit asking $10.3 million in damages. Belle G. Shaw of 4 Third Street claimed she originally borrowed $999 in May 1970, but because of refinancing the loan escalated to $24,000.

Both women claimed in their suits to be naive about financial matters and said the company took advantage of that.

Chavez Talk On Prop. 22 Set Sunday

Farm labor leader Caesar Chavez will speak at a fund-raising cocktail party to oppose Proposition 22 on Sunday at the Belvedere home of Leonard M. Sperry.

Shuttles to the party, which will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., will be provided from the parking lot at St. Stephen's Parish, 3 Bay View Avenue.

Also speaking will be Father Eugene J. Boyle, director for justice and peace of the National Federation of Priests' Councils, Chicago.

The proposition, on the November ballot, would ban secondary food boycotts, require secret ballot union representation elections, establish an Agricultural Labor Relations Board and set a mandatory cooling off period for harvest time strikes.

Chavez, director of the United Farm Workers Union, opposes it and says it would destroy his union.

Police Can't Stop The Motorcyclists

Irate East Corte Madera residents have been bombarding town police with protests about motorcycles roaring up and down the Madera del Presidio development site.

Since the site next to Highway 101 above the Koch luggage plant was graded it's become a favorite for trailbike enthusiasts, with more than 50 riders using it regularly.

But Corte Madera police chief David L. McIntosh said today that police are powerless to halt the motorcycling until they get confirmation from the site's owners.

"That land is private property," explained Chief McIntosh, "and we must have something from the owner in writing stating that he doesn't want the motorcyclists up there. And so far we haven't been able to obtain that statement from Cal West Properties."

Chief McIntosh described the graded site for a high density townhouse development as "a great place for motorbikes, they've even cut a road back into Paradise Drive so it's very easy to get in and out."

He said police have been besieged with complaints about the noise of the bikes, and are endeavoring to secure "something in writing" from Cal West Properties.

Hearing On Use Of Treated Wastewater Slated Tonight

A $5.3 billion project that could see vast areas in West Marin and Sonoma preserved for lands to receive treated sewage wastewater will be heard at 7:30 p.m. today in the board of supervisors' chambers in the Marin Civic Center.

The hearing will be held by the Army Corps of Engineers, State Water Resources Control Board and federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The largest water reclamation project in the world, if undertaken, it would preserve some 255,000 acres as open land to be purchased with part of that money. The land would absorb the region's projected wastewater flow of 1.5 billion gallons a day by the year 2000.

That acreage is almost 400 square miles, the equivalent of about 80 per cent of Marin's total land area. Other lands throughout the 12 Bay Area and Delta counties also were earmarked for possible use in the reuse system.

The corps, which drafted the proposal, reported in detail by the Independent-Journal on Aug. 23, asked that facts and arguments be submitted in writing before Oct. 31 to its office at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Second Opera Preview Slated For Thursday

Dr. Jack Sacher, educational consultant to the Metropolitan Opera Guild, will present the second in a series of San Francisco Opera previews sponsored by Marin Opera Action Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

He will discuss "How to listen to Wagner's 'Ring.' "

Sacher is an author, music editor and associate professor of music at Montclair College in New Jersey. He plans to use audio-visual aids to explain the complicated relationships of the four operas.

Mrs. John Alexander is Marin Action chairman. Ticket information may be obtained from Carlo S. Fowler of Kentfield. Refreshments will be served, and records, libretti and tickets are available at the preview.

Contracts Awarded For Road Improvement

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Two contracts for road improvement work in Marin County have been announced by the Department of Public Works.

The Apex Fence Co. of Anderson submitted the lowest of five bids Aug. 16 in Sacramento and was awarded a $18,592.40 contract for guard rail work on Highway 101 and 17 in Marin County.

The highway sections affected near San Rafael are Highway 101, two miles south and eight miles north of Route 17.

The Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael submitted the lowest of six bids for a contract to build a turn-off lane and bus stop on Tiburon Boulevard, 300 feet south of Stewart Drive.

The $15,957.50 contract was awarded Aug. 23 in Sacramento.

Hub Planning Guidelines To Be Discussed Today

The Citizens Committee on the General Plan for San Anselmo will discuss proposed guidelines for the city planning commission to follow during the current building moratorium, at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

The committee also will continue its organization under the permanent chairmanship of Pieter Toal, who was elected at the panel's Sept. 11 meeting. Lyn Fischbein, who was interim chairman of the committee, will head the subcommittee on open space.

Commission To Consider Plans For 'Pinto Ridge'

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider plans for "Pinto Ridge", a 182-acre development of townhouses and single-family residences at its meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

It will also consider plans for a mobile home park off Smith Ranch Road, a facility for retarded children under the auspices of the Western Institute of Human Resources, a private tennis club at Marin Yacht Club and a sauna and massage parlor at 900 Fifth Avenue.

Thief Fails To Get Stereo From Car Of Policeman

A thief attempted to steal a stereo deck from a car belonging to Tiburon Police Officer Larry Lima Friday afternoon, Lima told police.

He said someone tried to break into his auto parked at the train depot on Paradise Drive, but fled when someone saw him.

Five Are Injured In Total Wreckage

Five people were taken by ambulance to Marin General Hospital Saturday night after two cars were totally wrecked in a collision near the Redwood Pigh School west parking lot exit.

Larkspur police said a Dodge Dart driven by Newton Jeffrey Wise, 18, of 558 Tenaya Drive, Tiburon, collided with a Lincoln Continental driven by Stanley Gordon Walker, 39, of 123 King Street, Larkspur.

According to police, witnesses stated Wise's car failed to stop at the stop sign on Doherty Drive and Riviera Circle. He was later arrested and booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving.

Walker, and his three passengers, his wife, Margie, and Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Ferrari of 115 Baltimore Avenue, Corte Madera, and a passenger in Wise's car, Valerie Leona Gilbert of 334 Riviera Circle, Larkspur, were all taken to Marin General Hospital with injuries.

Mrs. Walker, 37, was admitted with a fractured pelvis, broken shoulderblade and cut forehead. She was in satisfactory condition today. Miss Gilbert was in fair condition with a compound vertebra fracture and cut right hand. The others were treated and released, the hospital said.

Highway Pattern Announced

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the State Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. Southbound on Waldo Grade between Golden Gate Bridge and Richardson Bay Bridge, two inside lanes closed from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. for median work.

3. Southbound on Richardson Bay Bridge, various lanes closed from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for rail work.

Reforestation Bill Signed By Nixon

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has signed into law a bill by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to expand reforestation throughout the nation.

The bill authorizes $70 million a year to expand the tree-growing program. It links the program with fish and wildlife enhancement, development of recreational facilities and preservation of esthetic values, Clausen reported.

Galbraith Comments On China Economy

PARIS (UPI) — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith, on his way home after visiting China, said Sunday the Chinese economy is strong but probably will not become important in the world market very soon.

He said one factor responsible for the strong economy is the "disciplined diligence" among Chinese workers, which leads to increased production. "It seems that they like to work," he said.

Thieves Cut Wall To Get $160 Haul

Burglars broke into a barbershop Saturday night, cut through a sheetrock wall into the Town and Country Pharmacy and stole, $610 from the pharmacy's safe, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported today.

The burglar at the shopping center at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive in Strawberry was similar to two recent burglaries in Mill Valley and Marinwood, said the sheriff's department.

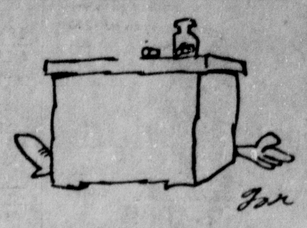
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Widow Wins Indemnity



Tom had a life insurance policy for $10,000. The policy was to pay his widow double that if his death was from "accidental bodily injury."

Tom was unhappy in his job and took illegal "bennies" to prop up his personality. He took a few too many and died from an overdose. His widow got the $10,000. However, the insurance company wouldn't pay the double indemnity. "His death wasn't accidental," they said. "Anyone who takes illegal drugs runs the risk of an overdose."

The widow sued for the additional $10,000. The word "accidental" should be given its ordinary understanding and common usage, her lawyer told the court. "The overdose was unexpected, sudden and undesigned. Tom just took too many or got a batch of pills more potent than he was used to." The court agreed and ordered the insurance company to pay the widow.

In another case, Gene took some illegal narcotics while in his car. The dose wasn't fatal. But it did cause him to pass out in his car. In the central valley heat, the temperature inside his car reached 148 degrees. There wasn't enough oxygen in the car and Gene died. His widow claimed double indemnity. She said the death was from accidental means. The court agreed that taking the drugs in the car was not calculated to produce death. The result was accidental. The widow got the award.

Some policies make it a point to say they won't pay double indemnity when death arises from certain illegal acts. Using or possessing drugs may be a felony. Some auto insurance companies don't cover the driver if he is injured while committing a felony.

Viglienzone, owner of Marin Bay has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the thief. This is in addition to $100 posted by a southern California business associate of Viglienzone for information about the crime.

San Jose's 'Voucher' School Plan Starts

SAN JOSE (AP) — Children in six schools here have begun fall classes under a unique "voucher" system that lets them, like college students, pick the school and study programs they want.

Each uses a voucher which represents the estimated cost of educating a student for one year to "pay" for any of 22 specially designed education programs. That amount of money then is allocated to his school.

Children from poor families — about half the 3,800 junior high and elementary youngsters involved — get extra voucher money allowing them to "buy" more from the 22 programs to augment their education.

The Alum Rock Union School District is using a $1.8 million Office of Economic Opportunity grant to finance a broad range of new classes and teaching methods such as trips into the community. The Rand Corp. will evaluate the experiment's results.

After visiting the district last week, OEO Director Philip V. Sanchez commented:

"If the experiment fails, nobody in Washington can say the basic ingredients were missing . . . The whole country's eyes are on these schools. What we learn here could have a very significant effect on national education."

Project Director Joel Levin noted, "we live in a highly-diverse, multi-cultural society in which children have different needs. By offering a variety of educational systems, we can make sure that a kid can find the program that will help him succeed."

Levin says the portion of the program that lets economically-deprived children get an extra chance at quality education "is like the difference between a free soup kitchen and food stamps."

Like getting food stamps, the poorer children don't have to take whatever is dished up for them, they get to choose what they want to buy, he says.

The program affects almost one fourth of the district's 16,000 students.

The entire program, Levin says, gives middle-and low-income families the opportunity a rich family might have by sending children to a private school.

Vouchers for each junior high pupil are worth $970 each, with economically deprived getting $323 extra. For elementary pupils it's $680, plus $225.

Each of this year's 22 new programs is centered around a theme, such as math and sciences, "learning by doing," reading, individualized learning, culture and physical education. Each school also offers traditional courses.

One called "school 2000," is designed to provide students with an awareness of the rapidly changing world and the future.

In another, pupils are grouped by ability rather than age and another school offers programs strictly for gifted students.

One school is offering its seventh graders a chance to go into the community, to the health department, newspaper offices, city offices, hospitals, law enforcement agencies and so forth, to learn first hand.

"Alum Rock was the only district in the country that had the courage to try the voucher program," said Levin.

"Superintendent William Jefferds perceived the program as a vehicle to help the district in the direction of ultimate decentralization."

"A big question mark is how many students will want to change programs during the year," Levin said. "Parents are allowed to transfer students three times a year and we have no idea how many are going to exercise this right."

Busing is provided to send the students to whichever school they choose, Levin said, but the trend so far has been to stay in neighborhood schools.

Only 120 students have chosen schools outside their neighborhoods, he said. Racially, he said each school generally is close to the district-wide averages which are 48 per cent Mexican-American, 41 per cent other (white) and 11 per cent black.

Council, Planners Discuss Lawsuit

The Fairfax Town Council and the Planning Commission met in closed session Friday night to discuss progress of a suit against the town by the developers of Canon Village and Tennis Club.

The meeting, following which no decision was announced, had been adjourned from Tuesday.

A show-cause hearing in the matter has been scheduled for Sept. 27 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Wineries Finding Extent Of Frost, Hot Weather

SONOMA, Calif. (UPI)—The 1972 vintage now in full swing reveals the greatest shortage of varietal (premium-type) wine grapes in the state's history.

California's 254 wineries and their thousands of grape growers are discovering the true extent of damage by heavy frosts of late spring, plus two days of 110-degree July weather in the Napa and Sonoma valleys.

The grape harvest here is down an estimated 20 percent and 15 percent respectively, against a 40 percent increase in wine demand compared with the same period of last year.

The present boom, unprecedented in the state's agricultural records, finds most wineries forced to ration their better wines. Growers are unable to supply winery demands despite record prices (many varietals have increased from about $250 per ton to $750). Vineyard nurseries are booked two and three years in advance to the army of new winegrowers and to present growers who are expanding established vineyards.

The latter programs range from two-acre plots being planted by "Sunday farmers", many of them doctors, lawyers and professional men who live in the San Francisco metropolitan area but are developing hobby vineyards in the country; to multi-million dollar professional enterprises.

Typical of the latter is a 30,000-acre project in the upper San Joaquin Valley in which, according to the California wine letter, "Dean Witter & Co. is working with First Boston Corp. to underwrite the development. John Hancock Insurance is lending $27 million and Bank of America is extending $7 million in credit."

More modest but relatively substantial developments in the center of the premium wine area, where land is more limited, include a 400-acre model vineyard owned by subsidiaries of Reckitt & Colman of London and now nearing production; and a similar development by Young's Market Company of Los Angeles.

The intensity of the boom has attracted a score of promoters to the fine-wine area, almost in the Florida land-boom tradition. Display ads in metropolitan newspapers invite the public to "invest in the California wine industry; the investor will receive a 9 per cent annual cash flow and an 88 per cent write-off on the first year's invested dollars."

The California Farm Bureau has warned the public to invest only in projects backed by established and reputable wineries and by substantial bank financing, and has also added a caution that over-production of wine grapes may be an eventual result.

Roy Taylor of San Francisco's Wine Institute does not believe the latter danger is acute. "We think the record increase in wine demand will more than absorb the increase in vineyard expansion for the foreseeable future," he said.

"It is unlikely that the grape crush can keep up with the demand for the next four seasons at least," said Dr. Kirby S. Moulton, economist of the University of California.

But the lure and romance of wine growing seems to remain strong and attractive. The vineyards of Sonoma county, where fine wine grapes were first introduced from Europe, has increased over 400 per cent since the boom started, according to Robert Sisson of the state's agricultural department.

Head-On Crash Injures Two

Two persons were injured in a head-on collision Saturday at 9:55 p.m. on Lakeville Highway, south of Petaluma.

Kathy Howes, 21, of 6220 Lakeville Highway, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a broken right leg and face cuts. The other driver, Rupert Brady Jr., 32, of Santa Rosa, was reported in good condition with cuts of the face, arms and legs.

The California Highway Patrol said Brady was blinded by lights, skidded across the center line and collided head-on with the car driven by Mrs. Howes.

Nobel Prize Winner Hospitalized Again

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Nobel Prize winning author Pearl S. Buck, 80, has been hospitalized for the second time within two months.

Mrs. Buck was admitted to Vermont Medical Center Sunday for tests after complaining of discomfort in the abdominal area. A hospital spokesman said she was "resting comfortably." She was treated for pleurisy during her previous hospital stay.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

What About The Women Who Would Steal A Baby?

From time to time we read about a woman who steals a baby. The very nature of the offense suggests a psychiatric disorder, and in most cases, this is true. According to a British report, several patterns of behavior were found in 13 such women. In general, the act seemed to be an attempt to compensate for emotional deprivation or frustrated maternal feelings. Now and then a real or imaginary miscarriage precepitated the unusual theft. The offenders had pronounced neurotic traits and the miscarriage posed a severe threat to an insecure relationship with the father.

Among the 13 baby stealers in the study, two involved subnormal teenagers who just wanted a child to play with. No harm came to the infant. The girls were lonely and played with the tyke as they would with a doll. Three of the women were mental cases suffering from schizophrenia.

THE STEALING took place during a relapse and was motivated by delusional ideas. One of these women had seven children of her own and was unable to care for them. Some were preoccupied with the desire to have a child.

Four other offenders had severe personality disorders and a history of delinquency. All came from a severely disturbed family background. Baby stealing was motivated by an attempt to compensate for feelings of emotional deprivation. Love-starved delinquents who have trouble forming relationships with adults often transfer their affection to children and pets.

NONE OF these women had thought of adoption. They were too unstable socially and disoriented to do this. It was easier to snatch the baby from an unattended buggy, usually outside a supermarket. In three instances, the offender had baby sat for the child. All of the babies were recovered unharmed.

Oddly, in England, men steal more children than do women. In most instances, the child is older and the theft is likely to be sexually motivated.

PERFUME DERMATITIS

Miss G. writes: I rubbed perfume on my wrists and then went out in the sun. These areas became irritated and have remained so for three weeks. The druggist says I have alcohol poisoning. What comments do you care to make?

REPLY

Certain oils in the perfume have made your skin overly sensitive to the rays of the sun. Bergamot oil is the worst offender in this respect, especially when it is dissolved in alcohol in the perfume.

FAMILY DOCTORS

I.E. writes: Is the family doctor the same as a general practitioner?

REPLY

Any physician can be your family doctor. The majority are general practitioners because they are prepared to treat most of the everyday medical problems in a family. However, when consultation is needed, they call in a specialist.

BLOOD VOLUME

H.V. writes: Does a tall, heavy person have as much blood as a short, thin one?

REPLY

A heavier person is likely to have more. The amount of blood varies with size and roughly is 1/11 of body weight.

Credit Card Arrest In Novato

A San Francisco man was arrested in Novato Saturday in connection with a stolen credit card.

Roy Lee Edward Clark, 38, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $1,500 bail on suspicion of forgery and possession of stolen property. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Clark was arrested on Highway 101 about 3:30 a.m. by Novato officer John Tyson, who noticed him loitering at a roadside gas station.

Tyson sent the license number of Clark's car to motor vehicle authorities and learned of $127 in traffic warrants against the vehicle. The officer returned to the gas station and was shown a credit card receipt signed by the suspect for purchase of gas.

He apprehended Clark on Highway 101 near the Route 37 exit. Police said Clark had no driver's license, no registration and would not produce the credit card. He subsequently gave the officer the credit card which had a name different from his and police said a check determined that it had been stolen in Reno.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidant, light air pollution.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Board To Resume Preserve Hearings

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the civic center, will resume a series of hearings on rezoning of the county's agricultural preserve.

The board considered the rezoning a month ago but found itself bogged down in protests from landowners seeking to have their property exempted from the action.

Under consideration will be about 120,000 acres of rural lands around Point Reyes Station, Nicasio, Bolinas and Muir Beach.

All have been recommended for low-density A-60, 40, 20, 10 and 5 zoning, with A-60 (one home per 60 acres) the predominant recommendation.

Rezoning of the county's sprawling preserve is required under state law in order to protect the agricultural industry from pressures of urban growth.

The law — the Williamson Act — states that lands within the preserve must be zoned in a manner compatible with agriculture. The planning department maintains the A-60 zoning is the most compatible for Marin's dairying and livestock operations.

Two sections of the preserve — about 20,000 acres around Novato and 60,000 acres in the northwestern portion of the county — already have been rezoned by supervisors despite heated protests of some landowners.

Writing, Art Contest Slated

The Marin County League of Women Voters is sponsoring a contest in creative writing and art on open space for third, fourth and fifth-graders. Deadline for entries is Oct. 14.

Applicants may send entries to the League at 243 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera 94925. Entries should include a short paragraph and a 12-by-18-inch drawing or painting about the concept of open space.

Selected entries will be exhibited at the civic center Oct. 23 through Nov. 7.

The 29-inch snake had seven rattles. It was found in the backyard of the Shoso Mishinaga residence at 205 Johnstone Drive, deputies said.

Also on the agenda will be the board's first formal hearing on the much-discussed teacher evaluation policy required by the so-called Stull Act, adoption of a policy permitting teachers to transfer tenure between the San Rafael high school and elementary districts and adoption of courses for the 1972-73 school year in both districts.

Front Porch Arson Probed

San Rafael police and firemen are investigating the third case of arson in three months in the Belle Avenue area, police reported Saturday.

Investigators said resident Philip John Agard was awakened by his front doorbell at 2 a.m. Friday, then was almost engulfed in flames when he entered the porch to see who had been at the door. He escaped injury by pulling off his burning trousers, police said.

Gasoline or some other petroleum product had been poured on the concrete porch and then ignited. The blaze was put out without damage.

Two similar predawn fires near front doors were reported in July, police said.

Scientist Christofilos Dies At 56

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI)—Nicholas C. Christofilos, a senior scientist at the University of California's Lawrence Laboratory and an important figure in American science, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack. He was 56.

American-born and Greek-educated, Christofilos was both an engineer and a physicist. He was known as one of the most inventive men in science, originating major concepts in controlled thermonuclear reactions and in nuclear accelerator technology.

Born Dec. 16, 1916, in Boston, Mass., Christofilos was taken by his parents to Greece at an early age. He received his electrical and mechanical engineering degrees from the National Technical University in Athens in 1938.

He returned to the U.S. after World War II and worked for the Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York from 1953 until 1956, when he joined the Lawrence Laboratory.

At the time of his death, he was in charge of the laboratory's Astron Project, an attempt to create a clean inexhaustible means of generating electrical power by harnessing the kinds of thermonuclear reactions that go on in the centers of stars and the hydrogen bomb.

The project, one of the nation's major controlled fusion experiments, is based on Christofilos' own unique concepts for containing super-hot nuclear fuel with magnetic forces produced by a stream of electrons moving at nearly the speed of light.

Christofilos is survived by two former wives and their children, Mrs. Elly Christofilos and their son, Nicholas Jr., of Berkeley, and Mrs. Joan Jaffray and their son, Jason, of Oakland.

Swedish Aide Sees No Arms Race Halt

GENEVA (UPI) — Sweden said today the major powers intend to continue the nuclear arms race and have no intention of seeking genuine disarmament agreements.

Mrs. Alva Myrdal, Swedish minister for disarmament, said such agreements as the 1963 Partial Nuclear Test Ban and the recent SALT treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union are of "minimal value."

She told a symposium on disarmament convened by nongovernmental international organizations that the two major powers have even stepped up underground testing since the 1963 treaty.

"We know that preparations are being made by these nations for continued testing years ahead," she said.

"The nuclear weapon powers intend to keep nuclear arms in their arsenals and they intend to pursue the race towards even greater superpower superiority through nuclear overkill," Mrs. Myrdal said.

The Swedish delegate said the "most important obstacle to disarmament is the war in Indochina."

"As long as that brutal war goes on, as long as a great country is using all its technical paraphernalia against weaker peoples, in their own homelands, as long as we cannot count on genuine support by the United States for disarmament or for outlawing even the most cruel means and methods of warfare," she said.

Mrs. Myrdal said the entry into world affairs by China may lead to meaningful disarmament agreements.

"But for the present and the past I stand ready to defend as unavoidable the conclusion that what has been achieved in the direction of true international disarmament, indeed has been of minimal value," she said.

Sale of Records Climbs In 1971

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and prerecorded tapes were up 5 per cent in 1971 over 1970, the Recording Industry Association of America says.

Sales of phonograph records were up 5.8 per cent, to a high of $1.251 billion, against $1.182 billion the previous year. Of this total, LPs accounted for $1.086 billion in 1971, compared with $1.017 billion in 1970.

The increase is due in part at least to a rise in prices.

Total sales of prerecorded tapes in 1971 amounted to $493 million, an increase of 3 per cent over the $378 million in 1970.

The association estimates that piracy and counterfeiting of tapes took around $150 million away from legitimate sales.

Young Orchestra Performing Free

NEW YORK (AP) — The Orchestra of the City of New York, a new organization whose members are recent graduates of music schools, is launching a series of 15 free concerts. They will be given at prisons, hospitals and churches.

The orchestra hopefully will provide a showcase for young players, assisting them to launch their careers.

Also, an aim is to attract young and new audiences by imaginative programming and presentations at low prices. Jak Zadikov is music director. He has been music director of the Nassau-Suffolk Symphony on Long Island.

Program for the free concerts will include Stravinsky and Bach as well as guest appearances by folksingers Tom Paxton and Fat City, jazzman Herbie Hancock and young Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade. There are several sponsors for the free concerts.

Heir To Throne Has A Winner

DRAMMEN, Norway (AP) — Crown Prince Harald's 4-year-old favorite cow, Fiola, won first prize at the country show, scoring 129.5 points here.

The 35-year-old heir to the Norwegian throne has a 150-acre farm at his residence, "skaugum," 15 miles west of Oslo.

The crown prince was unable to attend the show because he took part in pre-Olympic yachting qualifications at Kiel, West Germany.

'Fragging' Court-Martial Recessed Another Week

FT. ORD, Calif. (UPI)—The "fragging" court-martial of Army Pvt. Billy D. Smith was recessed for an additional week Monday while federal authorities search for missing witnesses.

The trial judge, Col. Rawls H. Frazier, continued the case until Oct. 3 at the request of the prosecution, which has asked U.S. marshal's offices around the nation to locate the witnesses.

Prosecutor Capt. Craig J. Casey won't say how many witnesses are missing, but defense attorney Luke McKissack estimates four or five former soldiers are being sought.

Smith, 24, Los Angeles, is charged with the murder of two officers who were killed by a fragmentation grenade in their barracks at Bien Hoa, Vietnam, on March 15, 1971. The victims were 2nd Lt. Richard E. Harlan of Dallas and 1st Lt. Thomas A. Dwilwo of Mechanicsville, N.Y.

The prosecution requested the recess last Wednesday after a witness testified that Smith was not the soldier he saw running from the grenade explosion that killed the officers. The original recess was scheduled to end Tuesday.

Board Of Realtors To Hear Jarvis

Howard Jarvis of Los Angeles, state chairman of United Organizations of Taxpayers, Inc. will be the guest speaker at the 8 a.m. breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors tomorrow at the Corte Madera Lions Club in Corte Madera.

Jarvis is a supporter of Proposition 14, the Watson tax limitation amendment on the November ballot.

Rewards For Drug Informants Pondered

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —The Michigan Senate has created a special committee to study the feasibility of offering $500 to $1,000 rewards for turning in drug pushers to police.

"Extensive studies of the drug problem reveal that the most important link between the user and the dealer in illicit drugs is the pusher," said a senate resolution. "The drug pusher not only sells narcotics to the addicted, but children are exposed to the drug pusher at an early age."

Tam Defeats Marin 'Cats

14-8 Win Is First Since '70

By LEW CODDINGTON

There was nothing pretty about Saturday afternoon's football game between Tamalpais and Marin Catholic high schools. The two teams grovelled desperately in the pit for precious inches and seconds, and Tam ultimately clutched just enough of them to win, 14-8.

Marin Catholic's Ben Partee lunged across the goal line on the game's final play — "by about three inches," in his words — but the tying touchdown was nullified by an illegal procedure penalty. The Wildcats failed to set for one full second before putting the ball in play.

Three inches and a fraction of a second. It was that close.

It was the first victory for the Indians (1-1) since their final outing of 1970. Ten losses intervened.

Tam won the game by pounding relentlessly at the middle of Marin Catholic's line on time-consuming runs aftar piling up a 14-0 lead in the first half.

28-22 VICTORY

Stunning Rally By San Marin

The game seemed over to everyone else, but San Marin High School's offensive unit refused to believe it, and scored four touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday for a dramatic, 28-22 non-league football victory over Sonoma at Novato High.

Fullback Fred Doar cracked five yards for the winning touchdown with 4:24 remaining, after Craig Leaf recovered a fumble on the Sonoma five.

"The win was quite impressive after the flat three quarters we played," said San Marin coach Bob Martin. "Sonoma was much tougher than we thought."

The Mustangs (2-0) rode the left arm of quarterback Hoza Wright to three touchdowns earlier in the period. Wright hit Greg Pater on a 46-yard scoring bomb with about 10 minutes left, and seconds later went back to Pater for a 28-yard touchdown. The third score came on a 25-yard pass to Kevin Keller.

Neither team scored in the first half, as both squads were victimized by fumbles and penalties. Sonoma's Butch Nauheim tallied twice in the space of two minutes midway through the third quarter, both times on two-yardruns, and the Dragons added another score on a one-yard jaunt by Jim Woods early in the final period.

Simpson, Saban Enjoy 49er Upset

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — O.J. Simpson had a good time. Head coach Lou Saban just wanted to watch the final score flicker on and off.

What both Saban and Simpson were enjoying so much was the Buffalo Bills' 27-20 upset over the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Simpson's running and a defense shored up by Jerry Patton and Don Croft, just two of Saban's numerous, nameless, newcomers, sparked the Bills to their first win of the season.

Patton and Croft didn't have time to have their names sewn on their jerseys, but anonymity must become them. They spearheaded a defensive line that allowed the Forty Niners only 33 yards rushing.

"I never had a better time than I had today," Simpson said. It was his best day as a pro as he collected 138 yards on 29 carries. "I'm as happy about this game as any other game I ever played in."

Saban was fascinated by the final outcome. "I'd just as soon sit and watch the final score flicker on and off," he said.

Walt Patulski, Buffalo's rookie defensive end, said Croft and Patton were late but welcomed arrivals. "It seemed like we were just introduced to each other before the game," Patulski said. "I was amazed at the pressure they put on the inside of the line."

Jim Braxton scored two fourths quarter touchdowns, the second with only 1-16 left.

Braxton's first TD was set up by a Dennis Shaw-to-Simpson screen pass on second down and 23 yards to go from the Bills 47. Simpson used a fine block by Braxton and then dragged a tackler five yards for a 25-yard gain to the Forty Niners' 28. Shaw then hit J.D. Hill with a 13-yarder and five plays later Braxton bulled into the end zone from the two yard line.

The winning touchdown resulted from a John Pitts interception of a Steve Spurrier pass at the San Francisco 28. Pitts returned the ball to the 18 and on the first play, Simpson swept to the 10.

On third down Simpson got five tough yards through the middle and a first down at the three. Braxton tried the middle and got to the one on the next play and scored a one-yard run after a San Francisco off-sides call.

Fleet Feet Of Jackson Carry A's

Sunday was the exception, however, as Jackson salvaged a doubleheader split with the Kansas City Royals by utilizing his speed in the ninth inning rally that produced a 3-2 second game victory after the Royals won the opener, 4-2.

Jackson singled, stole second and third and scored the winning run on a throwing error by right fieldar Steve Hovley following a slide ball by Sal Bando.

The victory gave Oakland a 3½ game lead in the American League West over the Chicago White Sox. Both teams have eight games to go, the A's returning to action tonight in the opener of a three-game series with the Minnesota Twins.

Prior to Jackson's larceny, Matty Alou led off the ninth with a single, but was tossed out at third on Hovley's throw following Jackson's hit. Oakland manager Williams protested the call and was still upset about it after the game.

Reliever Rollie Fingers (10-8) registered his second win in as many days after taking over for starter Dave Hamilton.

Paul Schall's third-inning homer and five straight singles in a three-run seventh inning rally carried rookie right hander Monty Montgomery 3-2 to victory in the opener.

Game Of Errors: Raiders Triumph

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)— To err may be human, but in the world of professional football there is no room for mistakes.

Madden's Raiders were plagued by mistakes in last week's opening 34-28 loss to Pittsburgh and the trend appeared to be continuing Sunday through the first half of Oakland's game against the Packers.

But they turned things around and used Green Bay errors to record a 20-14 National Football League win.

"The last few weeks we've been bitten by mistakes," Madden said. "At halftime I told my players they were a little tight and should relax. They came back in the second half and controlled things pretty well."

Devine was clearly disheartened—especially by what probably was the key play of the game, a record 104-yard run with a fumble recovery by defensive back Jack Tatum for one of the Oakland scores.

The runback broke a mark that had been set 49 years ago by George Halas, founder, owner and onetime player and coach of the Chicago Bears. Halas' 1923 run covered 98 yards.

It was very disappointing, especially for a young team," Devine said. "I felt we could win. But I was very proud of the way they bounced back after that fumble runback.

"They didn't lose their poise," he said. But he was not completely convinced that Ta-

DRAGGING THE ENEMY — Green Bay Packer fullback John Brockington lugged the football and Oakland Raider defenders George Atkinson (43) and Otis Sistrunk (60) to the one-yard line after bolting 23 yards in the first quarter. Oakland won, 20-14.

Dodgers' Downing Blanks Giants, 7-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Downing said he had better stuff the last time he pitched than he did Sunday when the Los Angeles lefthander shut out San Francisco, 7-0.

If so, "stuff" isn't all there is to pitching.

He failed to last three innings in his previous start but Sunday, as he pitched the Dodgers' 22nd shutout of the year, he limited the Giants to four singles, two of them in the ninth inning, which was the only time a runner advanced past first base.

The victory was the Dodgers' fourth straight, extending San Francisco's losing streak to eight, matching the club's West Coast record.

The Giants are idle today, then tackle Houston in the Astrodome Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Mrs. King Loses 'Insignificant' Match

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI)—Billie Jean King admitted tennis wasn't "significant" for her when she fell without much protest to Australia's Margaret Court in the singles finals of the Golden Gate Pacific Coast Classic.

The rangy Mrs. Court attacked savagely at the net and nullified Billie Jean's lobs with rifle volleys to down the top-seed 6-4, 6-1 Sunday at Golden Gate Fields.

"There are days when tennis is significant and days when it isn't," said Mrs. King. "This was one when it wasn't. I wasn't playing very well even when I was ahead."

Mrs. King showed some of her championship form while teaming with Ann Jones of Great Britain to outlast Mrs. Court and Leslie Hunt 7-5, 2-6, 7- 6 for the doubles title. With the points divided evenly at 4-4 in the final tiebreaker, Mrs. King whistled a forehand out of Mrs. Court's reach.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco won third money in the singles by beating Kerry Melville of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

John Howard of Missouri, U.S. road racing champion, member of the Olympic team which competed this month in Munich, won the top race of yesterday's first Cycle-O-Rama on the Civic Center Grounds. Attendance was estimated at 600.

Howard, Pan-American Games gold medal winner in 1971, covered the 24-mile course in one hour and 10 seconds to win the Senior Division, Class A race. Mike Neal of Oakland, current U.S. 4,000-meter pursuit champion, was second, followed by Tim Parker and Fritz Liedle, a member of the Marin Cyclists, co-sponsors of the Cycle-O-Rama along with the Kiwanis Club of North San Rafael.

Glen Lombacher, a candidate for Marin Community College District trustee, won over a field of eight Marin political office seekers yesterday in the "Showdown at High Noon" bicycle race.

Barbara Boxer, candidate for second district supervisor, came in last on her tricycle. She went the wrong way on the last turn of the course which was laid out in the parking lot of the Civic Center.

Sen. Peter Behr, representing the Fourth Senatorial District, was guest chairman and official starter for the race, and he awarded second places to the remainder of the entrants: Robert Walker, (college board), Harry Moore (assembly), Greg Feron (college board), Lawrence Mulligan (San Rafael City Council), Gary Giacomini and Mike Peevy (both fourth district supervisor).

Kim Bauer, 8, of 510 Blackstone Drive, San Rafael, fell from his bicycle in the stock race for youngsters under 10 years of age. He was taken to Marin General Hospital for treatment of multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face and then released.

Jets' Namath Sharp With Passes, Picks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Namath didn't guarantee it this time but he did give a big hint.

Three years ago, in January of 1969, Namath "guaranteed" the New York Jets would beat the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl and he went out and led his club to an upset victory.

But that was the last time the Jets defeated the Colts, who beat the Jets four consecutive times since then. But Namath changed all that Sunday.

During the week he was asked if he would go to a short passing game against Baltimore's zone defense, the best in the National Football league, "No, not necessarily," he replied, "There are times you can go long against a zone." Then he broke into a big grin.

He showed what was so funny Sunday as he bombed away for six touchdowns and 496 yards enroute to a 44-34 triumph over the Colts.

Namath's sensational performance overshadowed a brilliant effort by his "boyhood idol," John Unitas, who had his second straight outstanding game but came away with his second straight loss. The Jets are 2-0.

Unitas completed 26-of-45 passes for 376 yards and two TDs. He rallied the Colts twice late in the game to within three points but each time Namath, playing in Baltimore for the first time in his career, came back with a long touchdown throw to Richard Caster on the first play after the kickoff. Namath had TD passes of 10, 79 and 80 yards to Caster, 65 to Eddie Bell, 67 to running back John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard. Don McCauley had a 93-yard kickoff return for a Baltimore TD.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, Minnesota drubbed Detroit 34-10, Miami ripped Houston 34-13, Washington stopped St. Louis 24-10, Dallas held off the New York Giants 23-14, Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego ripped Denver 37-14, Oakland edged Green Bay 20-14, New England upset Atlanta 21-20, Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20 and Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 27-17. Kansas City is at New Orleans tonight.

Sub Dave Osborn scored three touchdowns as the Vikings downed Detroit for the ninth consecutive time. Osborn had TD runs of one and 14 yards and caught a 13-yard scoring pass from Fran Tarkenton. Tarkenton also passed 40 yards to John Gilliam for another score.

Jim Kiick scored a pair of TDs and Larry Csonka, Mercury Morris and Bob Griese had one each as the Dolphins remained unbeaten by ripping Houston. Dan Pastorini threw 82 yards to Charlie Joiner for an Oiler TD.

Larry Brown set a club career rushing record and Washington's defense scored one TD and set up another as the Redskins beat St. Louis. Mike Bass' 32-yard run with a blocked field goal attempt in the second quarter broke open the game.

Toni Fritsch's three field goals, one a 54-yarder, helped Dallas beat the Giants despite long TD passes of 94 and 55 yards from Norm Snead to Rich Houston and Horst Muhlmann kicked five field goals to account for all the Cincinnati scoring as the Bengals downed the Steelers.

John Hadl threw two TD passes and Mike Garrett ran 41 yards for another score to lead San Diego over the Broncos.

Carl Garrett ran 12 yards for the go-ahead score midway through the last period and the Faclons' Bill Bell blew an easy 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds left as the Patriots nipped Atlanta.

Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal in the last period earned Chicago a tie with the Rams Chicago a tie with the Rams.

Mike Phipps ran for one score and threw 23 yards to Frank Pitts for another to lead Cleveland over Philadelphia, the Browns' first victory.

Yanks Win 2; Lyle Sets Record With 35th Save

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Sparky Lyle saved the day and made history in the process.

New York's ace reliever gained his 35th "save" of the season Sunday to tie the major league record and set a new American League mark for saves as the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 in 11 innings and 8-3 to move within three games of the American League Aastern division-leading Boston Red Sox.

Lyle relieved with two on and none out in the ninth inning of the nightcap and retired the side in order in remarkable fashion with two strikeouts and a soft groundout to end the game.

Johnny Ellis had three RBI and Bobby Murcer unloaded his 30th homer of the season in the nightcap victory.

Thurman Munson singled to start the 11th inning winning rally of the first game. Munson tried to steal but was trapped between first and second. Shortstop Frank Duffy tagged Munson but the Yankee catcher knocked the ball out of the shorstop's glove and raced to third. Duffy then booted Gene Michael's grounder as Munson scored and threw wild to first with Michael taking second. Horace Clarke hit a bouncer in front of the plate after a strikeout and catcher Jerry Moses threw wild to first, then rightfielder Del Unser threw the ball wild trying to get Michael at the plate.

A two-run homer by Reggie Smith and a three-run blast by Rico Petrocelli powered Boston to a 7-2 victory over Detroit and restored the Red Sox's one-game edge over the Tigers in the tight Eastern division race.

Petrocelli's homer accounted for three more Red Sox runs in the fifth.

In other American League games, Baltimore edged Milwaukee, 4-3, California nipped Minnesota, 2-1, Chicago tripped Texas, 7-4, and Oakland split a twinbill with Kansas City, the Royals taking the first game 4-2 and the A's coming back to win the nightcap 2-1.

In the National League, New York beat Philadelphia, 2-1, Montreal nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1,St. Louis edged Chicago in 10, 2-1, San Diego nipped Atlanta, 2-1, Cincinnati romped past Houston, 10-2, and Los Angeles blanked San Francisco, 7-0.

Jim Palmer collected his 100th major league victory and scored the winning run on Bobby Grich's ninth-inning single as Baltimore beat Milwaukee.

Palmer permitted the Brewers just seven singles in picking up his 21st win of the season against only nine defeats and improving his lifetime mark to 100-47.

Rudy May scattered seven hits and rookie Chris Coletta hit his first major league homer as California defeated Minnesota.

Billy Parker scored the first Angel run in the second when he hit a sacrifice fly after two singles. Coletta homered in the eighth to help May upp his record to 11-11.

Novato Blasts Lincoln, 43-7

Using more weapons than anyone has seen this side of the drawing boards of the Pentagon, Novato High School rolled to a 43-7 non-league football victory over Lincoln High Saturday in San Francisco.

Four different Hornets scored touchdowns and three different ones threw T.D. passes as Novato took its second straight impressive victory from a City team. Riordan fell last week, 19-0.

Quarterback Tom Conklin completed nine of 12 passes for 87 yards and threw two scoring passes to Ken Straw. Conklin's replacement, Chris De Recat, hit on four of six for 46 yards and a score to Gary Lash. Lash also took a T.D. toss from Mark Magers.

"Conklin did a superb job of running the team," said Coach Al Scott. "Chris Meaney (tackle) and Paul Kessler (center) did some outstanding blocking in the line, and Lash, Joe Robinson and Chuck Dupuis made some excellent catches.

"Mike Rennier was a star on defense." A halfback, Rennier returned a punt 36 yards for a score.

Redwoods Ruins Tar Home Opener

By TOM THOMPSON

It was just too little, too late for the College of Marin Tars Saturday afternoon, in losing the home football opener to powerhouse College of the Redwoods, 24-13.

To say it was too late is an understatement for the Tars. Actually, the hosts didn't score until there was only 57 seconds left in the game; an instant later, they scored again after recovering an on-side kick.

Quarterback Kevin Donohoe led the late charges, completing five passes for 139 yards in the fourth quarter. He threw for both touchdowns, a 48-yarder to Mike Corder and a 34-yarder to Neal Given.

The fireworks were all in vain however as the Corsairs piled up a 21-0 lead in the first half and coasted the rest of the way with reserves.

The visitors scored the first two times they had the ball, after long drives. Less than four minutes had passed in the first quarter when Ray Miller caught a nine-yard Stu Titus pass to begin a series of Redwoods fortunes.

It was still the first quarter when Neal Peterson ran two yards through the Tar line to give the Corsairs the eventual winning touchdown.

Redwoods closed the first half scoring with a 12-yard run by Grant Dotts. They scored again early in the third stanza with a 15-yard field goal by Titus.

Marin will take on Sierra Saturday, 1 p.m., at Rocklin. The Tars will be looking to break their 16-game losing streak.

grinding carries, and three times got first downs by inches on a crucial fourth-quarter drive. Leading, 14-8, the Indians drove from their own seven-yard line to the Marin Cats' 47 and ate up four, agonizing minutes.

Tam broke on top in the first period, marching 15 yards in five plays after Herb Wade recovered a Wildcat fumble. Alvin Price ran two yards for the score.

In the second quarter, quarterback Steve Gaddis surprised virtually every observer by firing a 45-yard scoring bomb to Dennis Morini, and Adams ran the two-point conversion. Gaddis was the second-string quarterback until Tim Nowell injured a collarbone last week. Kanoe Lyons set up the play with a 16-yard pass interception return.

Marin Catholic struck back in the third quarter, as a frantically scrambling Partee launched a 26-yard scoring pass to Vic Terra, and Mark Ferrua ran the conversion.

The Wildcats later moved to Tam's five and 22 on successive series, only to be thrown back, before launching the final abortive drive.

"Kevin Murphy at wingback, Mike Shimmin at tailback and Craig Marshall at end provided the blocking for the ball control," said Tam coach Mike Davlin.

Davlin alleged that the official scoreboard clock failed to run for "one and a half to two minutes" in the third and fourth period, and that he protested "four times" to no avail. Marin Catholic coach Bruno Banducci conceded there may have been an error of "a few seconds either way, but it probably evened out."

Brodie was caught by the Bills' line while throwing an incomplete pass and suffered a slight sprain of his left wrist.

San Francisco upped the lead to 13-6 on a second Bruce Gossett field goal after driving to the Bills' 13 following the second half kickoff.

The Bills scored their first touchdown to tie the score at 13-13 on a 17-yard pass from Shaw to tight end Jan White late in the third period.

San Francisco scored on the first play of the fourth quarter. The drive took only 1:53 and seven plays and culminated in a two-yard plunge over the line by Larry Schreider.

San Francisco held the 20-13 lead until Braxton's two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play.

tum's record was fully legitimate.

"I don't want to make a big thing about it," he said as he paged through a National Football League rule book. He read aloud a rule stating that a muffed lateral could not be advanced by the defending team.

A pass interference ruling against Oakland's George Atkinson on the Raiders' two set up one Green Bay score and the Packers returned the favor in the third quarter to give Oakland the go-ahead and winning score.

Rookie Willie Buchanon was the offender this time and his interference with Fred Bilentnikoff not only gave the Raiders the ball on the one but wiped out a Jim Hill interception as well. Charlie Smith went over on the first play for the touchdown.

Both Green Bay scores came on one yard runs by John Brockington. The first climaxed an 80-yard drive and followed his 23-yard run to the one in the first quarter. The second in the second period came after the interference call on Atkinson.

While mistakes made the big difference, the margin of victory — as it had so often in the past — came on 43 and 14 yard field goals by George Blanda, who celebrated his 45th birthday just a week ago.

St. Vincent Bows To Justin In Grid, 32-0

A completely outsized St. Vincent High School of Petaluma football team set a dubious school record and was walloped 32-0 by host Justin High of Napa in a non-league game Saturday.

The Mustangs fumbled nine times, losing six of them, to set a new school mark, and "that was the story of the game," said losing coach Bill Silva.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stick With Issue Which Has Strong Turnabout Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1966 I purchased 15 shares of Montgomery Ward at $43 per share. Now six years later, following a two-for-one split and the merger, I hold 30 shares of Marcor (NYSE) worth very little more than I invested originally. Should I switch into a more active issue? — K.S.

A. Problems with have contributed to the drop in Marcor's share price appear to be solved and forward progress should continue. Container Corp., which contributed 34 per cent to corporate earnings in fiscal 1971-72, was the primary factor with a strike and start-up snags at the new Florida mill cutting into profits. However, with the mill boosting the company's containerboard capacity 39 per cent volume should easily set a new record in excess of $3 billion this year.

Through the first half ended July, earnings were up 24 per cent on a 10 per cent gain in volume. Although the tax rate this year may be greater, higher product prices and an improved level of retail business should lift earnings about 15 per cent to about $1.90 per share. As the market recognizes the improving earnings trend a higher P/E multiple should be accorded the shares. I would advise sticking with this issue which currently has strong turnaround potential.

Q. I feel locked into certain securities because of capital gains. What are tax-free exchange funds and how do they operate? Could you suggest a few that emphasize income? — G. Q.

A. Although 23 of the 33 tax-free exhange funds formed between 1960 and 1967 are still in operation, these funds no longer offer any tax advantage. The Internal Revenue Service in 1967 eliminated this tax shelter and new funds have not been recently formed. The funds do permit the direct exchange of your individual shares for fund shares. However, you are liable for the capital gains tax in the year the exchange occurs. Yields on most of these funds are low — 1.8 per cent on average — although Empire Fund, Fourth Empire Fund and Sixth Empire Fund return over 3 per cent.

Airline Reports August Earnings

LOS ANGELES — Western Air Lines Thursday reported August net earnings of $3,876,000, or 29 cents a share, compared to earnings of $3,829,000, or 28 cents a share, for the same month last year.

Per share earnings are based on 13,511,370 shares for 1972 and 13,486,065 for 1971, the number outstanding after giving effect to the 2-½-for-1 stock split that was approved by Western's stockholders on Sept. 13.

Per share earnings for August, based on the 5,404,548 shares outstanding prior to the split, were equivalent to 72 cents a share, compared to 71 cents a share for August 1971.

Banks To Lend Airline Money

LOS ANGELES — Continental Airlines has arranged to borrow $150 million from a group of 25 banks, it was announced by President Robert F. Six.

Under the terms of the agreement, funds will be available to the airline on a revolving credit basis through 1976, at which point, the loan converts to five-year term, to be paid in 20 quarterly installments from 1977 through 1981.

The funds, together with $25.5 million Continental raised earlier this year through an issue of 1,250,000 shares of common stock, will be used to purchase new aircraft and related ground equipment and facilities, Six said.

Trucks Sold At A Record Rate

DETROIT — Retail sales by Dodge dealers of 7,085 cars and a record 4,738 trucks were reported for the first period of September's seven selling days.

The truck sales were 67 per cent greater than the previous high of 2,075 set during eight days of early September a year ago.

Market's Aimless Drifting

Declines led advances, 571 to 519, among the 1,493 issues crossing the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 4,030,000 shares.

Many investors were awaiting developments at the International Monetary Fund meeting at Washington. President Nixon told the IMF there was a need for monetary reform.

The new background otherwise failed to spark any enthusiasm in the market, which has been dragging since Labor Day.

Prices were mixed to slightly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

DISASTER SCENE — A charred shell was all that remained of the second floor of the Oscar Restaurant in Rhodes, Greece, yesterday after a flash fire that trapped 200 people inside. Thirty-two were killed, and more than a dozen injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Debt Limit Voted By Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Ways & Means Committee tentatively approved Monday President Nixon's proposal to put a $250 billion limit on federal spending this fiscal year.

Administration sources have contended —and most of the committee members agreed in public hearings —that without a rigid spending ceiling taxes would have to be increased next year.

Most Democrats had wanted Nixon to spell out what areas of federal spending would be cut to stay within the $250 billion lid. The administration refused to commit itself in advance.

The limit is part of a bill Nixon sent Congress asking that the present temporary $450 billion limit on the amount that the government can go into debt be raised to $465 billion.

Without congressional action by Oct. 31, the temporary ceiling would revert to the permanent $400 billion level while the government is already more than $430 billion in debt.

A White House source said minor changes were made in the administration's proposal but that the "total effect of the original language is still there".

House Moves To Put Teeth In Meat Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Agriculture Committee approved legislation Monday to cut off federal meat inspection funds to any state with meat labeling or packaging regulations that are different from federal standards—even if they are tougher.

The committee added the cutoff provision to a bill to increase the federal contribution to state inspection costs from 50 per cent to 80 per cent.

The bill was approved, 17 to 16, in a closed committee session.

A similar bill —but without the funds cutoff amendment — has been passed by the Senate. States with meat standards already higher than the federal guidelines have protested that the effect of the committee amendment would be to force them to weaken their own regulations.

For example, Michigan has a ban against inclusion in canned meat products sold in that state of such animal parts as sow ears, cow udders and pig lips which the federal government does not ban.

Although Michigan officials conceded those animal parts appeared in only the cheapest canned meats, they preferred to ban the products altogether.

Chain Helping Forest To Grow

QUEBEC (AP) — Anchor chain originally intended for a Canadian destroyer is being used to grow forests in Ontario.

Twenty-foot lengths of chain are dragged by tractors across waste land where trees have been harvested for newsprint and other forest products.

To each 76-pound link is welded a long heavy tractor pin, which churns the soil up over the surface mat of old pine needles and forest debris.

This helps put the jackpine seeds in direct contact with soil so they will germinate. If the seeds stayed on top of the non-soil mat, they could not germinate and produce a new forest.

No Important Village Business

LONDON (AP) — Even after 90 years, villagers of Norton Bavant, Wiltshire, have nothing to talk about.

Sidney Davis, clerk of Warminster Rural Council, called a meeting in Norton Bavant Village Hall.

"By law villages this size have to hold a meeting twice a year to discuss local matters," he said. "I was amazed when I looked for the minutes of these meetings. There just weren't any."

Only a dozen of the 100 villagers turned up and "after at least 90 years they still haven't anything to talk about," Davis said.

Free Service —Towing Autos

VIENNA (AP) — The City of Vienna has a special mailbox for motorists desiring to surrender ownership of their dying automobiles.

The mailbox in the traffic department is used to speed receipt of documents facilitating the removal of abandoned cars from the streets of the Austrian capital. Under a program started in 1970, old cars are towed away free if the driver signs a form relinquishing ownership to the city.

So far, more than 1,200 Viennese have signed their cars up for the free trip to an auto graveyard.

Jammed Restaurant Burns; 32 Killed

RHODES, Greece (UPI)— Martha Lindqvist of Stockholm celebrated her 56th birthday Saturday night with a party at a restaurant much patronized by Scandinavian visitors to the island of Rhodes.

One minute 200 people were talking and singing in the upstairs snack bar of the Oscar Restaurant. The next they were screaming in terror as a short circuit in an electrical control panel set fire to the highly flammable bamboo panels which covered the walls.

Firemen rushed to the scene but did not use their hoses for almost an hour, witnesses said, for fear of electrocution by the burning wires through which power still surged.

By the time the fire was out, 31 persons were known dead and another 16 were hospitalized with severe burns and broken bones.

One of those hospitalized ied later.

Most of the victims were Scandinavian tourists. Three Irish girls were also feared among the dead.

"While the fire brigade rushed immediately to the scene, firemen did not have masks against smoke or special fire extinguishing chemicals, and they would not use their water for almost an hour," waiter Stylianos Economou said.

Dimitrios Kastrinis, 47, organist at the Oscar, said it took 45 minutes for power company technicians to reach the scene and cut the electricity. "Meanwhile, firemen could not use their hoses for fear of being electrocuted," Kastranis said.

Police said identification of the dead was difficult because many were only charred remains.

Most of the bodies were found near second story windows of the two-story restaurant. Twenty-nine of the victims perished in the fire. Two others died minutes after jumping from windows.

Sign Wrong For Musical 'Hair'

But it was the planet Mercury which caused one of the group's performances here to be canceled.

The cast took the night off on the advice of an astrologer, said a spokesman for the Mechanic Theater, which had to exchange about 1,000 tickets already sold for the performance.

"They mentioned something about Mercury being in the wrong house or something," said Robert Gibson, assistant managing director of the theater.

The chance of amking a gold strike in California today is estimated at less than a thousand to one.
